☞ We don't know that the Morris Minstrels will give a better concert to-night than they did last evening, but if they do half as well they will deserve their full house.

— If you would be pungent, be brief, for it is with words as with sunbeams—the more they are condensed, the deeper they burn.

— On the motion to lay Fernando Wood's peace resolution (for a commission to Richmond,) on the table, Messrs. Marcy of this State, English of Connecticut, and Sweat of Maine, Democrats, voted with the minority. Messrs. Bailey of Pennsylvania, Ganson, Griswold and E. Ward of New York, and Yeaman of Kentucky, Democrats, voted with the majority.

— The President has sent to the House of Representatives a message most cordially recommending that Captain John Rodgers, who captured the Fingal, for his distinguished zeal, bravery and general good conduct, receive a vote of thanks from Congress, this preliminary being required by law in order that he may be advanced one grade in the navy.

— The Tribune's dispatch says: Senator Bayard of Delaware never having taken the anti-rebellion oath, required by the act of the last session, was informally reminded of that fact by the Vice President, and requested to say whether he was prepared to take it. He replied in the negative, adding that if the Senate by a formal vote required him to take it, he should resign.

— The Free Soil of the 5th gives the result of the tax sale of lands on Hilton Head Island, the previous Tuesday. Nineteen parcels, of from three hundred to two thousand acres each, near eighteen thousand acres in all, were purchased by the United States at an aggregate price of $24,000. Six other parcels were sold to individuals, the highest at less than three dollars an acre.

— Col. Mann, of Michigan, has submitted to the War Department a plan for raising a "buggy brigade," to be mounted in spring wagons. For all movements and marches, and all duties except battle—when the brigade would take to its feet—it is claimed that the buggy is preferable to the cavalry service; and that it would be cheaper.

— Capt. Albert M. Gammell of the 11th Mass., regiment, and his wife, were instantly killed on Wednesday morning near Chelsea, Mass., the carriage in which they were crossing the Eastern railroad track, being struck by an approaching train. The horse was uninjured.

— In Washington, the other day, a small boy was knocked down and run over by Mrs. Lincoln's carriage, breaking his leg and otherwise injuring him. Mrs. Lincoln took the lad into her carriage and carried him to his home, where everything in her power was done to alleviate his sufferings.

— A young woman recently died at Honolulu under the belief that she was being "prayed to death." The Polynesian says that it is a common thing for a native to hire another to pray his enemy to death; and so great is the power of imagination that the victim, having been made aware of the occurrence, dies.

— On the western margin of the grand lakes abreast of the town of Weston, Me., and on the New Brunswick side of the line, a settlement has lately sprung up, which goes by the name of "Skedaddler's Ridge," as the dwellers there have fled from their country because of a mortal dread of the draft. So says the Portland Advertiser.

☞ Those suffering with diseases of the eye or the ear are referred to the advertisement of Dr. J. Moses, of Nashua, who will be at the Franklin House in this city, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

☞ Scurvy and Scrofulous Eruptions will soon cover the bodies of those brave men who are fighting their country's battles. Night air, bad food and drenching rains will make sad havoc with the strongest, therefore let every man supply himself with HOLLOWAY'S Ointment, it is a certain cure for every kind of skin disease. Only 25 cts. per pot. 215

SALVE AND SALVOS.—While the salvos of artillery are booming on the bank of the Rappahannock and Potomac, all is dire uncertainty. But not so with Grace's Celebrated Salve, whose action is safe, sure and speedy. It has already become a necessity of the soldier, and many a poor fellow lying unattended after a battle has blessed its soothing and healing influence. It is the best known cure for flesh wounds, boils, burns, scalds, felons, itch, sore breast, abscesses, old obstinate ulcers, &c, and in all skin eruptions it is a sovereign remedy. Only 25 cents a box.

THE CRAIG MICROSCOPE.—We have frequently desired to be the possessor of a good Microscope, but have found the cost of one—of the proper magnifying power—to be so great that we have been forced to leave our investigations and curiosity unsatisfied. The Craig patent, which has been before the public about a year and which is meeting with a most unexampled sale, has given the public an instrument which combines the desirable qualities of cheapness and excellence. For all practical purposes, we regard the Craig Microscope, which can be purchased for $2, equal to any compound Microscope costing ten or twenty. In one respect—and that a very important one—it is better, for the reason that the focus is always adjusted. Under the lens of this instrument, the cheese mite, which is barely to be seen with the naked eye, becomes a respectable frog; a fly's toe-nail, an ugly looking claw; a drop of vinegar a lively loolking squirmer; and a drop of blood, a piece of elegant mosaic work, with a distinct arrangement of the corpuscles in that of man and that of animals. With this little instrument, so cheap and yet so perfect, one may pursue his investigations at leisure, and obtain recreation at the same time that he is acquiring knowledge. We do not believe that two dollars can be more profitably invested than in the purchase of one of Craig's Microscopes. For Holiday Gifts they are very appropriate. C. H. Wheeler & Co., 5 and 7 Essex street, Boston, are the Manufacturer's Agents, and they will send them by mail for $2.25. Also, they have an interesting variety of mounted objects, which they will sell at the rate of a dollar and a half per dozen. 1t

LAST AND BEST.

THE MODEL COOK.

AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,
WITH TWO OVENS,
And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept as long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either side, when needed.

In cost, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter use; excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and dispatch are desirable, should be without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook—

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public with full confidence in its merits.

It was introduced three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes in very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed.

We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in this city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.

These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

CELEBRATED AND UNEQUALLED
MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. The Model Cook has attached to it a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the unsightly mixing of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, and hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR WARMING FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for ventilation, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objections raised by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are forced up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heated air, through the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address.

LEDGER OFFICE, New York, Dec. 7.
To the Editor of the Chicago Tribune:

Sir: My attention has been called to a statement in your paper to the effect that I have made a "return on the New York Assessor's list, 'no income;'" and this you call "one of the beauties of the Income Tax." I do not know what motive could have prompted you to give circulation to such an extraordinary falsehood. If you will inquire of G. P. Putnam, Esq., the Collector of Internal Revenue in the District where I reside, you will find that I was one of the very first persons in the city to pay my Income Tax; and if you will investigate still further I venture to assert that you will find the sum much larger than that paid by the publisher of any other weekly paper in the United States. The statement that I had paid twenty thousand dollars for a certain horse is also false. I have bought no such horse, and consequently have paid no such price. This, however, is immaterial; I am accustomed to the publication of such yarns, and care nothing about them; but I demand, as a right, that the libellous fabrication about the non-payment of an income tax be corrected at once.

ROBERT BONNER.

ROBERT SMALL COMMANDING THE PLANTER.—Robert Small, the brave negro who brought the steamer Planter out of Charleston two years ago, has now been placed in command of that vessel. Since that achievement he has been almost constantly in the service of the government. He was on board the ill-fated Keokuk as pilot in the first attack upon Sumter by Du Pont, and has since in the same capacity penetrated nearly every inlet and creek along the entire coast, and been under fire 67 days, and sometimes weeks at a time. Recently the Quartermaster of the Department of the South required the services of the Planter where she would be liable to come under the fire of rebel guns. The captain, a brawny white sailor, refused to go, whereupon the Quartermaster immediately issued the following order:

OFFICE OF CHIEF QUARTERMASTER,
Port Royal, S. C., Nov. 26, 1863.

Captain A. T. Dunton, Chief Assistant Quartermaster, Folly and Morris Islands:

Sir:—You will please place Robert Small in charge of the United States transport Planter as captain. He brought her out of Charleston harbor more than a year ago, running under the guns of Sumter, Moultrie and the other defenses of that stronghold. He is an excellent pilot, of undoubted bravery, and in every respect worthy of the position. This is due him as a proper recognition of his heroism and services. The present captain is a coward, though a white man. Dismiss him, therefore, and give the steamer to this brave black Saxon. Respectfully, your obedient servant.

J. J. ELWELL,
Chief Quartermaster's Department South.

The order was at once approved by Gen Gillmore, and Robert Small faithfully discharged the duty required of him.

FOOLISH HATRED.—Foreign nations are becoming independent of us. They are making new cotton fields with such success that they are likely to have a full supply before we shall be ready to send much road. They are also finding substitutes for American tobacco. These facts seem to cause certain classes in the North, whose trade of the South and its institutions makes them blind to everything else; but when peace is restored they will be likely to discover that no inconsiderable part of the profits of growing cotton and tobacco, of supporting it and selling, came to the North, and went to build up our cities, increase our commerce, and enrich our people.—Newburyport Herald.

— Captain Burton says, in the London Athenæum:—

I spent six months in Unyamwezi. I collected a vocabulary of the Kinyamwezi. I conversed with hundreds of Wanyamwezi lives, all of whom called their country Nyamwezi, their individualities Manyamwezi, and their nation Wanyamwezi.

This is worse than Welsh, but it rhymes sullenly.

GEN. HARDEE SEEING THE END.—A Philadelphia Inquirer correspondent, writing from Gen. Grant's army, says:—Officers returned on Missionary Ridge stated that those shed bitter tears over the destruction of his corps and the turning of the rebel position. He was heard to say to Breckinridge, "We have not far to look for the end—our best hopes are blasted."

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

Charleston dispatches of the 11th, in the Richmond papers, say, twelve shells were thrown into the city last night at intervals of three hours. Damage trifling. The city has been shelled at intervals during the day. About 9 A. M. Sumter took fire from cause unknown. The fire communicated to the outer timber work of the Southwest angle and the wood work was burned and some ammunition destroyed. The casualties were 10 killed and 20 wounded.—The Boiler and pattern shops of Eason's Foundry were destroyed by fire that night, and eleven shells were thrown into the city, several of which contained Greek-fire, which burned 15 minutes after explosion.

A Bristol dispatch says, two hundred of those wounded at Knoxville have arrived here. Lieut. Magee of John Morgan's staff, who escaped with the General, has arrived in Russell county, en route to Richmond.—He has no doubt but the General is within the rebel lines.

The Atlanta Confederacy asserts that rebel cavalry advanced on the 10th above Ringgold, finding the country clear of federals. They proceeded to Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge, and found nothing but the debris of the federal camp.—The position seemed to have been deserted on Saturday last. Our presumption is that a heavy column has gone after Longstreet, and an expedition has started into West Tennessee to look after Forrest.

Gen. Longstreet's forces attacked the Federal cavalry under Gen. Shackleford, who were following up L.'s retreat, Dec. 14, at Bear Station, on the Cumberland Gap and Morristown Railroad: our cavalry were driven back about half a mile; but the rebel attempt to get in the rear failed.

Quantrell and other guerrillas infest Texas; the Union sentiment there is represented to be strong.

The U. S. troops in Western Virginia have destroyed a foundry at Edenburg, which was at work for the rebels.

☞ It is well known that Ould, the rebel Commissioner, has denied that any of the paroled rebel soldiers at Vicksburg were sent to reinforce Bragg's army, but unfortunately for his veracity, Henry S. Foote, a member of the rebel Congress, in his charge against Jeff. Davis, distinctly stated that when Jeff. Davis made a companion of Pemberton and carried him to visit Bragg's army, the soldiers, as they rode by, said: "There goes the traitor (Pemberton) who delivered us over at Vicksburg." Still stronger evidence of Ould's want of truthfulness is found in the confessions of many prisoners taken at the late battle at Chattanooga, that they were of the paroled garrison of Vicksburg, but that they had been forced into Bragg's army against their inclination and in opposition to all rules of honor.

☞ "Perley" telegraphs to the Boston Journal, that Senator Hale of N. H., referring to the charge in the correspondence of the Tribune, that a New England Senator had received $3000 for getting a person out of the Capitol prison who had been arrested for defrauding the government, states that he received $2000 for acting as counsel, and justifies his conduct as sanctioned by usage and custom. Senator Hale's client was a Mr. Hunt. Reverdy Johnson advised Senator H. to conduct the suit. As consistent with custom a subsequent sum of $1000 was paid making $3000.

Senator Johnson followed, and confirmed Senator H.'s statement that he counseled the receipt of the fee, and took the ground that Senators who are lawyers do not forfeit their right to exercise their profession.

WEST VIRGINIA.—This new State is making rapid progress in the right direction. She has been divided by her legislature into townships, like other free States. A system favoring internal improvements has been adopted, and more than all, a common school system like that of New England been put into operation. We may say of West Virginia, in the spirit of Mr. Webster's tribute to Massachusetts—her future, indeed, is secure.

☞ General Halleck's report of the military transactions of the year will be read with surprise by that considerable portion of the community who have believed the constant assertions of the opposition press, that all our military failures were the results of obedience to orders from Washington, and all our military triumphs were due to neglect or disobedience of them. By the statement of the General-in-Chief, it would seem that the truth is in a directly opposite direction. Grant, the General who has done the most, is, it appears, the General who always regarded suggestions and obeyed orders from Washington, while many other commanders, who are currently reported to have been the victims of Halleck, are by Halleck accused of having been the victims of their own military errors.

WESTERN NEWS.—At Memphis the cotton market was more active on the 12th inst., but prices were lower; there were sales of 359 bales at 65 a 67c. The military orders preventing people bringing in cotton were still in force, and during the past week still more strict measures have been put in operation. The Banks have been ordered to pay out no gold to depositors or on checks.

Total sales of cotton during the week were 625 bales. Total number shipped from that port 1174 bales.

The military authorities are seizing all the horses and mules in Memphis for army use that are not excepted by permit from the Commanding General as necessary for lawful purposes, paying the owners a fair price for them. His conscription is being vigorously enforced in accordance with recent orders.

A destructive fire occurred in Memphis on the night of the 11th inst. Loss not learned.

The steamer Van Phel, from New Orleans 7th, arrived at Cairo with 19 hhds sugar and 338 bbls molasses. She was not fired into going down as was reported, but on her way up, on the 8th, was attacked twice above Bayou Sara. The firing was from a battery of 6 and 12-pounders on the Louisiana shore. Captain Gurvan, of the steamer, was killed by the first shot.—Three of the crew were killed, and 4 passengers wounded. Forty-three shots were fired at her. Three passed through the hull, others struck the boiler, and five raked the boat from stem to stern. At the time a gunboat was within 200 yards of her silencing two rebel guns.

The steamer Perry has arrived at Cairo from Memphis with 300 bales of cotton for St. Louis.

☞ In the U. S. Senate, on Wednesday, Mr. Wade presented a memorial from ladies, asking the passage of an act for the emancipation of all persons of African descent. Referred.

Mr. Sumner introduced a bill to satisfy the claims of American citizens by reason of the French spoliations. Laid on the table, and ordered to be printed.

In the House, a resolution was adopted, instructing the Committee on Military Affairs to inquire into the alleged inhumanity of the enemy towards our wounded soldiers on the field.

A resolution was adopted declaring that the starving of our prisoners deserves the execration of the House, and the consignment of the offenders to the condemnation of the Almighty.

Numerous other resolutions were introduced, among them one by Mr. Rollins, of Mo., declaring that this House is prompted by just patriotism in favoring the zealous prosecution of the war, which was inaugurated by the disunionists; that it is the duty of the Government to prosecute the war until obedience to the Constitution and the laws are secured, and that the war shall not be prosecuted for the purpose of conquest or subjugation.

Mr. Lovejoy, of Ill., moved to lay the resolution on the table. Rejected, yeas 50, nays 114.

Debate arising on the resolution, it was laid over.

The House then resolved that when it adjourned on Wednesday next, it be until the 4th of January.

☞ The Surgeon of the Board of Enrollment of the 4th District of Connecticut, Dr. Samuel T. Salisbury, has been recently tried by court martial for sundry violations of the enrollment act and sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and imprisonment for two months, and to be cashiered. The sentence was approved by Maj. Gen. Dix, after a careful review of the proceedings, with the statement that the conduct of Dr. Salisbury was careless, negligent and regardless of the delicate and responsible duties with which he was charged. This is the first conviction had under that provision of the enrollment act, which directs the trial and punishment of surgeons for making false reports and neglect of duties.

GOOD NEWS FROM TEXAS.—A New Orleans correspondent writes us that the expedition of Gen. Banks to Texas is a glorious success. The Union men of Texas themselves are rallying under the standard of Gen. Banks in large numbers. All the Texans required was a force to back them up, and they repeatedly said that if a sufficient army was sent to assist them they would soon have Texas all right again.—They have already proved the truth of their statements, for Gen. Banks has recruited two regiments since he landed in that State, and the work is still going on—the Texans coming from their places of concealment and enrolling themselves in the Federal army.—Traveller.

☞ The Secretary of the Rebel Treasury sends forth a more doleful sound than that lately emitted from the lips of Toombs. He tells the rebel Congress that the cause is lost unless they supply him with better money than Confederate notes. Taxation, approaching the character of spoliation, is the only remedy for the bankruptcy of Confederate finances.

— A meeting of Virginia refugees held at Washington last Wednesday night, was addressed by a brother of John Brown.

[Communication.]

HIGH PRICES.—We hardly need say, what every one knows, that things generally for sale are vended at unreasonable and exorbitant prices. But a writer in your paper under the signature of "Truth," a misnomer perhaps, accuses us of incorrect statements, as well as ignorance upon the subject; but as he does not show wherein we erred, we pass his article without comment, except as he says all trade in this quarter is fair. We ask him whether it was justifiable for traders or speculators to forestall the market, and one or two days before Thanksgiving to purchase the poultry by the load or in large quantities, at 14 or 15 cents per pound, and afterwards demand at retail from 18 to 20 cents? Does not such conduct bear hard upon the poorer classes? Is it morally right?—Forestalling by the common law is an actionable offence. What we state in respect to poultry may be applied to several other things—but our remarks are not intended to have any personal application, excepting speculators, extortioners and those who indirectly oppress the middling and poorer classes. We have admitted that an inflated currency (whether metallic or good paper makes no difference,) tends to raise the prices, and a higher rate of the wages of labor does also—but these cannot justify the enhancing prices two or three fold the prices prior to the war, especially where there is no great scarcity for the market.—Paley and other writers upon moral philosophy hold that no man can be justified in demanding a price for more than the property is worth. A strictly moral and conscientious person will not do it. But perhaps it will be answered that "a thing is worth just what it will fetch in market." For instance, a horse that is not worth over $75 may be sold in market for $100. So of many other things. About the time this war commenced, a merchant may have purchased goods at the common prices to the amount of $50,000. Would it be morally right for him to vend the same goods one or two years afterwards for double or treble what the same goods cost him? We are aware that speculators and sharpers differ widely from moralists on this question. But we think the moralists are correct. While there is an abundance of agricultural and other products in the free States, and there is no great interruption of our industrial pursuits, and our soil is not laid waste by the ravages of this war, no valid reason can be assigned for the present high prices generally. General rules admit of some exceptions. But the high prices generally must come down. There will soon be a tolerable supply of cotton, and therefore the price of cotton goods must fall, and that will largely reduce the price of wool and woolen fabrics. Breadstuffs are plenty, and the price in the great markets not high. Query—whether the price at retail in the discreet small markets should not be reduced? Last year there was a surplus of the cereal products in the single State of Illinois, sufficient probably to supply all the wants or deficiencies in all the other free States. We are not dependent upon the South for breadstuffs, for the free States produce more than the slave States, according to statistical accounts.

There are now probably cotton goods in store in our free States sufficient to supply all necessary wants for two years, should the war continue so long; but we hope to see the rebellion crushed in six months, or at least its back bone broken. Should it be prolonged, without a sufficient supply of cotton, farmers must turn their attention to raising flax, as in former times, which would be a substitute for cotton, and much more durable. Why should the price of wool be more than former prices? More wool is grown than at any former period. It is true that the limited supply of cotton is one reason, but the wool-growers demand an exorbitant price to meet the exorbitant prices of other things, especially of groceries and dry goods. And so it is generally, the high prices of one article tend to enhance the prices of other articles, and thereby the poorer classes are the greatest sufferers. No sufficient reason can be assigned for the present exorbitant prices of wood and coal in this market. The coal mines of Pennsylvania are sufficient, it is said, to supply the whole Union; and wood is brought coastwise from the Eastward as well as from the vicinity. The advance of the wages of labor since last year is not a sufficient reason.

Speculators in the necessaries of life, forestallers of the market, and all others who take advantage of the times to accumulate wealth, should not receive the public countenance. We therefore would exhort all good citizens and moral persons to use what influence they have to effect a general reduction of the present unreasonable prices, and thereby promote the general prosperity. BENE NOLO.

COTTON.—1357 bales of cotton from "L. Kipinth," a landing some distance above Vicksburg, were received at New Orleans on the 4th inst. It was noticed to be bound for New York. It was not offered for sale at New Orleans. On the 5th inst. there were 550 bales of cotton sold in New Orleans at 72 3-8 a 73c.

MATCHED BY A WOMAN.—In the somewhat famous case of Mrs. Bogden's will, which was tried some years ago, Mr. Webster appeared as counsellor for the appellant. Mrs. Greenough, wife of the Rev. William Greenough, late of West Newton, a tall, straight, queenly-looking woman, with a keen black eye—a woman of great self-possession and decision of charcter—was called as a witness on the opposite side.—Webster at a glance had the sagacity to foresee that her testimony, if it contained anything of importance, would have great weight with the jury. He therefore resolved, if possible, to break her up, and when she answered the first question put to her:

"I believe," Webster roared out, "we don't want to hear what you believe, we want to hear what you know."

Mrs. Greenough replied, "That is just what I was about to say, sir," and went on with her testimony.

And, notwithstanding his repeated efforts to disconcert her, she pursued the even tenor of her way, until Webster, becoming quite fearful of the result, arose, apparently in great agitation, and, drawing out his large snuff-box, thrust his thumb and finger to the very bottom, and carrying the deep pinch to both nostrils, drew it up with gusto.

Webster—"Mrs. Greenough; was Mrs. Bogden a neat woman?"

Mrs. Greenough—"I cannot give you very full information as to that, sir; she had one very dirty trick."

Webster—"What's that, ma'am?"

Mrs. Greenough—"She took snuff."

The roar of the court was such that he neither rose nor spoke again till after Mrs. Greenough had vacated her chair for another witness.

We are glad to observe that Capt. Woodward, principal of the Brown High School, has not lost all his interest in military matters, notwithstanding the expiration of his commission in the nine months service.—He has organized his school into a battalion, and drills them regularly at recess and noon-time in the infantry tactics. This is not only the very best physical exercise for the boys—better than forty gymnasiums—but it is preparing them for the duties of soldiers, which they will soon be called upon to perform, either in the present war, or in the standing army which will hereafter be maintained by the government.—This boy battalion, about forty in number, march by our office every day to the Post Office, and present a truly soldierly appearance.—Newburyport Herald.

— Major Poore of Indian Hill ("Perley," of the Boston Journal) has been appointed clerk of the committee on printing in the Senate; salary $1800 a year. He has served his apprenticeship very faithfully, commencing first with the committee on foreign relations in the House. He was then elected clerk to the Senate committee on foreign relations, and now to the printing committee.

A GOOD DEFINITION.—In reference to Earl Russell's description of our war as a struggle for empire on one side and for independence on the other, Richard Cobden adds: "I say it is an aristocratic rebellion against a democratic government."

A quaint writer remarks that the human race is divided into two classes—those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit still and inquire, "Why wasn't it done the other way?"

— Admiral Stringham has reported for duty at the Charlestown Navy Yard.—Adm. S. was in charge of that station some six years since, and proved himself a highly meritorious and much esteemed officer.

Letcher, in his message to the Virginia Legislature says, "it is time enough to speak of an honorable peace, when Lincoln shall have withdrawn his armies from our soil." Poor fool! can he not see that the war has already abolished slavery, and as rapidly as possible is abolishing the negro with it? And can he not see if it continues it will abolish the white man too? Before our armies will be withdrawn, there will not be a living soul in all rebeldom to lift an arm against the government: and every tongue that wags itself against the flag of the Union, will cease its utterance, or be silent in death. The rebellion is to be put down, if every mortal man must be exterminated to the end. Cease your insane talk, poor governor of devastated Virginia, and think once as a rational man.—Newburyport Herald.

— Bridgeport, Connecticut, for a long time a thoroughly secession place, was the scene of a Union victory on Monday—the entire loyal ticket for charter officers having been chosen by majorities ranging from 80 to 113.

We understand that Rev. Charles Beecher has had a call to settle at Fitchburg, a proposition that his society at Georgetown will not hear to for a moment, notwithstanding the action of the Association. His salary for the coming year was raised with unexampled promptness, four persons subscribing four hundred and fifty dollars. Next month Mr. Beecher will take his seat in the Legislature, where he will be heard from.—Newburyport Herald.

Try it. Grocers and Druggists sell it.

☞ See you fair maiden in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y.

UNDER THE ROSE.

Let me in secret come to thee,
Let me in secret from thee go;
Our happiness the less would be,
Were all the world our joys to know.

And let no glance of thine disclose
How far our hearts are lost in love,
The island of our bliss arose
From out the sea it towers above.

Of Eden is true love the fruit,
That must be plucked by two alone;
If it a serpent's eye pollute,
Its sweetness is forever gone.

Needs any tool to know or care
How once, by ardent love inflamed,
Two tender mortals happy were,
Tho' colder hearts their passion blamed?

Light
Fades,
Night
Shades
Appalling
Are falling.
More falling.

From
Come
So still
The moon and stars,
And night unbarn.

Sleep's
Cover
Over
Loved nature's Calm features.

Hood, in his humorous poems, either originated or adopted the idea of dividing words at the end of a line for the sake of rhyme. The following, which is floating about, is a specimen of that kind of composition:

"A year old to-day is little Molly—
Homing, noisy, fat and jolly;
Too young to walk, and like a polly-wog excited she goes trolling about the floor, and golly!
What a laugh!"

KITCHEN FURNISHING GOODS

BOUGHT MOSTLY BEFORE THE RISE IN PRICES.

LAST AND BEST.

THE MODEL COOK,

AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,

WITH TWO OVENS,

And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept so long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either size, when needed.

In fact, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT STOVE, we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter use; excellent in a family where but one is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and dispatch are desirable, should be without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook:

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public with full confidence in its merits.

It was introduced but three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room, a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers inside.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed.

We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in this city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.

These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who have now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodeling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headaches is much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, which possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus complicating, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world.—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Bise, and others.

A SQUINTING JURY.

Once upon a time, or to be a little more particular, nearly half a century ago, (for the editor of this paper will remember the time, place and scene, which are firmly fixed upon his boyish recollections) there dwelt in the town of—in old England, a remarkable oddity, in the person of an attorney at law, who, although not fair to look upon, (for he was in truth one of the homeliest specimens of humanity ever beheld by mortal man) was withal a person of sound judgment, great benevolence, varied learning, a poet, a painter, and a wit of no mean order.

It so happened that the aforesaid gentleman, G. G.——, Esq., was appointed high sheriff of the town of ——. He was a man of fortune, and had a kind heart, as many a poor prisoner could testify, who partook of the good cheer with which the prisoners were liberally supplied at Christmas and other well known festivals, from the private purse of the high sheriff.

It was, of course, the duty of the high sheriff to summon a grand and petit jury to the attend at the quarter sessions, of which the recorder, mayor and aldermen of the borough composed the court. In the performance of his official duty in summoning the petit jury, our high sheriff indulged in some of the strangest and dollest freaks that have probably ever been heard of in any other town or country. In the first place he summoned for the October court a jury consisting of twelve of the fattest men he could find in the borough, and when they came to the book to be sworn, it appeared that only nine jurors could sit comfortably in the box! After a great deal of sweating, squeezing and scolding, the panel was literally jammed into the box, and when seated they presented to the eye of the court the barristers, and the audience the tightest fit of a jury that was ever seen in a court, room. Literally they became, much to the astonishment of the court and its retinue of advocates, a packed jury and no mistake.

For the January term, our facetious high sheriff (in consequence, it is said, of some hint from the recorder that there should be no more fat panels summoned to his court) went into the opposite extreme. He summoned twelve of the leanest and tallest men he could find in the borough; and when they took their seats in the box, it appeared comparatively empty—there was indeed room for more of the same sort and dimensions.

For the April term of the court, our humorous functionary summoned a jury consisting of twelve barbers! Now it so happened that among the latter were the perruquiers who dressed the recorders' and barristers', wigs, and some of the latter arriving late at the bar had to appear in court that morning with their wigs undressed or half-dressed, so as to cut a very ridiculous figure amidst the smiles and half-suppressed laughter of the bystanders. The high sheriff enjoyed the fun amazingly, but looked as grave as a judge, while he tried to keep silence in the court room.

But the crowning joke of this waggish functionary occurred at the summoning of his fourth and last jury, at the summer session in July.—For that term of the court, the high sheriff, not having the fear of the recorder, the mayor, and the aldermen, before his eyes, actually summoned a squinting jury! Twelve as queer looking bipeds as ever took their seats in a jury box—a jury that was probably more looked at, and laughed at, than any of the appointed twelve that ever were sworn, to "well and truly try and true deliverance make between their sovereign lord and king, and the prisoner at the bar.'

The scene was so irresistibly droll that the learned recorder could not maintain his gravity. The mayor and the aldermen followed suit. The barristers laughed, while their wigs became bald, powerless; nay, even the poor prisoners in the dock, who were to be put on their trial, and some of them undergo transportation, could not refrain from joining the general cachinnation. And when the learned recorder commanded the high sheriff to bring the court room to order, and intimated, with half suppressed laugh, that the latter ought to be ashamed of himself for summoning such a jury, the drollery of this court scene was heightened considerably by the quick, ready, and sonorous response of the high sheriff, who looking at the same time at the squinting jury, exclaimed, "All good and lawful men, your honor."

Morning Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

The running of the blockade into Wilmington continues to increase. Refugees say that the city is left almost defenceless.

Gen. Butler is raising a large force of colored troops in his department. Three cavalry regiments (colored) recently started are rapidly filling.

Gen. Longstreet, in his retreat, seems endeavoring to make a stand, and fighting continues at intervals.

A rebel dispatch gives a statement that Gen. Grant has evacuated Chattanooga, and is falling back to Nashville, tearing up the railroad as he goes: Union accounts say nothing of this, but state that the army will go into winter quarters at Chattanooga.

Stuart's cavalry made a raid on Thursday, captured a company of New York cavalry, and did considerable damage to the railroad—place not stated.

☞ The New York News has a doleful editorial, bewailing the fact that Elijah Ward, a democratic Representative in Congress from New York city, actually voted against Fernando Wood's so-called Peace Resolution. It also states the fact that two other democratic representatives from New York State, Sanson and Griswold, did the same thing. In another jeremiad on national affairs, it expresses its fears of abolitionism, of the tyrannical administration, and of its retaining its power by re-election, and says:—

The times are full of despondency. Hope has scarce a place in the breast of the patriot.

That is, we suppose, of such patriots as Ben Wood and Fernando, Jeff. Davis & Co.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says that the next move of the Copperheads is to be a general assault upon the New England States and capitalists. They place their last hopes of distracting and paralyzing the country upon this. They will set forth that capitalists are benefitted by the war; that they hold all the bonds of the Government, especially the capitalists of New England and New York city; that they are sadding, for their exclusive benefit, an immense debt upon the laboring masses and small proprietors. They thus hope to array the laboring classes against the capitalists and to frighten the latter out of their support of the war. This is only another form of their fight against the prosecution of the war and in favor of the rebels and slavery. They will find, as in all their former abortive efforts, that the people are too intelligent and too patriotic to swerve now from a course which is not only right, but which would, if abandoned, entail evils of ten fold magnitude, as compared with all involved in its steadfast adherance.

AFFAIRS IN TEXAS.—A Northerner who has lived in Texas for sixteen years, but lately escaped by way of Brownsville and is now in New York, represents that there is a strong Union feeling in the State, in the army as well as out of it. Volunteering and enlistment have become obsolete, and all persons under fifty years of age are conscripted. The country is nearly destitute of goods, which will now be more difficult to obtain than ever, owing to the capture of Brownsville, which will also prevent the exportation of cotton and the importation of arms and ammunition.—Houston and Galveston are now nothing more than military posts. The interior towns present nothing but desolation and abandonment, and the neighboring settlements, as well as the towns, are almost completely destitute of men, all being in the army or under the ground.

The greatest anxiety exists on the part of the military commanders in relation to the sentiments of their men, and an expression has arisen in the army that "this is a rich man's war and a poor man's fight," which seems to have filled the minds of their leaders with consternation. Gen. Magruder threatens to hang all who use it.—There is probably in Texas at this time, lying east of the Guadaloupe river, about a crop and a quarter of cotton. At the election for Governor in Texas, the vote cast was a little over 31,000, which was a full one, while in 1860 the number of votes polled was over 63,000, thus showing that the loss of Texas troops has been terrible. The negroes in this State are aware of everything that is going on, but remain perfectly quiet and very docile.—They do not intend to rise, but expect that freedom will be proclaimed to them at some not very distant day. The fall of Vicksburg started the people greatly, and the rebels believed the rebellion was near its end. The proclamation will have a good effect in Texas.

— A young man, collecting agent for a Boston firm had his inside breast pocket picked of between $3000 and $4000 on Wednesday, while on his way from Bangor to Portland.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The town of Jefferson has filled her quota of eleven men, under the last call of the President, entirely from her own citizens. Milan has done the same.

—— Mr. Peter Lord, formerly of Milton, died suddenly in Concord, Dec. 14, while sitting in his chair, after a hard day's work at stone cutting. He was 47 years old.

—— On Wednesday evening, a fire broke out in Mill No. 3, Amoskeag Corporation, Manchester. It caught in the picker room, but was promptly extinguished.—A small amount of cotton was destroyed.

—— On Thursday, the 10th inst., a suspicious looking stranger was found prowling about Ossipee—was arrested and examined before S. B. Carter, Esq., and for want of bail committed to jail in Dover.

—— Capt. Simmons, late commander of the National Guards, of Manchester, while walking in the streets of Concord, Tuesday, stepped on the ice, fell and fractured his left leg—the same limb that had been fractured by rebel bullets at the battle of Williamsburg.

—— Lt. Col. Carr, of the 2d regiment, with a detail of ten men, has been appointed general recruiting agent for New Hampshire, and will at once open an office at Concord, and enlist men for either district. The object is to hasten the enlistments in the 1st and 3d districts. In the 2d district only about 300 men are required.

REBEL FINANCES.—The condition and the necessities of the rebel treasury are set forth in the report of Mr. Memminger, and are even a better evidence of the straits to which the rebellion is reduced than the message of Mr. Jefferson Davis. The expenditures from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30, 1863, are stated as $519,368,559, of which $377,988,244 were for the War Department.—The nominal receipts during the same period were $601,522,893 12, but of this amount $391,623,530 were fresh issues of Treasury notes, while from taxes but $1,128,988 97, and from customs but $934,798 68 were received. The funded public debt is $292,915,620; the unfunded $701,447,519; and to the latter amount must be added $100,000,000 for the two months not included in the schedules. In other words, the rebel currency in circulation reaches now the enormous sum of $801,447,519, which Mr. Memminger admits is five times its proper dimensions. The estimates for the ensuing year, added to the balances of appropriations not drawn, are $1,427,448,778; and Mr. Memminger has to address himself to the task of suggesting ways and means by which that amount is to be raised.

The plan submitted by which alone it is deemed possible to protract the life of the rebellion amounts practically to the repudiation of the present currency, and the raising of a forced loan. It is admitted that no ordinary form of taxation or loan is available, and the proposed financial scheme takes the shape of general bankruptcy and plunder. The scheme is as follows: A loan of $1,000,000,000—the amount to be enlarged at will—is to be authorized by the rebel Congress, and this loan is to be the means, in the first place, of effecting that reduction in the volume of the currency, without which Mr. Memminger does not hesitate to say the whole concern must go to pieces. But how to induce the people to exchange the present currency, which will purchase commodities at the rate of six or eight cents to the dollar in specie, for bonds which would purchase nothing? The expedient is simply to provide that all notes not exchanged for the new loan on or before April 1 shall cease to be receivable as currency or for dues to the Government. To the extent of $200,000,000 their place is to be supplied by a new issue of notes, and thereafter the amount of the currency is not to be increased.

In order further to stimulate the success of the $1,000,000,000 loan a tax of 5 per cent ad valorem is laid upon all property in the rebel States, payable in coin or in coupons of the loan. Not an income tax of 5 per cent, but a twentieth of total property of the people of the States that own the sway of Jefferson Davis is demanded. And in default of success in raising this loan, reducing the currency, and establishing their finances on a sound basis, it is admitted that the days of the rebellion are numbered. "The army can neither be paid, clothed, nor fed; arms and munitions of war can no longer be supplied; the officers of the Government cannot be supported, and the country must succumb," says Mr. Memminger.

It is needless to examine the details or expose the financial unsoundness of a scheme which by the admission of its advocates has no apology but necessity, and no hope of success but in compulsion. In the present condition of the rebellious States, it is not probable that the whole income of the year will average five per cent on the whole amount of their remaining property, for in this property is included both land and slaves, heretofore supposed to be exempt from taxation. Assuming that the collection of such a tax is impossible by ordinary methods, the rebel Government has the sole remaining resource of forcibly levying on whatever property it may require for the subsistence of its armies; and when that point is reached the end of the rebellion is not far off.—Tribune.

☞ The Supreme Court of Connecticut has decided that a suit to compel the payment of a note, must be brought in the name of the holder. The Protection Insurance Company of Hartford, took a note from one of the stock-holders—what is called a stock-note—endorsed the same, and parted with it, as a collateral security.—The note was not paid at maturity, and the Company sued, instead of the holder of the note, and was beaten. The Court has also decided that a revenue stamp is not necessary on an officer's certificate of service.

IS IT WELL?

Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, has just officially promulgated the terms on which he is not merely willing but anxious to restore peace to this distracted, devastated country. In substance his proposition runs thus: "No vengance—no military execution—no confiscation—no more devastation—let us all be friends, equals, brothers, once more: But Slavery, the wicked, wanton fomenter of this horrible strife, must die, or the Peace will be but a hollow, delusive truce, to be soon followed by another desolating war. Slavery dead, there is nothing left to quarrel about; and it will never again be possible to raise an army in this country to fire at the American flag and fight to destroy the great republic. Simply because every persistent slave-holder is at heart a partisan of the rebellion, and, so long as he wants slavery perpetuated, can be nothing else, it is essential that slavery should die to the end that the republic may surely live." Such is our President's programme, and we indorse every word of it. It is not merely wise and just—it is humane and beneficient. It is the true programme for saving life and stanching the wounds of our country.

Jefferson Davis, President of the rebel Confederacy, whose corner stone is slavery, has likewise favored the world with his ultimatum. In his annual message, the great and terrible reverses recently encountered by his Confederacy are pretty fairly admitted, and the utter, hopeless bankruptcy of its finances all but confessed. His purse-bearer, Memminger, follows with an expose which tells their dupes that the six hundred millions of promises they have issued must be plumply repudiated—that they must not be received even for the heavy taxes he requires—but compulsorily funded, and a new issue put forth, on the ruins of this. "Either do this or submit," is in substance Mr. Memminger's alternative to Jeff.'s Congress. They will probably do it, but it will not help him nor save them. On the contrary, every one will know from the start that the new issue will swiftly follow in the footsteps of the old. Virtually and practically, the rebellion has already collapsed. There is not a man on earth who wants to sell its leaders a thousand dollars' worth of any thing for any money or other valuable it has to give in exchange. Such is the case to-day on its own soil; such will it be abroad after Davis' and Memminger's new manifestoes shall have crossed the Atlantic.

Such is the crisis in which Mr. Fernando Wood—who apologized to Toombs for being unable to control the police and compel them to let arms for Georgia—already in open revolt against the Union—pass through our city unobstructed and unchallenged—proposes that Congress shall instruct the President to send three Commissioners to Richmond to sue for peace. And fifty-nine Members of the house vote against laying this proposition on the table! They vote in effect to say to the Rebels, "Hold on! Don't give it up so! There are friends here who are hastening to your rescue!" And that is just how their vote will be interpreted by the leading traitors. They will use it to strengthen the fainting faith of their dupes, and to bark foward their conscript-hunting bloodhounds, human and canine, in their work of filling up the shattered ranks of treason.

Now we intensely desire Peace; but we would not have our Government seek it at Richmond. To send commissioners thither in quest of it is to admit that we are beaten and ready to consent to Disunion. The rebels would so understand it and with good reason. Better send to Raleigh, to Milledgeville, to Austin, or anywhere else in Dixie, in quest of Peace, than to Richmond.

Washington City is the capital of this country in pursuance of the Federal Constitution. Messrs. Jefferson Davis, Benjamin, Toombs, Slidell, Mason, &c., were all there barely three years ago, clothed with power to act for their respective States.—They chose to abandon the forum for the field—to transfer their controversy with us from the arbitrament of the Yeas and Nays to that of the sword. They went off to Richmond because they would not be further associated with us: and we are not going after them. They must dissolve and disperse their Sanhedrim of treason, and let the States they have lured away return to the ways of loyalty and peace. Let half a dozen of them run the blockade from Wilmington on the fastest steamer that scuds, during the next dark night, and there would be peace in the land within a month. The rally of the people of Arkansas to the Union standard at Little Rock, and of those of Texas to the protecting flag of Gen. Banks, proves that the dissolution of the rebel Confederacy is already well begun.—Copperhead demonstrations in Congress may impede, but will hardly arrest it.—Tribune.

FOREIGN advices are to the 3d. It was reported that the two rams on the Clyde, built for the rebels, had been sold to Russia. It was reported that a Confederate ram was lately launched at Hull with steam up, and immediately put to sea with sundry southern-looking gentlemen.

It was reported that there is danger of complication between France and America, owing to California and Sonora supplying the Mexicans with arms.

The three war steamers recently sold by the British Admiralty, in addition to the Victor, alias Rappahannock, were the Phœnix, Cyclops and Amphion. The latter was a 26 gun frigate. It is feared they are for the rebels.

☞ The gunboat Ella and Annie captured the Chesapeake on Thursday morning in Sambro harbor, the crew offering no resistance, but immediately fleeing to the woods. All but three escaped, and two of these were shipped in Nova Scotia. The Chesapeake was immediately taken in tow, and started for an American port, but the Decorah came up and ordered her into Halifax for the sanction of the act by the government.

One of Hunnewell's Preparations.

HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS.—The true Type of Cathartic.—By the application of true Pharmaceutical Laws, both Character and Economy are combined in this valuable Pill. To prevent putting such quantities of indigestible drugs into the stomach, the griping pains so erroneously judged to be the evidence of thorough action, and to require from 4 to 6 Pills, to get a decent cathartic, was the study in this development. The dose seldom exceeding One, and never more than Two Pills, settles the question of economy, and character can be best known by confidence to test them in DYSPEPSIA, COSTIVENESS, BILIOUSNESS, LIVER COMPLAINT, all derangements of the stomach and Bowels, and as a Family Pill. spuo

Brown's Bronchial Troches FOR Coughs AND Colds.

A NEGLECTED COUGH or COLD, AN IRRITATED or SORE THROAT, if allowed to progress results in serious Pulmonary, Bronchial and Asthmatic Diseases, often times incurable. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES reach directly the affected parts, and give almost immediate relief. FOR BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA CATARRH and CONSUMPTIVE COUGHS the Troches are useful. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS should have the Troches to clear and strengthen the Voice. MILITARY OFFICERS and SOLDIERS who overtax the voice, and are exposed to sudden changes, should use them. Obtain only the genuine, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" having proved their efficacy by a test of many years, are highly recommended and prescribed by Physicians and Surgeons in the Army, and have received testimonials from many eminent men.

Probate Advertisements.

The language of the law relating to the publication of Probate Notices is:

"The party required to publish any notice ordered by the Judge of Probate to be given in a newspaper, may select the paper therefor."

Will our subscribers remember this, and when they have occasion to do business at the Probate Office, if agreeable, request that their notices may be ordered for the Chronicle or the Gazette; otherwise a different paper may be selected.

Our terms are as low as those of any other paper.

Carrier Wanted.

A BOY 10 or 12 years old, to carry a morning paper before school—at the Chronicle office.

Local.

☞ Christmas is coming very rapidly—next week will bring it—and all who intend to make presents should be making their selections. Our advertising columns will tell them all the best places in the city to obtain articles of taste, beauty and utility, and buyers should consult them before making their decision.

While referring to this matter we would acknowledge our indebtedness to Mr. J. F. Shores, Jr., for the seventh yearly edition of McAdams' Panoramic Calendar,—a little article that has become invaluable to us by its usefulness in former years.

We have also received from Mr. Shores, Thomas' Farmers' Almanac for 1864, and Leavitt's Farmer's Almanac.

We are requested to invite attention to Mr. J. H. Head's New Christmas advertisement this morning, but his advertisements are always attractive enough in themselves.

HAMPTON FALLS FULL.—The quota of this town was filled on Friday. Messrs. John C. Sanborn and Levi T. Sanborn, the Selectmen of the town, made a contract on Friday morning for their men, and before 12 o'clock they were all presented and accepted.

THE QUOTA.—About 500 volunteers have been received at the Provost Marshal's office in this city. 1390 are required altogether.

☞ Rev. Mr. Patterson will deliver his next lecture to the young to-morrow (Sunday) evening. Services to commence at 7 o'clock. Subject—Church Going.

☞ Rev. Henry F. Lane, of Cambridgeport, late Chaplain of the 43d Mass. Regiment, will preach in the Middle Street Church on Sunday.

Communication.

Can you inform me, Friend Chronicle, if we have any night police? If so, where do they keep themselves? The reason for these inquiries is, that ladies without an escort in passing down Pleasant street after dark have been most outrageously insulted recently, and not only in one or two instances, but in many; and it is not at all probable that one person would hear of all the instances of this kind. If we have no city watch to protect our wives and sisters and daughters from the beastly instincts of animals bearing the semblance of man, (but without a particle of manly feeling in their bosoms) our citizens should take the matter into their own hands, and give the ruffians a taste of the creed of Draco, which is the only one they are capable of understanding.

PLEASANT STREET.

☞ The new ship launched at the South End ship yard some time ago, and owned by Capt. D. Marcy, Richard Jenness and Jno. R. Reding, has been named the "Daniel Marcy."

D. D. Badger, Esq., is about to build at the above yard a freighting schooner of 250 tons burthen, contracted for by W. D. Freeman and others.

☞ Sampson B. Lord, Esq., has been appointed Toll Collector of Newcastle Bridge.

☞ John E. Holmes, Esq., has been appointed Postmaster of Greenland, in place of Geo. E. Brackett, removed.

☞ Col. Cyrus Hamlin, son of the Vice President, commands the First Division of the Corps d'Afrique at Port Hudson. He was, a few years since, a clerk at the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

☞ The meeting in Portland, Thursday evening, for the Freedmen's Relief Association, was earnest and enthusiastic. Just as the services were to begin, the news came of the recapture of the steamer Chesapeake, and being announced, was received with great applause. This circumstance gave the meeting a great impulse, and doubtless will swell the receipts. Rev. Mr. Hawkins, collecting agent for this noble charity, has returned to Portsmouth, and will operate here Saturday and Monday.

BOOK OF DAYS, Part 18.—We have received the 18th number of this publication from J. B. Lippincott & Co., through J. H. Foster of this city, who has it for sale.—We have frequently referred to the rare excellence of this work, and the present number is no less interesting than those preceding it.

— The Boston & Maine Railroad has declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent.

— It is rumored that Gen Butler is to treat with the rebel authorities for an exchange of prisoners.

— Gold opened in New York on Friday morning at 152 1-4. The rise of gold is caused by the Bank of England raising its rate of discount.

— It is believed that one thousand horses were drowned during the recent stampede at Washington, where fifty-five hundred broke loose.

— There was a report in Boston on Friday that the Malden murderer had been arrested; but to up 2 P. M. no arrest had been made.

Annual Sale.

The Ladies of the SOUTH PARISH DOMESTIC MISSIONARY SOCIETY will hold their Annual Sale, at the Chapel on Court street, on MONDAY, Dec 21, in the afternoon and evening, commencing at 3 o'clock P. M.

The proceeds of the sale will be divided between the City Mission and the Sanitary Commission.

A variety of Useful and Tasteful Articles will be found at the sale, suitable for Christmas Presents. d16—3t

☞ Scurvy and Scrofulous Eruptions will soon cover the bodies of those brave men who are fighting their country's battles. Night air, bad food and drenching rains will make havoc with the strongest, therefore let every man supply himself with HOLLOWAY'S Ointment, it is a certain cure for every kind of skin disease. Only 25 cts. per pot. 215

☞ Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is manufactured entirely different from any other. Its chemical purity renders it as harmless as the purest flour, and its use will strengthen weak stomachs and cure dyspeptic persons. Use it with cream tartar instead of soda.—It is much better. Try it. Grocers and Druggists sell it.

☞ See you fair maiden in another column, picking Sambucl Grapes for Spear's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 EMMOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, as he has first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal, and impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Bunoes, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of this disease caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Those who desire to enter into contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a 3ct stamp.

Highly Important!

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 EMMOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to it. Female system. LAST AND BEST.

THE MODEL COOK.

AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,

WITH TWO OVENS,

And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range, and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, heretofore wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept as long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either side, when needed.

In short, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter use; excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and dispatch are desirable, should be without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook—

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public with full confidence in its merits.

It was introduced three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very simple, not need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in this city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.

These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room, and the time saved in cooking. It has a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and may be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable,—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is effectually obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat into the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reasons for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they must of a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used.

We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all:
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally: It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address

GEN. GRANT ON SLAVERY.—Senator Wilson's quotation of Gen. Grant's views of slavery having been questioned, the following is given as the precise words used by Gen. Grant in a letter to Hon. E. B. Washburn, dated Aug. 13, 1863:

"The people of the North need not quarrel over the institution of slavery. What Vice President Stephens acknowledges as the corner stone of the confederacy is already knocked out. Slavery is already dead, and cannot be resurrected. It would take a standing army to maintain slavery in the South if we were to make peace to day guarantying to the South all their formey constitutional privileges. I never was an abolitionist, not even what would be called anti slavery, but I try to judge fairly and honestly, and it became patent to my mind early in the rebellion that the North and South could never live at peace with each other except as one nation, and that without slavery. As anxious as I am to see peace established, I would not, therefore, be willing to see any settlement until this question is forever settled."

— Music is the most delightful rational entertainment that the human mind can enjoy.

— In Detroit is a firm by the name of Gun & Locke—very appropriate in these piping times of war.

— A magnificent rainbow exhibited itself at Hartford, Ct., on Monday last—an unusual sight at this season of the year.

— Mrs. Schaeffer, the widow of the poor fellow who was murdered on the Chesapeake, has been left entirely destitute, and is now lying ill in New York, with a babe only four days old, in great suffering and want. MONDAY, DECEMBER 21, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

Stuart's cavalry's raid on Thursday night was on the Orange and Alexandria R. R. They numbered 1000. The N. Y. cavalry made a brave resistance. The object of the raiders was to capture a large supply train which was expected but fortunately happened to be an hour and a half late.—Reinforcements came up, and the rebels were driven off, and the next morning cavalry were sent in pursuit.

The recent heavy gale, it is said, seriously damaged the obstructions in Charleston harbor, and a large number of heavy timbers bolted together with iron came down with the tide. The correspondent of the N. Y. Herald, thus explains the matter:—

The famous floating battery in Charleston harbor, which was used against Sumter when Anderson held the works, broke adrift in the last gale, smashed through and carried away obstructions, and now lies ashore on the north end of Folly Island.—She was formerly plated with railroad iron, but that had been removed for other purposes.

Major General Gillmore again shelled Charleston on Thursday night, 10th, throwing a number of shells into the city, and it is thought doing much damage. All the rebel batteries opened and a heavy bombardment ensued for several hours.

The Chesapeake having been captured in English waters has been given up to the colonial authorities. Secretaries Welles and Seward so telegraphed to Halifax.—It is not believed, however, that the pirates will be permitted to put to sea again.

It is reported that a rebel battery has sunk U. S. gunboat Daylight off Wilmington with most of her officers and crew. A blockade runner had been driven ashore, and the Daylight went in to take possession, when the rebels threw a shell into her magazine, completely destroying her.

BY TELEGRAPH, SUNDAY.

Brass field-pieces and rounds of solid shot are being discovered on Folly Island, near Fort Gregg,—supposed to have been buried there by the rebels before they evacuated Fort Gregg. Morris Island beach is lined with fragments of timber banded with iron. No traces can be discovered where torpedoes had been fastened. Now, if ever, is the time for Adm. Dahlgren to make the attempt to go into Charleston.

The raid by Stuart's cavalry into Fairfax Court House startled the people of Washington. Such raids will continue unless Gen. Meade falls back nearer Washington or strengthens his communications. Gen. Meade will remain in command of the Army of the Potomac this winter.

Tremendous excitement prevailed at Halifax on Saturday. At 2 P. M. the Chesapeake arrived, and the government officials attempted to arrest the three prisoners on board. Prominent citizens immediately interfered, and gave the officials rough treatment, preventing them from discharging their duties. The crowd seized the prisoners and conveyed them on board a boat, and forthwith carried them down the bay. The affair caused the greatest excitement in the city. What course the British authorities will pursue in the matter it is impossible to say. The pirates are all at liberty in the province of Nova Scotia. At the different ports where the Chesapeake touched the pirates disposed of her cargo—selling sugar at three cents a pound, flour three dollars a barrel, and other articles at proportionate prices.

☞ Admiral Wilkes' letter in reply to Secretary Welles' allegations is published. The Admiral says that it was not the detention of the Vanderbilt, but the carrying out of the Secretary's orders that permitted the escape of the Alabama. The Vanderbilt was not detained a day beyond the limit prescribed. To Wilkes' question why he was relieved in July last, Secretary Welles replied "Policy"—that is, to please Great Britain. In conclusion, Admiral Wilkes says his squadron was anything but a flying squadron, that his ships were out of repair, that he did what he was told to do, and that he is well satisfied that had the Secretary looked into the merits of the case he would have awarded credit to Wilkes instead of impugning his character as an officer.

☞ Capt. John Fred. Nichols, the captor of the Chesapeake, is a young man of about thirty years of age, and one of the numerous Nicholses of Searsport, Me., well known to commercial men as active and energetic shipmasters. "Capt. Fred" entered the service very soon after the rebellion broke out, and has been rapidly advanced for successive exploits requiring courage, dash and nautical skill.

— Fernando Wood's peace resolution was a proposition for the appointment of commissioners to go to Richmond and sue for peace. To that complexion has the peace movement come at last. There are few here at the North who are mean and abject enough to approve of such humiliation.

— The planet Venus was visible at noonday in New York on Wednesday.

— Commander Porter has been nominated for Rear Admiral in the navy.

— It is rumored that Gen. Kilpatrick, the celebrated cavalry officer, has become insane.

— Gen. Sickles has asked for a Court of Inquiry upon charges contained in Gen. Halleck's report.

— Gen. Hitchcock has gone to Fortress Monroe with final propositions to the rebel authorities for exchange of prisoners.

— The appropriations of the legislature of Georgia amounted, at its recent session, to $14,000,000. This shows the worthlessness of their currency.

— A young married woman named Hales, together with her father, has been arrested in Brooklyn, charged with robbing her husband's trunk of $64,000 in Southern bills.

— The Sassacus, whose wheel-house was broken in on the Potomac recently in a collision, is being rapidly repaired, and will soon be ready for sea.

— The Governor of Rhode Island has sent circulars to all the soldiers from that State whose terms of service are about to expire, urging them to re-enlist.

— It is said that the Legislature of New Jersey is likely to be importuned to fix a rate beyond which railroad companies in the State shall not charge for transportation.

— Lawrence, Kansas, is rising from its ashes. Since the raid, 137 buildings have been put up, or are in progress, and business is lively — The plantations of Jeff. Davis, and his brother, Joe Davis, below Vicksburg, have been taken possession of by Government, and will be used for a contraband camp.

— James Douglas, of Stony Creek, Ct., died Wednesday at the extraordinary age of one hundred and ten years. He retained possession of all his faculties, and was smart and active to the last.

— The Richmond Whig of the 13th says an explosion had taken place at the Chesterfield coal pits, 29 miles from Richmond, caused by the ignition of gas. Sixteen men were killed and three injured.

— A New York paper asks if there are thugs in that city, and says scarcely 24 hours can pass without the discovery of the body of a man or women murdered, and then consigned to the silent billows.

— St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church (Rev. Mr. Ridgaway's) on the Fourth Avenue, New York, took up their annual missionary collection recently, which resulted in the noble sum of ten thousand dollars.

— The Warsaw people are obliged to carry lanterns of different colors—white for persons who have not been arrested, yellow for doubtful, red for suspected—and with the name and address of the owner painted on the glass.

— The Bank of England covers an entire parish, and it has a clergyman whose salary is £700 a year. A room in the bank is kept to represent the church, for the sake of keeping up the church and its emoluments.

— A man working in an English garden lately was pushed by the head gardener, who saw that he was half asleep. The man was indignant, and poisoned himself the same night, in order that his ghost might haunt his pushing foe.

— The New Orleans Picayune of the 9th has information of the re capture of Puebla by Juarez's forces, and that Comonfort was advancing against the French. The French in Tampico are in a state of siege, and have there lost 800 men from yellow fever.

— The Montreal Transcript says that the Cathedral organists of Toronto, Montreal and Quebec purpose making a tour in the States, during the Christmas vacation, the principal source of attraction being the large organ recently erected in the Boston Music Hall.

— A Washington dispatch states that mutually friendly and satisfactory explanations took place on Friday between the Secretary of State and Lord Lyons concerning the recovery of the Chesapeake and her crew within the British jurisdiction in Nova Scotia.

— The versatile New York Herald, which sometime since nominated President Lincoln for re-election, and afterwards Gen. McClellan, now sees in Gen. Grant the rising man. It means to claim the credit of having first nominated whoever is the successful candidate.

— Second Lieut. E. B. Sturgeon of the U. S. Marine Corps has been tried by a naval General Court-Martial, in session at New Orleans, for "absence without leave, and drunkenness," and sentenced to be dismissed the service of the United States, to date from December 7. The proceedings have been approved.

— Prof. Agassiz, in a late lecture in Springfield, said: "Boys and girls, men and women, should be less cloistered. They should be associated in the school, on the farm and in the shop. Their influences should be pure and healthful, and thus would the race attain more perfect development: society will then be put on a higher foundation."

☞ A Chattanooga dispatch states that the rebel Gen. John Morgan escaped across the Tennessee at Gillespie's Landing, sixty miles above Chattanooga, on Monday afternoon. Capt. Wm. Cummings and Robt. Cummings, who escaped with him, were captured, together with fourteen of his escort of thirty. Reaching the neighborhood of the river they pressed every citizen to prevent alarm being given, and hurriedly constructed a raft on which an attempt to cross was made. A citizen, who eluded their pickets, gave the alarm and the attempt was nearly frustrated. Morgan escaped on a valuable race horse, which was presented to him in Kentucky, going in the direction of Athens. Gen. Howard, who commands at Athens, has cavalry scouting the country, and possibly Morgan may be taken.

☞ The Morris Island correspondent of the New Bedford Mercury writes that the steamer Planter, the vessel which was run out of Charleston harbor by Robert Smalls, and turned over to the blockading fleet, has been captured by the rebels. It appears that the vessel was bound round to Stono Inlet, through Lighthouse Inlet, and the creek dividing Cole and Folly Islands, but owing to the dense fog prevailing at the time, the pilot ran her past the turn off in the creek, continuing on too far up the inlet toward Secessbville. He did not discover his error until he ran in among the rebel picket boats patrolling in the vicinity, when, as a natural sequence, she was captured. The fate of her crew may be a rather serious matter, for all except the captain and engineers are contrabands, and some of them formed a part of her crew who ran away with her. It is believed that Smalls was piloting her on the occasion.

☞ A Leavenworth, Kansas, dispatch of Dec. 18, says:—

Accounts from the Plains represent great sufferings among the men and stock. In consequence of a severe snow storm no hay or grass could be had, and the stock was dying off by hundreds of starvation, and many lives were known to be lost by the intense cold, as over 100 trains have been sent out. Much anxiety is felt for their safety.

Fourteen inches of snow has fallen here, and much of it having drifted, all the roads are blocked up. No mails have been received here for three days.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—The Salem Gazette states that on Thursday afternoon, as the 4 o'clock train from Boston, for Salem, was leaving the Lynn depot, a shackling-bar broke, and a fragment flew into the door of the car, and made a circuitous motion or rebound, and struck the eye of Mr. Wiley, of Lynn, who was seated on the end seat, with his back to the door. The eye was destroyed.

Time wears slippers of list, and his tread is noiseless. The days come softly dawning, one after another; they creep in at the windows; their first morning air is grateful to the lips, as they pant for it; their music is sweet to the ears that listen to it; until, before we know it, a whole life of days has possession of the citadel, and time has taken us for its own.

TAKING THE OATH.—The Washington Republican has a despatch from Norfolk, Va., dated the 16th instant, which says:

"Gen. Butler has commenced the work of administering the oath recommended by the proclamation of the President. Yesterday over two thousand took the oath. The administration of it will be continued to-day. We believe it is the intention of Gen. Butler to send all those who will not take it across the line into rebeldom, where they can enjoy the blessings of Jeff. Davis' slave oligarchy and such 'home comforts' as are furnished our soldiers who are prisoners in Richmond. Gen. Butler is the man for this Department."

IMPATIENCE.—In all evils which admit a remedy, impatience must be avoided, because it wastes that time and attention in complaints, which, if properly applied, might remove the cause.

— A row of shanties on New Jersey Avenue, Washington, represented to be a place where drunkenness and disorder raled, and where soldiers were robbed and beaten, and others probably aided to desert, was a few days ago quietly torn down by the military authorities. This is certainly a summary way of abating an alleged nuisance.

Woman must remember that she brought more sin and misery into the world by her eating than man has ever by his drinking.

— At Shelbyville, Indiana, on Thursday night, last week, two young boys were arrested for a slight misdemeanor and sent to the Shelbyville jail, where a crazy man was confined previous to being sent to the asylum. Next morning, when the jailor went to give his prisoners their breakfast, the boys were found weltering in blood, their throats cut from ear to ear.

If an allegation is made against you, consider the character of the allegator.

HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS—The true Type of Cathartic.—By the application of true Pharmaceutical Laws, both Character and Economy are combined in this valuable Pill. To prevent putting such quantities of indigestible drugs into the stomach, the griping pains so erroneously judged to be the evidence of thorough action, and to require from 4 to 8 Pills, to get a decent cathartic, was the study in this development. The dose seldom exceeding One, and never more than Two Pills, settles the question of economy, and character can be best known by confidence to test them in DYSPEPSIA, COSTIVENESS, BILIOUSNESS, LIVER COMPLAINT, all derangements of the stomach and Bowels, and as a Family Pill. spao

☞ The work of moving the boilers of the Agamenticus from the wharf under the shears at the Portsmouth Navy Yard to the vessel on the railway above the dock, is progressing favorably, considering the labor involved. Four of these immense boilers, weighing about forty-five tons each, are being moved across the Yard on a track laid for the purpose, and in a day or two they will be on the deck of the ship, and lowered into position by means of temporary shears, erected for the purpose.

☞ Lieut. Robt. Henderson, 18th Mass. Vols., formerly of this city, who has been detailed for special duty at the conscript camp, Long Island, Boston Harbor, was in this city on a short furlough last week.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Young Ladies' Soldiers' Aid Society, of Nashua, will hold a Fair at the City Hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 23.

—— Mrs. Wheeler, widow of the late Augustus Wheeler, of Dublin, hung herself on Thursday morning last. She leaves seven children.

—— Maj. Farr and Capt. Fingree, both of the 11th regiment, have been transferred to the Invalid Corps and have reported at Indianapolis, Ind.

——Hon. Larkin Baker of Westmoreland, Judge of Probate for Cheshire County, met with a serious accident on Monday morning last. He fell while walking near his house, fracturing a thigh bone near the joint.

—— On Friday, Dec. 11th, the new St. Luke's Church in Charlestown was consecrated to the service of God. The little Parish of Episcopalians have worked faithfully and zealously to gain a place of rest and a permanent home.

—— Paymaster Farnsworth, of Manchester, unable to stand the climate of New Orleans, has returned in wasted health and has resigned. The Mirror, however, states that Government did not see fit to give up his services, and he will start for the South soon.

—— James Lapham, an Irishman, was found dead in his room in Nashua, last Tuesday morning. A tumbler was found in the room, about one-third full of arsenic and honey. It was reported that the deceased had a quarrel a short time previously with his wife. No inquest was held over the body.

—— The Nashua Telegraph is informed that Mr. Charles Lamson, formerly publisher of the Electric, a spiritual paper, afterwards editor and publisher of the Marblehead Mirror, and Rev. O. D. Miller, formerly pastor of the Universalist Society in Nashua, have bought out the Manchester Union for the sum of $1000, to begin its publication on the 1st proximo.

—— On Thursday evening of last week, Jennis Elms, of Lisbon, formerly of Littleton, committed suicide by poisoning herself. She first attempted to drown herself in a pond near by, but as the water was not deep enough, she returned to her room and administered the poison. She survived until Saturday night, when she died. The Lebanon Free Press states that disappointment caused the act.

—It is said a plot has been discovered to seize a barque at Philadelphia as a pirate, by rebels who were to ship as sailors.

— The report that Gen. Grant is still suffering from his fall at New Orleans and from loss of health and strength from other causes, is incorrect.

— An English lady, Miss Hales, is about to erect a convent on her estate in Canterbury. The site marked out for the enterprise is thirty acres in extent, and an architect is engaged upon the plans. The cost will be over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Miss Hales has for some time been in a French convent.

— The losses of the Federal army, in killed, wounded and missing, for the year, according to Gen. Halleck's report, were 92,770. The greatest loss was at Gettysburg, some 23,000. We captured from the rebels 86,796 men.

— On Monday last, the house of Hon. H. Carter, of Bradford, Mass., was struck by lightning, which knocked over a chimney, and passed down, thro' the kitchen into the cellar, without doing any other material damage, although the family were in the house at the time.

— A Boston lady journeying eastward in September last, lost her wallet containing $180. On the 11th of the present month, a Catholic priest of Boston informed her that a stranger had called on him and desired him to restore the wallet with all its contents as he had found them, to its owner.

— Hon. John Minor Botts manifests a generous hospitality to the officers of our army, having frequent parties at dinner, and making welcome to his hearth all who choose to call on him. He has expended the same civilities to the rebel generals, making an exception of Stuart, the cavalry officer, whom he does not allow to cross his threshold. He criticizes some measures of our Government and some members of our Cabinet with severity.

☞ They are again discussing, in Boston, whether the whipping post is a means of reformation. The Inspectors of Prisons for Suffolk county report on the House of Reformation, "a girl was flogged for disobedience and insolence." The blows were inflicted with a rattan, and the Superintendent said, "I struck her with all my might—she would not yield, I sent for a longer stick, and then she held out her hand."—After this, and this submission, she was committed to the cell and the food of the solitary, where she remained several days. The welts from the blows were distinctly visible on her shoulders when the Inspectors visited the Institution. In the course of the investigation they were informed that in the boys' department the punishments are sometimes inflicted with an ordinary wagon whip by the Superintendent in person.

☞ The great storm of the 3d inst. proved most disastrous to England, both on sea and land. The damage to property was most extensive, and the coast was strewn with wrecks. At Holyhead fifty-four bodies floated into the harbor, and many more were seen coming in. The pressure of the wind at Liverpool was greater than for years. There were many collisions and disasters in the Mersey. The American ship Weston Merritt was among those damaged by collision, but not seriously. The ship Pensacola was completely wrecked on Great Burbo Bank. Crew saved. The De Witt Clinton was totally wrecked off Frimley. Crew saved. The Mary Russell from Liverpool for Bath, was towed back dismasted.

Vows.—Make no vows to forbear this or that: it shows no strength, and makes thee ride behind thyself.—Fuller.

JESTING.—To smile at the jest which plants a thorn in another's breast, is to become a principal in the mischief.—Sheridan.

Annual Sale.

The proceeds of the sale will be divided between the City Mission and the Sanitary Commission.

A variety of Useful and Tasteful Articles will be found at the sale, suitable for Christmas Presents. d18—2t

☞ Scurvy and Scrofulous Eruptions will soon cover the bodies of those brave men who are fighting their country's battles. Night air, bad food and drenching rains will make sad havoc with the strongest, therefore let every man supply himself with HOLLOWAY'S Ointment, it is a certain cure for every kind of skin disease. Only 25 cts. per pot. 215

☞ Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is manufactured entirely different from any other. Its chemical purity renders it as harmless as the purest flour, and its use will strengthen weak stomachs and cure dyspeptic persons. Use it with cream tartar instead of soda.—It is much better. Try it. Grocers and Druggists sell it.

☞ See you fair maiden in another column, picking Sambucci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Such as no other practitioner, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, spilling the unfortunate victim of this fatal habit of society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charge for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving a description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important!

To Females in Delicate Health,

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 & 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon enjoys a perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. advice, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to obtain advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none standhigher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott Street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

LAST AND BEST.

THE MODEL COOK,

AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,

WITH TWO OVENS,

And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using the MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any other common stove or range—and in less time also

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept as long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either side, when needed.

In fact, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter; and is excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and cleanliness are desirable, should be without it.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook—

CALENDAR CLOCKS.

These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 28th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior boiler and cold water reservoir combined, by which the door of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, and no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shovelling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity testify, who are using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headaches so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from the smallest amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

In attempting this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former ones, many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The fine or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 30 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue in the top of the dome can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

Portsmouth, Aug. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully announce to his patrons and the public that VULCANIZED RUBBER, as a base for Artificial Teeth, promises all the advantages of Gold, yet costs only half as much. My experience has been highly satisfactory in its use, and I have no hesitation in WARRANTING PERFECT SATISFACTION in all cases.

Teeth inserted on Gold and Silver, and all other operations performed as usual.

Teeth extracted positively without pain, by inhaling Nitrous Oxyd Gas!

He is fully convinced that this is a perfectly harmless anæsthetic, its effect being the best of all anæsthetics, the entire operation being completed generally in three minutes, without the least pain, and the patient feeling as well, and usually better than before inhaling the Gas.

He would cordially invite all who wish teeth extracted without pain, or any possible injurious results, to call and be convinced.

I take pleasure in referring the public to Dr. TREADWELL, Dr. BOARDMAN, Dr OLIVER and Dr. BENNETT, for particular success in extracting teeth, with extracted without pain and with perfect safety, with Ether. Teeth polished to their natural whiteness without pain or injury to the Enamel. Regulation of Adults' and Children's Teeth will receive particular attention.—All whole and partial Sets of Teeth repaired with Neatness and Dispatch. All other operations in Dentistry, I will do at the usual rates.

☞ Please call and examine specimens of Artificial Teeth upon Vulcanized Rubber, Gold and Silver.

The Chronicle.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined:
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every law fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—It is common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address

A PARIS ECCENTRIC.

There are a great variety of eccentric people in the world, but Paris furnishes a specimen of the greatest eccentricity in high life known to civilization at this time. The Duke of Brunswick, a near relative of the Queen of England, lives in a hotel of peculiar architecture, painted a brick-dust pink all over, situated not very far from the Champs Elysees on the Boulevard Beaujon. The Duke is more than 70 years old; but to meet him as he drives along in state, in his elegant open carriage, you would say there is a very happy man of about 40, in the very prime of life. He is gotten up every day most elaborately by his valet, who paints his cheeks, his lips and his eyebrows artistically. His hair cannot be dyed, for alas! it has departed. But he had the habit in former days of having his hair cut every month; he has thirty one wigs, each one in the exact state of growth his hair would have been if it had but remained,—so that it would be impossible to say that he has not the natural ornament of his head. His dress is elaborately elegant, and he lives in state and grandeur. But he has "the skeleton in his closet" (more than one, the world says, having had a wild youth)—the dread of being robbed.

He resides in a house which is built less for comfort than for safety. It is proof against fire or thieves. It is surrounded by a lofty, thick wall, on the top, of which is a chevaux de frise, so arranged that, if a strange hand should touch one of the spikes, a bell immediately begins ringing. This defence cost the Duke no less than $10,000, owing to its complicated arrangements.—The Duke has an extraordinary collection of diamonds, valued at $2,250,000. He has caused to be printed a catalogue of these gems, giving the history of each one of them,—the whole forming a pamphlet of 268 quarto pages. One came from a Turkish sabre, and, after many adventures, became the property of a Jew in Europe; another once sparkled in a royal diadem; a third glittered on the breast of a German Emperor; a fourth fastened the plume in the hat of an Archduke. A black diamond, obtained from the treasury of a Nabob, served for centuries in India as the eye of an idol. A wondrously fine pink brilliant once belonged to the jewels of the Emperor Baba, at Agra, and is said to be invaluable. A set of twelve studs was once worn by the Emperor of Brazil as waistcoat buttons. A diamond ring of the purest water belonged to Maria Stuart, and has her arms and "M. S." engraved upon it. A pair of ear-rings were once the property of Marie Antoinette.

The Duke has a large number of diamonds valued at $15,000, $20,000, and $30,000; two at $45,000; three at $52,000, and one at $60,000. Notwithstanding these valuable possessions, he is now bargaining for two others, estimated at $177,500 and $487,500. He is the possessor of all these treasures in their slave. He dares not leave his stronghold, even for a single night, lest he may be robbed. The jewels are kept in a safe let into the wall, and the Duke's bedstead before it, so that no thief can break in without either waking him, or by first putting him out of the way. If this safe should be broken forcibly, four guns would be discharged, and the burglar would have little chance of escape with his life. The discharge of the guns causes an alarm bell to ring in every room in the house. The bed-room has only one window. The bolt and lock on the door are of the stoutest iron, and can be opened only by a man who knows the secret. A case containing 12 loaded revolvers stands by the side of the bed. Besides this, every window in the house is provided with a secret apparatus which sets a regular chime of bells to ringing if any sacrilegious hand should touch them from the outside. His story, with all his countless treasure, is like those of miners in all time—he is tortured by riches.—Cor. of Chicago Times.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

Three or four thousand troops under Wirt, Adams, Crosby and Logan, appeared in the vicinity of Natchez early in December and attacked our forces under Gen. Gresham, and were repulsed and pursued. It is said we took 800 prisoners.

Major Gen. Butler has issued an order for the enrolment of all able-bodied male citizens, colored and white, between 18 and 45 years of age, in his Department, to be completed Jan. 1st. On Wednesday last our pickets were driven in at Gloucester Point by the rebels. Two companies were immediately sent out and dispersed the enemy.

A New Orleans letter to the N. Y. World, dated 13th inst., says:—

Up to to-night we have heard nothing fresh from the Rio Grande, but our forces have all left the Teche, and but a small garrison is at Brashear. I do not know that anything is expected from Texas just now. It is reported here that Magruder is at Columbus, on the Colorado, with a large force, and that if the Federal army enters the interior its progress will be disputed. It will not, in my opinion, leave navigable waters very soon. The cotton now goes by way of Monterey, by Loredo and Eagle pass."

Richmond papers of the 19th publish the following telegram from Charleston:

The Ironsides and three monitors, while attempting to pass the obstructions, became entangled and will probably have to be abandoned. Two monitors are also badly disabled.

Longstreet divided his army on Monday, 14th, to cut off Gens. Shackleford and Foster. One part made an attack on Bean's Station at 2 o'clock, and the battle lasted till dark. Gen. Shackleford held his ground till then, when he withdrew with a loss of 150 to 200 in killed and wounded. On the 17th heavy firing was heard between Tazewell and Clinch river, and it is reported that Longstreet was killed, and his forces surrounded.

A letter from an officer off Wilmington, 16th, states that only two vessels had attempted to run the blockade recently, and one of them was destroyed.

Gen. Averill started several days since from Martinsburg to destroy, if possible, the rebel railroad line to Richmond.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Company D, 1st Mass. Battery, Heavy Artillery, which has been doing guard duty at the general rendezvous in Concord since the commencement of the draft, is ordered to report to Maj. Cabot, at Fort Warren, Boston harbor, and left on Saturday morning for that purpose.

—— A fire caught in the second story of Mr. John Brugger's hosiery mill in Manchester on Saturday morning, between 8 and 9 o'clock, and the flames spread very rapidly through the room. The workmen fled for their lives and escaped by the door and windows, many of them getting their hair and clothing burned. The fire and smoke poured through the door to the stairway, cutting off the escape of those in the upper room, who, seized with fright as the flames came up through the holes in the floor, sprang from the windows at the risk of their lives. Fortunately no one was seriously injured. One women let herself down three stories to the ground by a long piece of the knit-stocking material, tearing the flesh from her hands in the descent.—The fire was soon extinguished. Loss from $1800 to $2000.

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY.—The thirteenth volume of this able American periodical begins with the January number. Steadily increasing in popularity, since its present publishers, Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, assumed its management, it has now a circulation greater than that ever reached by any American magazine of its class, and numbers among its regular contributors such names as Longfellow, Hawthorne, Emerson, Bryant, Agassiz, Holmes, Lowell, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Whittier, and others scarcely less eminent. A better proof cannot be given of the popular estimation in which it is held than the demand for a publication in separate volumes of many of the serial papers that first appeared in its pages. The Atlantic has honestly held and freely declared its own opinions, on other than literary questions, and in the present crisis every intelligent American should know what influences such minds as those of the contributors to the Atlantic are exerting upon the progress of humanity.

☞ The man who pays the largest personal tax in New York city lives in the same house in which he kept a store for some fifty years; he washes himself in a tin pan in the back yard, whenever he does wash at all; takes a basket and goes out to buy a little food, which a woman in the house prepares for him. He sells no goods at present, but adds to his vast wealth daily by lending money on good security, being just as shrewd, keen and close as he ever was, though he is much beyond seventy years of age. Alas for the poverty of riches.

LETTER FROM BOSTON.

BOSTON, Dec. 18, 1863.

Editor Chronicle;—The great event of interest in this city this week has been the opening of the Sanitary Fair on Monday evening, and its continuation through the week, with the Music Hall crowded every hour to its utmost capacity. So great was the crowd in attendance that the admission fee was raised to 31 each day, from the opening till 2 P. M., to enable visitors to purchase the articles, but that did not seem to diminish the crowd; yesterday and to-day, however, being stormy, an opportunity has been given to purchasers.

The Fair is a great success, and a large amount of money accrues to the Treasury of the Sanitary Commission, to be dispensed to our brave soldiers, who have so often received substantial aid from this most worthy Association. Many have spent their money at the Fair who would never have done so except with the thought that it was for the benefit of the soldier. A mistake was made in having the Fair in so small a hall, but the great organ, it was supposed, would be an extra attraction, and it was, undoubtedly; still many have not visited the hall on account of the great jam and utter impossibility of seeing many of the articles displayed. Had it been held in the Quincy and Faneuil Halls, having one door for an entrance and another for egress, as at the Mechanics' Fair, the receipts would have been increased one-third, and all who attended would have been far better satisfied. The New Hampshire and Vermont tables occupy the centre of the hall, and the fine display from the Old Granite State has called forth many encomiums in our city papers. The Boston & Maine and Eastern railroads have run extra and late trains, and some at half fare, to enable their patrons to visit the Fair.

The murder of young Converse at the Malden Bank last Tuesday has divided public attention with the Fair: the Coroner's jury met yesterday afternoon, but no new facts were elicited: no clue to the murderer has been obtained, though the city yesterday and to-day has had many rumors of the arrest of the murderer, but all without foundation.

A memorial to the Secretary of War to allow Massachusetts to recruit part of her quota in those States upon which no calls have been made, has been at the Merchants' Exchange yesterday and to-day, and has been signed by many of our prominent citizens. No doubt many recruits could be raised in North Carolina, Tennessee and other States.

Col. Donohoe, 10th N. H., has returned to Concord from the Dept. of the South, where he was temporarily detained in command of the 3d N. H. Regt, by Gen. Gilmore. A recruiting party from that Dept. has been ordered North under the last call for volunteers. Col. Stevens, of the 18th N. H., is also on duty at Concord. Lieut. Col. Storer, of the 13th, on his way home to New Hampshire, was badly jammed between some cars in New York Monday night: up to to-night he had been unable to proceed from Bridgeport, Conn., where he was taken. 186 volunteers arrived in this city to-day from Concord, N. H., under command of Capt. Hubbard, of the 10th,—who had but one man with him for a guard. The men are for the 5th and 12th Regts., the N. H. Battery, and the New England Cavalry, and will go to Point Lookout, Va. Last night four men were caught in attempting to escape from the camp at Concord.—They attempted to bribe an honest soldier of the Invalid Corps, who exposed them to Col. Jackson, who is in command of the camp. Volunteers are going into that camp faster than they can be taken care of—quite a contrast to Massachusetts. Your compositor made me say Gen. Dana, when it should have been Gen. Devens, who is in charge of the Military Depot at Long Island, Boston Harbor. J. T. M.

☞ We find the following item, relative to a former citizen of this place, in the New Orleans Picayune:

We must tell a joke on Recorder Vennard, though in doing so we may run the risk of being brought up for contempt of court. One day last week two negroes were arrested with five fine turkies in their possession, which they were charitably supposed to have stolen. They were kept in prison two days, when one of them, who claimed the turkeys as his own, proved so satisfactorily that he came honestly by them that the Recorder felt himself obliged to relieve both the negroes and the turkeys from custody. Indeed he went further.—Feeling some compunctions of conscience for having kept the darkeys so long confined on suspicion, he proposed to make some slight amends by purchasing a turkey for his Christmas dinner. And this he did. The chosen turkey was sent home, and fared sumptuously till yesterday, when it came out that the five turkeys had been sent from the coast as a present to a high military officer in this city, and that the darkey of good repute had stolen them from the levee, where they had been landed. Under these circumstances, the Recorder very handsomely surrendered his turkey to the true owner, and will be obliged to make other provisions for his Christmas dinner.

— A writer in Blackwood's Magazine says that Gen. Lee is the handsomest man he ever saw—fifty six, tall, broad shouldered, and very well set up. The Boston Post thinks "that last phrase is equivocal."

— The Kentucky House of Representatives has passed resolutions that the State of Kentucky will assume the payment of losses incurred by Union soldiers, and look to the General Government for reimbursement. It is thought that it will pass the Senate.

— The Baltic Gazette says the two steam rams of Laird's, which were stopped by the British government, have been purchased by Prussia, in order to guard against the blockade of the German coast by the Danes. The price paid for them was a million thalers, about $750,000.

— A very large proportion of the rebels in our hands—not less than a third of them, it is said—are desirous of enlisting in the navy. Gen. Marston is reported to have said that he could, on very short notice, furnish 1000 sailors from the prisoners' camp at Point Lookout, of which he is in charge. This willingness is suspicious.

— A blockade runner from Wilmington, N. C., bound to Nassau, ran into port at Hilton Head on the 9th inst. She had encountered heavy weather, lost her sails, was leaking badly, and her crew, seeing no chance of reaching Nassau, ran her into Hilton Head harbor, beached her, and gave her up. Her cargo consisted of 150 bbls. of turpentine and 8 bbls. of rosin.

HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS—The true Type of Cathartic.—By the application of true Pharmaceutical Laws, both Character and Economy are combined in this valuable Pill. To prevent putting such quantities of indigestible drugs into the stomach, the griping pains so erroneously judged to be the evidence of thorough action, and to require from 4 to 6 Pills, to get a decent cathartic, was the study in this development. The dose seldom exceeding One, and never more than Two Pills, settles the question of economy, and consequently has been best known by confidence to test them in DYSPEPSIA, COSTIVENESS, ILLIOUSNESS, LIVER COMPLAINT, all derangements of the stomach and bowels, and as a Family Pill. spno

Local.

☞ We believe there is a City Ordinance which requires every citizen to remove the ice from the sidewalk in front of his premises. But Jack Frost has put a veto on this, and the ice remains.

We believe also, that there is another ordinance forbidding any one to deposit ashes in the streets: but we advise every householder and shopkeeper to honor this ordinance by breaking it so far as to strow ashes or sand on the ice. Better to break the ordinance than to break one's neck.—We dare say the police will wink at the offence, and the City Judge will impose a very light fine, if any. U. T.

☞ We learn that a change of the Provost Marshal of the 1st N. H. District is to be made immediately, but we are not informed who is to be Capt. Godfrey's successor. Capt. Godfrey went out as Quartermaster of the 2d N. H. regiment, and was subsequently promoted to higher positions in the Quartermaster's Department.—In every position in which he has been placed he has proved himself one of the most honest, earnest and faithful of men.

☞ Recent arrivals from Norfolk, Va., report Constructor Hanscom, lately detached from our Navy Yard, as very busy in the repair of steamers belonging to the South Atlantic and Gulf squadrons, fifteen or twenty being the number usually under his supervision at a time, at the Gosport Navy Yard. Domiciled in the yard, in the only dwelling left standing by the vicissitudes of war, his many friends in this vicinity will be pleased to learn that his quarters are agreeable. Quite a number of artisans from this city now pursue their avocations on the soil of the Old Dominion, under the superintendence of Mr. Hanscom.

☞ Rev. Mr. Patterson delivered his lecture on "Church Going," on Sunday evening, to an audience that was literally packed. Those who have enjoyed the privilege of attending his course of lectures to the young were sorry to hear Mr. P. announce that the next one, to be delivered on the 3d prox., will be the concluding one of the series.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors—Of the 1400 men required from this district under the President's last call nearly on-half have already been furnished, while of Portsmouth's quota one man in fifty had been furnished according to your last account. But eleven working days will elape before the 5th of January. Do the people of this city wish a draft? What is the city agent doing to procure men, that he has secured three volunteers while the quotas of other places are full? We have heard a rumor that the city agent has expressed himself in favor of the draft being allowed to take its course and the drafted men to pay commutation, rather than pay the rates given by other towns to volunteers; if this be true, our young men will have an opportunity to "come in out of the draft." CONSCRIPT.

☞ The appointments of Lawrence M. Bowers and James H. Hughes, of the Portsmouth Navy Yard, as Acting Masters' Mates, have been confirmed.

Lieut. Com'r J. M. Bradford, of this city, has been detached from the command of the U. S. steamer Nipsic, and ordered to duty as Fleet Captain of the South Atlantic Blockading Squadron.

☞ The Bank of New Hampshire has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 1-2 per cent. and the Government tax, payable on the 1st of January, to holders of stock on the 26th inst.

The Eastern Railroad, and the Eastern Railroad in New Hampshire, will pay each a dividend of 3 per cent., free of Government and State tax, on Jan. 1.

☞ The Portland Press states that the gunboat Agawam will be taken to the Portsmouth Navy Yard on Tuesday, 22d, to receive her armament, when she will be ready for service.

☞ They have a fine skating park in Rockland, Maine, which is lighted up evenings and kept in good order by subscription; and in Lewiston they are agitating the question. Nearly every city and village in Massachusetts enjoys the luxury of a skating park, kept in order by public subscription. Portsmouth is behind hand in this particular.

☞ A friend, who on Monday morning entered the office like a sunbeam, quickly went out like a flash. But the touch of friendly regard which he left upon our desk before his sudden departure, was most pleasing to the recipient. What it was, reader, we need not tell you here; enough, that although it was a little early for Christmas and a little late for the last birth-day, it was none the less acceptable to "one of us."

☞ The N. Y. Times' Washington dispatch says that Hon. Daniel Mace is a member of the committee appointed by the Democratic caucus to confer with the National Democratic Committee to fix the time and place for holding the National Convention.

☞ Asst. Engineer Jos. B. Upham, Jr., of this city, has been ordered to the Chicopee, at Boston.

☞ Scurvy and Scrofulous Eruptions will soon cover the bodies of those brave men who are fighting their country's battles. Night air, bad food and drenching rains will make sad havoc with the strongest, therefore let every man supply himself with HOLLOWAY'S Ointment, it is a certain cure for every kind of skin disease. Only 25 cts. per pot. 215

— On the night of the 2d inst. the bodies of six deceased Federal prisoners were deposited in the dead house of the hospital at Richmond, to await the coming of the undertaker with coffins. The next morning one of the bodies was gone, and the plank knocked from the house showed the way ghost went. He had been "playing possum," and was laid out among the dead only to get up and run away when nobody was looking.

☞ "People who live in glass houses," &c., is an old saw we would recommend to the notice of a daily cotemporary in one of the thriving cities of Maine, from whose columns we take the following, verbatim et literatim et punctuation:

SUTHERN IGNORANT.—An army correspondent writes: It may seem stange but I have met many citizens, even in Culpepper county who had never seen the star spangled banner previous to the coming of meade's army."

No doctrine is good for anything that does not leave behind it an ethereal furrow, ready for the planting of seeds which shall spring up and bear abundant harvest.

Some sensible chap says truly, that a person who undertakes to raise himself by scandalizing others, might just as well sit down on a wheelbarrow and undertake to wheel himself.

THE MODEL COOK.

AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,

WITH TWO OVENS,

And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept as long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either side, when needed.

In fact, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter use; excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and dispatch are desirable, should be without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook—

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

It is now to be seen in one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in this city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.

These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 22th day of January of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING

FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and no note of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used.

We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

TEETH MOUNTED UPON GOLD, SILVER, AND VULCANIZED RUBBER.

All Artificial Teeth coming from my office will be warranted to give entire satisfaction.

PURE NITROUS OXYD GAS.

No undue excitement ever accompanies or follows its use, and by injury, even to the most delicately constituted, can be an after result. n6

No. 60 CONGRESS STREET,
Portsmouth, Aug. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL,

Would respectfully announce to his patrons and the public that VULCANIZED RUBBER, as a base for Artificial Teeth, promises all the advantages of Gold, yet costs only half as much. My experience has been highly satisfactory in its use, and I have no hesitation in WARRANTING PERFECT SATISFACTION in all cases.

Teeth inserted on Gold and Silver, and all other operations performed as usual.

Teeth extracted positively without pain, by inhaling Nitrous Oxyd Gas!

He is fully convinced that it is a perfectly harmless anæsthetic, its effect being that of an exhilarant, the whole operation being completed generally in three minutes without the least pain, and the patient feeling as well, and usually better than before inhaling the Gas.

He would cordially invite all who wish teeth extracted without pain, or any possible injurious results, to call and be convinced.

I take pleasure in referring the public to Dr. TEAGUE, Dr. BOARMAN, Dr. OLIVER and Dr. BENNETT, for particular success in extracting Teeth. Teeth extracted without pain and with perfect safety, with Ether. Teeth polished to their natural whiteness without pain or injury to the Enamel. Regulation of Adults' and Children's Teeth will receive particular attention.

All whole and partial Sets of Teeth repaired with Neatness and Dispatch. All other operations in Dentistry, I will do at the usual rates.

The Chronicle.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home, our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address

CURIOUS MARRIAGE CUSTOM OF BRAZILIAN INDIANS.—In the Smithsonian Institute are specimens of the hymeneal bracelets of the Mabui tribe. An Indian of that race can not take a wife until he has passed his arms, at least ten times, through long stalks of the palm tree, filled intentionally with large, venomous ants.—Lieut. Herndon says, "He whom I saw receive this terrible baptism was not sixteen years old. They conducted him to the chiefs where the instruments awaited him, and when muffled in the terrible mittens, he was obliged to sing and dance before every cabin. Soon the torment that he endured became so great that he stopped.—The father and relatives dread as the greatest dishonor a cry or a weakness on the part of the young martyr. He came to the last cabin; he was pallid; his teeth chattered, and his arms were swollen. He went to lay the gloves before the old chief, when he still had to endure the congratulations of all the Indians present. He succeeded in doing all that was required, and throwing himself into the stream remained there until night. The Tocandelra ants not only bite, but are armed with a sting like the wasp; but the pain felt from it is far more violent. I think it equal to that occasioned by the sting of the black scorpion. I was bitten at 10 A. M., and felt an acute pain from it until evening, with several hours' fever."

☞ Among other facts noticeable at present in the Army of the Potomac is an amazing tendency toward dress, and expenditures in this direction must consume a generous share of the salaries of many officers. Suits of velvet are quite fashionable, trimmed with gold cord, and adorned with all the decorations of rank to which the wearer is entitled. To the latter are added the Kearney cross, or the insignia of the Army Corps to which the officer belongs.—Corduroy is worn to a considerable extent by cavalry officers, and its cost is enhanced either by a new demand, or the extortion of tradesmen. These and other fanciful suits are of course in addition to a wardrobe of elegant sufficiency, made of material and in style to correspond with the regulations of the army. An officer setting forth to make an evening call on a friend is very often a sight well worth seeing. The proximity of this army to Washington enables these expenditures for dress to be very readily conducted.

☞ The report of the commission appointed by the Navy Department, consisting of three chief engineers, who have made careful experiments for five months, showing the practicability of using petroleum or hyber-carbon oils for the purpose of generating steam, has been issued and proves satisfactory. It is said by those who have seen it, that the result shows great saving, not only for merchant steamers, but that a naval steamer can keep the sea under steam three times as long with less labor and greater economy as compared with coal, equal weights of each being considered, thus indicating a complete revolution in the mode of generating steam.

☞ On Monday last a steam-tug with two scows in tow was crossing the Niagara river above the Falls. They suddenly felt the pull of the terrible current which so soon reaches the Falls, and it did not take the four men on board long to decide what to do. Leaping overboard, they struck for the shore, which was gained by three of them. The other and the boats went over.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

The Army of the Potomac will, probably, fall back across the Rappahannock to go into winter quarters, where they will be near supplies and not subject to raids on their line of communication. Large blockhouses, for the protection of videttes against guerrillas, are being built between Fairfax and Bull Run. There is a report that the rebels are reinforcing Lee, that he may attack Gen. Meade.

Some of Mosby's guerrillas and Stuart's cavalry were found near Morgansburg, Farquier county, Va., on Sunday morning, by Gregg's cavalry; they retreated across the Rappahannock, with the loss of 4 killed and 10 prisoners, the latter including one of Mosby's lieutenants.

In a recent attack on the outposts of Fort Gibson by Standwaite, with a rebel force stated at 1600, he was repulsed, and fell back.

Gen. Foster has established his headquarters at Knoxville. Memphis papers report roving bands of guerrillas in the interior of West Tennessee, plundering and maltreating citizens.

The report that Longstreet had been killed and his forces surrounded, is not credited at Washington.

A letter from a distinguished officer of the fleet off Charleston states that as far as visible the only obstructions in Charleston harbor are a double line of piles across the channel, from Fort Pinckney to the middle ground, and from there to Fort Johnson.—There is an opening of about 200 feet. The writer thinks the obstructions can be easily removed by the monitors.

Gen. Kimball, recently in command at Little Rock, Ark., states that immense Union meetings were being held in all parts of that State, endorsing without reservation all the acts of the Administration, and recommending a State Convention to re-organize the State Government.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Granite State Bank, Exeter, pays a dividend of four per cent., free of Government tax, Jan. 4.

—— The citizens of Marlboro' recently presented a beautiful sword, belt and sash to Capt. Levi W. Converse, Co. A, 2d N. H. Regiment.

—— The U. S. District Court, for the December term, met in Exeter on Tuesday of last week, Judge Matthew Harvey presiding. Four aliens were naturalized from Greenland. No other business coming before the Court, it adjourned.

—— A correspondent of the Laconia Democrat, speaking of the rebel prisoners at Point Lookout, Md., says:—

I have been informed that there are two here formerly from Belknap County, one from Alton and the other from Laconia, who was once an employee in the Brick Mill in that place; they went South and were both pressed into the service.

—— A private letter from a member of the 10th regiment states that private Johnson, of Co. H, has been dishonorably dismissed from the service, and sentenced to 10 years' hard labor; and that privates Donelly and Flynn, sentenced to be shot for desertion, have been reprieved by the President.

—— A correspondent of the Mirror writes that Hon. Richard Kimball, of Dover, has a Draco colt, out of a Messenger mare, that has trotted in 2:36. This colt, called "Bobbin Boy," was foaled June 1, 1861, and weighed Nov. 15, 1862, 830 pounds—and on the 26th of October, 1863, weighed 965 pounds. Judge Kimball has also another Draco colt of the same age, that weighed Oct. 26, 1863, 915 pounds.

—— A correspondent of the Manchester Union tells the following story:—

A singular incident occurred in Canaan a few days since. A widow lady by the name of Susan Heath left her house on the night of the 13th ult. and went into one of the neighbors' and wanted to stay all night, but the lady was afraid to keep her on account of her being insane.—She went away and was not heard of for four days, when James Furber related a dream he had the night before. He dreamed she was dead in a pasture near by, and on searching, the dead body was found on the very spot where he said he dreamed she was.

☞ Dates from the City of Mexico via Acapulco, are to the 24th ult. Great suffering for want of provisions prevailed among the poorer classes. The fortifications were constantly being strengthened. The French had advanced no further into the interior since occupying Queretaro. The killing of Comonfort aroused a feeling of intense bitterness among the native population. Accounts from San Luis Potosi state that a Mexican officer had returned from the United States, where he had been sent with a commission for purchasing and fitting out vessels of war under letters of marque, to prey upon French commerce, and it was reported that his mission was successful.

— It is stated that the rebels have sent commissioners to Ireland to recruit for the rebel army.

From our Regular Correspondent.

LETTER FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.

Dear Chronicle:—

The winter season of ball and festival is fast reaching toward its height, and the "sound of revelry by night" relieves the quiet monotony which attends the close of the business season. Saxe on Poetry and Poets; Massett (Jeems Pipes,of Pipesville) in his pot porridge titled "Drifting About;" Mortimer Thompson (Q. K. Philander Doesticks) on "Cheek;" "Rosedale" at Wallack's; Mr. and Mrs. Barney Williams at Niblo's; the Florences at Winter Garden; Van Amburgh's Menagerie and a first-class circus (in doors, at Wallack's old theatre below Broome street) Rosa Bonheur's original painting of the "Horse Fair;" with balls, parties and soirees innumerable, contribute to the gayety of the season.

Irving Hall is engaged for five nights in the week till the first of March, the City Assembly Rooms for fifty balls, and the Apollo Rooms for eighty,—and then the New England Ball on the 4th of February, the "Henry Clay" on the 17th, the "Light Guard" on the 12th, and "Bal Masque" of the "Purim Society"—all occur at the Academy of Music. New York is second only to Paris in entertainment of this character.

Our friends, Messrs. Allen & Paine, have recently brought out a new style of muffs, made of the finest Russia Leather, in a variety of shades, to match the coiffure colors, handsomely embroidered with silk, and lined and trimmed in a manner rivalling the richest furs, and all for one quarter the price of the latter.

An item excommunicated from one of my recent letters gave you, over one week in advance of its publication in the N. Y. journals, advices, obtained in private correspondence from Washington, of the rumored withdrawal of the new fractional currency, and its disadvantages. It is very generally refused here, the faces of the different denominations being so similar that after a little wear they are scarcely distinguishable—especially by night. The plan devised to strengthen the bills—the insertion of three linen threads between two layers of the paper in its manufacture—serves only to weaken it by causing it to split easily.

Powers, the modelist, has brought out a new statuette—"the Union Refugees"—a family group—the husband and father with musket and blanket on his shoulder, and powder flask at belt—the mother fatigued with the flight, leaning her head on his shoulder, and supported by his arm, and at their side, looking wonderingly up into their faces, a little child, "ragged and torn" and "all forlorn." The design is very effective, and well executed.

The recent movements of the Army of the Potomac seem to be "sides cross over," and "forward and back"—and this terpsicorean idea reminds me of an intended return of thanks to my friend, Mr. Lamprey, for a pleasant entertainment one last summer's eve, and recalls reminiscences of dancing school days, the varied and amusing association with old friends, the "rat-tat" on the violin, calling order out of the revel of a boisterous recess, the "one, two, three, four," the indulgent patience of our kind and indulgent professor, under the multitudinous trials devised by mischievous youth, and the triumphal entree marches beneath the arches of roses,—and old friends, tho' we may never all come together again, may we each find along life's pathway roses, real and fragrant, to brighten the pleasures and soften the sorrows mingling with our experience, and may we find, too, many moments in which to remember the days of "auld lang syne." N.

— A yoke of oxen sold in Amherst Co., Va., on the 2d for $1535 each,—that is, rebel currency.

— The Memphis cotton market is stagnant; good middlings 71; middling fair 73 cents.

— Ground for a United States Cemetery at Chattanooga has been selected. A National Monument is to be built.

— Way down in Alabama they are cutting up all the State House carpets to make blankets for the soldiers,—by vote of the Legislature.

— The Virginia Legislature, at Alexandria, has passed a bill calling a Convention, Feb. 13, for the abolition of slavery in that State.

— The Portland Courier evidently doesn't understand what a "war widow" is; it speaks of her as one who has lost her husband in the war.

— Joshua Ward, of Ashuelot, has purchased both the Greenbanks and Gleason factories at Barnet, Vt., and is running them both on flannel.

— In Richmond they have "starvation parties,"—people meet in each other's houses and have music and dancing, but nothing to eat or drink.

—M. About, in a recent work, speaks of an avaricious man who, "after having kindled his fire, stuck a cork in the end of the bellows to save the little wind that was left in them."

☞ In the U. S. Senate on Monday, Mr. Wilson gave notice of a bill to make it illegal for any member of Congress to act as counsel in any case in which the United States is interested. An amendment to the bill for an increase of the bounty and pay of volunteers, allowing soldiers to re-enlist in other branches of the service, was adopted. A debate followed on the policy of paying large bounties, in the course of which Mr. Wilson stated that it was more difficult to obtain money than men. He was in favor of the commutation clause and for the payment of the bounties proposed. Mr. Collamer moved to strike out the "January 5," and insert until the next draft, which shall not be later than Feb. 1, which was lost.

In the House, Mr. Blair of Missouri, from the Committee on Ways and Means, introduced a bill appropriating over $700,000 to carry into effect the act of March, 1863, for the payment of bounties and pensions to the officers and men actually employed in the Western, or department of Missouri. A resolution was adopted for the appointment of a select committee of nine to consider and report on the subject of a national bankrupt act. Mr. Ashley of Ohio introduced a bill, which was referred, providing a provisional Government in the military districts of the insurgent States and authorizing the loyal citizens thereof to organize a Government, Republican in form, and for other purposes. A bill was passed appropriating $50,000 for deficiencies for the public printing, and $20,000,000 for the payment of bounties, advance pay and premiums for soldiers volunteering or enlisting in the U. S. service.

☞ By a letter from Kanagawa, Japan, dated October 1st, it appears that although nearly three months had elapsed beyond the time allowed to foreigners to withdraw from the empire, by order of the Mikado nothing has been done to enforce obedience to the command. The commanders of the men-of-war at Kagosima were awaiting instructions from their several governments. Meantime, as is understood, the representatives of the foreign treaty powers, are doing all in their power for the safety of their people in the open ports of Japan, and will send a joint letter to the Mikado demanding an unconditional withdrawal of his edict of banishment of foreigners from these ports. Owing to the unsettled state of the country, trade had fallen off largely.

— Gen. Butler has been appointed Commissioner of Exchange for prisoners.

— Kate E. Hamilton, of Danbury, has had twenty-seven letters advertised for her in the Danbury Times within two weeks. She is evidently carrying on a big flirtation with somebody.

— A Wilmington (N. C.) paper of the 12th inst. reports that the blockaders have chased the steamer Beauregard ashore some distance above Fort Fisher. There was a rumor that the ship had been set on fire.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,)

76 State street, opposite Kilby street,

Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably surpassed by, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending, such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability in his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."

JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS—The true Type of Cathartic.—By the application of true Pharmaceutical Laws, both Character and Economy are combined in this valuable Pill. To prevent putting such quantities of indigestible drugs into the stomach, the griping pains so erroneously judged to be the evidence of thorough action, and to require from 4 to 6 Pills, to get a decent cathartic, was the study in this development. The dose seldom exceeding One, and never more than Two Pills, settles the question of economy, and character can be best known by confidence to test them in DYSPEPSIA, COSTIVENESS, BILIOUSNESS, LIVER COMPLAINT, all derangements of the stomach and Bowels, and as a Family Pill. spno

Carrier Wanted!

A BOY 10 or 12 years old, to carry a morning list before school—at the Chronicle office.

Local.

☞ A communication signed "A Conscript," and containing the most false and absurd, if not malicious statements, concerning the draft, &c., was inadvertently admitted into these columns yesterday morning. In reference to which we will now only say that we know, as everybody knows, our city authorities to be thoroughly efficient in this, as in all other public as well as private business; and all croakings and complainings of them are groundless. Especially has our worthy Mayor, and the present city recruiting agent, been from the first, most earnest and untiring and self-sacrificing, in keeping up the honor and credit of our city, and helping bar do her full share of the country's great work. All who say to the contrary either don't know or don't care what they say.

☞ Hon. Larkin D. Mason is to be Provost Marshal of the 1st N. H. District, in place of Capt. John S. Godfrey.

Capt. Godfrey, we understand, is ordered to report at Washington, as soon as his successor enters upon his duties here.

☞ A correspondent informs us that George E. Brackett, Esq., the attentive postmaster at Greenland, has not been removed, as stated, but still holds his commission as postmaster.

☞ U. S. side-wheel steamer Agawam arrived at the Portsmouth Navy Yard on Tuesday afternoon from Portland, where she was built. She comes here for her armament.

☞ Eastern papers have recently stated that the ship New Hampshire is to be launched at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, on Thursday, the 24th inst., (to-morrow). We understand that orders have been received at the Yard to launch her on the 8th of January next.

☞ It will be seen by Dr. Moses' new advertisement that he has arrived in this city, and will remain at the Franklin House to-day and to-morrow.

FINE SPECIMEN OF CARVING.—Visitors at the Merchants' Exchange Reading Room were yesterday attracted by a specimen of carving in wood which for skill, finish and elaborateness of design is a complete triumph. The wood is black walnut, and the design a royal stag, the head and horns of which are displayed, a musket, with powder horn and shot pouch, and a hare and duck. We have never seen so fine a specimen of carving, and it reflects great credit on the artist who executed it—Mr. H. H. Adams, of Portsmouth, N. H.—Boston Post.

Communication.

THE CITY'S QUOTA.—Messrs. Editors: A communication in your paper yesterday reflected severely upon Alderman Adams; and we take the earliest opportunity to state that the article did him great injustice. The city's quota is being filled as fast as possible. Yesterday 18 recruits were put in solely for Portsmouth. TRUTH.

LIEUT. GEORGE T. WILDES.—The body of this brave soldier and excellent man, a member of the 16th Regiment, N. H. V., who died in New Orleans last April, was brought home to his friends and relatives in Georgetown, Mass., on Wednesday of last week, for burial. The funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon, the sermon on the occasion being delivered by Rev. Mr. Humphriss, late of this city.

[Communication.]

☞ A timely "local" in your yesterday's issue brought to my mind the annexed scrap which I cut from an old paper sometime last year; and which may serve to deepen the impression made by that item—for though a word to the wise is enough, yet the prophet also bids us add line upon line. H.

A LESSON FOR THE DAY.—Blessed is the man who sprinkleth sand upon his steps; who bestoweth liberally of cinders upon the sidewalk.

For in him shall the weary traveller delight, and with the oil of joy shall his head be continually anointed.

Cursings and wrath are the issue of them which fall upon slippery places, and their indignation shall be a perpetual reproach to a civilized community.

They fall! They fall! Yea upon miscellaneous parts and their shins are grievously bruised.

The ointment of the apothecary, and the crutches of the lame, are the lot of those whose feet stumble and slide for the lack of ashes, and the born of them which neglect the comfort of the people is temporarily exalted.

But in a day when they think not shall retribution come. Selah!

— Secessionists in Baltimore profess to have information that Lee's army is going to winter at Hanover Court House.

— An attempt to launch the iron-clad Saugus at Washington some days since failed.

— A new locomotive on the Fitchburg railroad exploded on Monday afternoon,—killing the engineer and fireman, and fatally injuring a brakeman.

— The Government, it is said, has received information of a rebel plot to rescue the rebel prisoners now at Point Lookout, under the charge of Gen. Marston, with the New Hampshire brigade. Precautionary measures have been taken.

— A family in New Haven has moved thirty-two times in twenty-six years.

— Gen. Rosecrans has been appointed to the command of the Western District of Missouri in place of Gen. Schofield.

R. H. EDDY, ESQ., BOSTON, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.—We have before spoken in commendation of Mr. Eddy, the importance of his business, and the unusual success that has attended his efforts during a long and extensive practice; and we again desire at this time to call the attention of inventors and others to his well conducted agency for securing patents. Probably there is no man who is more familiar with the inventive genius of the country, or who is more thoroughly acquainted with the innumerable patents granted, their condition and value, from the formation of our government to the present time. Mr. Eddy also procures patents in foreign countries, and executes all documents necessary to secure the rights of inventors, and he may be relied upon as highly honorable, prompt and entirely devoted to their interests. He is constantly employed on cases that have been rejected, and his success in securing patents after all others have failed, is well known. His drawings, specifications and other writings, are prepared in the most business-like manner, and his charges for professional services will be found very moderate indeed. The advertisement in another column gives full particulars, and we recommend all who are in any way interested in patents and inventions to give it careful perusal.

☞ Scurvy and Scrofulous Eruptions will soon cover the bodies of those brave men who are fighting their country's battles. Night air, bad food and drenching rains will make sad havoc with the strongest, therefore let every man supply himself with HOLLOWAY'S Ointment, it is a certain cure for every kind of skin disease. MEMORY'S DREAM.

I'm sitting by my fire to-night,
In solitude and gloom,
While fitful shadows haunt my brain
And float around the room:
And, while I on the embers gaze,
I think of days far past,
While memories of the happy past
Have o'er my soul full sway;
And, as I turn my aching eyes
Upon one cherished chair,
Again I seem to see the form
That once was seated there:

I see a fair and simpled face,
A lip all wreathed in smiles,
A form of beauty, whose pure heart
Is free from fashion's wiles;
I listen to her gentle voice;
I see her sweet lips move,
To tell me, as she oft has done,
How faithful is her love.
I rise to clasp her to my breast,
O God, she's vanished now!
The fire is out, and heavy are Grief's drops upon my brow.
—[Finley Johnson.

GARIBALDI'S SPIRIT.—Garibaldi, in reply to the citizens of an Italian town who proposed to erect a monument to his memory, objected in the following noble and patriotic words: "As to the monument I beg you to dismiss the thought of it. If you insist, you will put me to the necessity of saying I will not accept it. As long as the soldiers of two foreign armies rot on our soil, as long as the stream of civil blood flows from the Toronto to the Strait, as long as the glorious remains of our national battles die of hunger or their own hands in the midst of the insane rejoicings of our cities, as long as the boy wants a school or the orphan an asylum, as long as there is in Italy misery, chains and darkness, speak not of monuments and least of all to me."

"Tell Kate there's enough left of me to love her until I die," said a bullet-riddled soldier on the field of Chickamauga to a comrade who knelt down to catch his latest words.

THE MODEL COOK.
AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,
WITH TWO OVENS,
And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the oven, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept as long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be added to either size, when needed.

In fact, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter use; excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

In a family, large or small, where economy, convenience and cleanliness are desirable, should be without one.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.

These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room, with the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water. The large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR WARMING
FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable Invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some promising but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The conditions have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of oxygen, distributed by the fire-pot, which gives them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the dome can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill, Charles G. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

Portsmouth, Aug. 1st, 1863.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully announce to his patrons and the public that VULCANIZED RUBBER, as a base for Artificial Teeth, promises all the advantages of Gold, yet costs only half as much. My experience has been highly satisfactory in its use, and I have no hesitation in WARRANTING PERFECT SATISFACTION in all cases.

Teeth inserted on Gold and Silver, and all other operations performed as usual.

Teeth extracted positively without pain, by inhaling Nitrous Oxyd Gas!

He is fully convinced that it is perfectly harmless anæsthetic, its effect being that of an exhilarant, the whole operation being completed generally in three minutes, without the least pain, and the patient feeling as well, and usually better than before inhaling the Gas.

He would cordially invite all who wish teeth extracted without pain, or any possible injurious results, to call and be convinced.

I take pleasure in referring the public to Dr. TREADWELL, Dr. BOARDMAN, Dr. OLIVER and Dr. HARVEY, for particular success in extracting Teeth. Teeth extracted without pain and with perfect safety, with Ether. Teeth polished to their natural whiteness without pain or injury to the Enamel. Regulation of Adults' and Children's Teeth will receive particular attention.—All whole and partial Sets of Teeth repaired with extreme neatness and dispatch. All other operations in Dentistry, I will do at the usual rates.

☞ Please call and examine specimens of Artificial Teeth upon Vulcanized Rubber, Gold and Silver.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every law fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address

☞ Commodore Vanderbilt's golden wedding was celebrated at his house in New York on Saturday. Thirty-two great-grand children were present—and in all four generations were represented. The Commodor :'s gift to his bride was a miniature propeller of pure gold, fashioned after the Roanoke, and manufactured in Europe expressly for this occasion. It is twenty inches long and five wide, with exquisitely wrought revolving towers, which filled the room with fairy music whenever the delicate machinery was set in motion. Near this grand centre gift was a superb dressing case, mounted with gold and lined with purple All its contents were of pure gold engraved with the family cypher. This present was the gift of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, the eldest son, to his parents.

An Irishman who was curiously watching a druggist at New Bedford, the other day, as he put up a prescription, at last broke out, "What is that, ony way?" "This," said the obliging apothecary, "is tincture cemicifuga racemosa, and liniment of sapnois, cantharides and opii." A look of bewilderment changed to one of grave concern as the Irishman inquired, "And what is the price?" "Thirty-seven cents," was the reply. "Och, by jabers," said Patrick, "I thought two such names as that would cost me at laste a dollar and a half."

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

It is now denied that the Army of the Potomac will make any retrograde movement at present; and that Lee is in any condition to attack. Over 10,000 in our army have re-enlisted. The whole of Gen. Kilpatrick's cavalry division has gone in for the war; and it is said that most of the New England regiments have signified their intention to re-enlist. Guerrillas on Monday attempted to burn the railroad bridge near Burke's Station, but they were driven off with the loss of several wounded.

Richmond papers of the 20th have dispatches from Bristol, Tenn., saying that Longstreet with his army was advancing, and no doubt a severe battle would be fought in the vicinity of Jonesboro', Tenn. Reinforcements from Col. Jackson's and Gen. Sam Jones' commands were going to Longstreet.

A dispatch from Meriden, Miss., reports that Joe Johnston's army is in motion, and it is conjectured that he intends to reinforce Gen. Hardee. It is also rumored that Gen. Lee will be sent to take command in northwest Georgia, as the only hope of retrieving the heavy disaster to the rebels in that quarter.

Imboden is endeavoring to oppose Gen. Averill's advance in the Shenandoah valley, and a battle is expected.

The Richmond papers of the 20th say nothing of the reported disaster to our monitors at Charleston. The dispatch, purporting to come from Fortress Monroe and reporting a disaster, is pronounced a forgery.

The rebel force recently repulsed in an attack on Fort Smith, have been again routed with a loss of about 70, after 4 hours' fight. They fled in all directions, but it is suspected that their design is to concentrate on the Kansas border.

Official dispatches from Gen. Grant show that the Cincinnati dispatches about the death of Longstreet were canards.

The London Times' New York correspondent has come to the following conclusion:

"Every month, every day, the war is prolonged tolls the death knell of the peculiar institution of the South; every day adds strength to the uncompromising Abolition party, and compels the Democrats and the modern Republicans to resign themselves, and acquiesce in the inevitable."

IN THE U. S. SENATE, on Tuesday, a motion to appoint a select committee of nine on the Pacific railroad was agreed to. A resolution was submitted relative to frequent failures of the mails between Washington and New York, and asking if a new railroad be not required. Mr. Wilson introduced his bill providing that no member of Congress shall act as counsel in a suit in which the United States is interested.

The joint resolution of the House, appropriating advance pay and premium of enlisted men, was passed, after being amended so that no bounties shall be paid after the 5th of January. The House resolution of thanks to Capt. John Rodgers was adopted. The enrollment bill was considered, and various amendments, to exempt clergymen, etc., were rejected. The House resolution for adjournment from Wednesday was adopted.

The House passed the bill appropriating over $700,000 to pay officers and men in the Missouri Department; also, the Military Academy Appropriation bill. An inquiry was ordered as to the expediency of ordering Provost Marshals to hold their examinations for physical debility, etc., at the county towns. A resolution that it was the duty of the executive Departments to acquiesce in the decision of the Supreme Judicial Court of the State of Pennsylvania that the Conscription Act was unconstitutional, or else submit the question to the Supreme Court of the United States that if found necessary and expedient another unobjectionable bill might be framed, was tabled, 80 against 43.

FOREIGN dates are to the 16th. The death of Lord Elgin is confirmed. It took place on the 20th of November. A serious revolt has occurred among the Hill tribes in India, and a sanguinary battle had been fought.

It is stated that the pirate Alabama was expected at Madras, and remittances have been made to that port to meet her disbursements. The steamer Vanderbilt left Mauritius Oct. 10th on a cruise after the Alabama, Capt. Baldwin having been notified of her appearance off Ceylon.

It is reported that negotiations were going on between France and the various European powers to determine if the Congress shall go on without England.

Advices by the City of London were regarded as highly favorable to the Federals. It was so depressing to the secessionists that the Confederate loan fell to 35 dis. The suspected rebel steamer Pampero had been formally seized by the custom authorities.

—The Niagara arrived at New York on Wednesday from Halifax.

THE STRENGTH OF OUR GOVERNMENT. Three years ago, says the Portland Press, the bonds which held our government together were beginning to be looked upon by many people as little stronger than ropes of sand. The statesman on the other side of the ocean were looking to see the "Great Republic" crumble like a mound of ashes beneath the tread of a giant's foot, and our own people were not free from fears that such a spectacle might be the final scene in the great comedy of Government being enacted on the American political stage.—But what a change has taken place in this regard. To-day it is doubtful if any nation would esteem it a light thing to break a lance with our government, notwithstanding it has on hand an unsubdued rebellion of such gigantic proportions as the world has never before looked upon.

The words of John Bright, M. P., at Rochdale, recently, find many endorsers to-day, who two years since would have regarded them as little better than the drivel of an idiot. Mr. Bright said:—

Will anybody deny that the Government at Washington, as regards its own people, is the strongest government in the world at this hour? And for this simple reason, because it is based on the will, and the good will, of an instructed people. Look at its power! I am not now discussing why it is, or the cause which is developing this power; but power is the thing which men regard in these old countries, and which they ascribe mainly to European institutions; but look at the power which the United States have developed! They have brought more men into the field, they have built more ships for their navy, they have shown greater resources than any nation in Europe at this moment is capable of. Look at the order which has prevailed at their elections, at which, as you see by the papers, 50,000, or 100,000, or 250,000 persons voting in a given State, with less disorder than you have seen lately in the three smallest boroughs in England—Barnstable, Windsor and Andover. Look at their industry. Notwithstanding this terrific struggle, their agriculture, their manufactures and commerce proceed with uninterrupted success. They are ruled by a President, chosen, it is true, not from some worn-out Royal or noble blood, but from the people, and the one whose truthfulness and spotless honor have claimed him universal praise; and now the country that has been vilified through half the organs of the press in England during the last three years, and was pointed out, too, as an example to be shunned by many of your statesmen, that country, now in mortal strife, affords a haven and a home for multitudes flying from the burdens and the neglect of the old Governments of Europe, and when this mortal strife is over, when peace is restored, when slavery is destroyed, when the Union is cemented afresh, for I would say in the language of one of our own poets addressing his country,

"The grave's not dug where traitor hands shall lay,
In fearful haste thy murdered corse away."

then Europe and England may learn that an instructed democracy is the surest foundation of Government, and that education and freedom are the only sources of true greatness and true happiness among any people.

GEN. MICHAEL COROORAN died at Halifax Court House, Va., on Tuesday evening, from injuries received from a fall from his horse, in the 37th year of his age. From the Boston Journal we learn that he was born at Carrowkeel, county Sligo, Ireland, on the 21st of September, 1827. He is descended from an honorable and patriotic stock, and was related to the gallant Sarsfield, whose defence of Limerick and subsequent death on the battle field in France—wishing, as he saw his life-blood pouring from his wound, that it had been shed for Ireland—are proud features in the history of that unbending patriot. The father of Gen. Corcoran was an officer in the English service in the West Indies. In 1849 Michael emigrated to this country. He took great interest in militia matters, and served in all grades from private to colonel in the famous N. Y. 69th Regiment. In 1860 he declined to parade his command to do honor to the Prince of Wales, and a court martial was trying his case when the rebellion broke out. The 69th volunteering to go to the war, the proceedings were quashed, and he rose from a sick bed to lead it. In honor of the gallantry of himself and his regiment Fort Corcoran, on Arlington Heights, was named after the brave Irish commander. The regiment fought at Bull Run, and its record at that disastrous fight, whether written by friend or enemy, is one of the greatest bravery under the most trying circumstances. Col. Corcoran was there made a prisoner, and remained in durance at Richmond for many months. On his return he was feted both at home and abroad, and he was made a Brigadier General as a reward for his gallant conduct, his commission dating from the period of his capture at Bull Run.

☞ The barque Saxon arrived at New York on Tuesday, in charge of a prize master, having been captured by the Vanderbilt Oct. 27, on the West coast of Africa, 400 miles north of Cape Good Hope. She has on board part of the cargo of the bark Conrad, which vessel was captured by the pirate Alabama, and afterward converted into the pirate Tuscaloosa. The Saxon was formerly barque Lucy Johnson, of New London. The Vanderbilt also found at Penguin Island 200 tons of coal, which had been left there for the benefit of rebel privateers. It was confiscated by the Vanderbilt.

—It is now said that the draft will take place Jan. 5 without fail.

—$140,000, the committee estimate, were taken at the recent Fair in Boston.

— Only five men of the 20th Massachusetts have re-enlisted.

— Mr. Foote still continues, in the rebel Congress, his severe denunciations of the rebel administration.

— It is said that the machinery of England can accomplish more than all the hands on the globe.

— "Russia—May her friends and enemies be ours," proposed the brave Farragut at a recent visit to the Russian fleet.

— The new telegraph line from Newburyport to Amesbury was opened to the public on Saturday.

— Senator Wilson has perfected the details of his bill regulating the ambulance system.

— A Gibraltar letter of the 27th ult. states that the supposed rebel steamer seen off the Straits of Gibraltar proves to be a French war steamer.

— It is stated in the Richmond Enquirer that Jeff. Davis will soon make a decided change in the whole rebel government, and in the army.

— In the rebel Congress the substitute clause in the conscription act has been abrogated, and all persons who have substitutes in the army are now compelled to go themselves.

— The quantity of flour left at tide-water this year, compared with the corresponding period last year, shows a deficiency of nearly two and a quarter millions of barrels.

— The Government has decided that the safety of American vessels requires that no person shall be allowed to leave New York as passenger or otherwise without first receiving a passport.

— Some farmers in Eliot, who, through the excessive wet of the past summer were unable to get on some low, swamp land, have recently been mowing and hauling away the hay on the top of the ice.

— Gen. Halleck says of the Vicksburg campaign, "No more brilliant exploits can be found in military history;" and of Chattanooga he says, "The battle of Chattanooga must be considered the most remarkable in history."

— During the march of our troops from Chattanooga against Longstreet at Knoxville, Granger's corps got in advance of Longstreet's ammunition train, while Howard's corps was in the rear. There being no escape for the train, 40 loads of ammunition and two locomotives were run into the river at Loudon.

CONFESSION.—The New York Herald, which for a week past has been running General Grant for Presidency, says of President Lincoln:

"We abandon "Honest Old Abe" as a hopeless case. We have puffed him, we have praised him, we have helped him in every way, but can get no good out of him. To use one of his own homely similes, he is a crooked stick, that cannot be bent, and that will have to be broken."

Which means that President Lincoln is the only Chief Magistrate for many years past who would not throw a sop to the Herald.—Boston Journal.

☞ The Saco Democrat states that last week a young man by the name of Gray, of Wells, was arraigned at North Berwick, charged with having committed an assault with intent at rape, upon a young lady of unblemished character and standing, and resident of the same town. On the 2d day of December, both parties were at North Berwick and late in the afternoon the young lady started to walk to her home, distant some two and one-half miles.—Gray followed her, and when about one mile from the village stopped her in the road and commenced a most violent assault on her. Her cries hurried assistance to her, but not before she had received severe injuries. The defendant before the magistrate admitted the assault, but denied the intent, and said he was drunk. He was held to bail in the sum of one thousand dollars.

MILFORD, N. H., April 21, 1863.
To the Editor of the Nashua Telegraph:—
For the benefit of others who are afflicted, and as a just tribute to Dr. J. Moses, of Nashua, I beg of you to publish the following facts: My grandchild, Hattie M. Badger, aged 7, has been deaf for the past four years, caused by scarlet rash. With her right ear she could not hear a watch tick, and with her left only on pressure. She has been under the care of Dr. Moses since Dec. 9, 1862, and I am happy to say is now cured and hearing perfectly well.
I am respectfully yours, J. J. BADGER.

HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS—The true Type of Cathartic.—By the application of true Pharmaceutical Laws, both Character and Economy are combined in this valuable Pill. To prevent putting such quantities of indigestible drugs into the stomach, the griping pains so erroneously inferred to be the evidence of thorough action, and to require from 4 to 6 Pills, to get a decent cathartic, was the study in this development. The dose seldom exceeding One, and never more than Two Pills, settles the question of economy, and character can be best known by confidence in them in DYSPEPSIA, COSTIVENESS, BILLIOUSNESS, LIVER COMPLAINT, all derangements of the stomach and Bowels, and as a Family Pill. epoo

[Communication.]

OUR CITY QUOTA AGAIN.—Messrs. Editors: — Will you please peruse my communication in your Tuesday morning's issue, and see if it contains anything to warrant the severity of your strictures upon it on Wednesday morning. If the statements therein were "false and absurd," on you lies the onus, for the facts were obtained from your columns, as you may learn by reviewing your files for a few weeks past. "Malicious" they may have been, if it be malice for the public to wish to know how the servants of that public are executing its behests.

If there was any inadverteney on my part, it was in omitting to state which city agent was reported to have made the remark which I credited to rumor, the real or the acting agent. Although I heard a recruiting broker say that such statements were made to him when he spoke of filling the quota, as his remarks were addressed to a third person I did not consider myself entitled to use them otherwise than as rumor. If you will turn to your file for Monday, Nov. 9, you will see that a recruiting agent was appointed on the part of the city before Alderman Adams, and with that agent the broker said he had the conversation. No reflection was intended upon the honorable gentleman, whose illness has prevented his performing the duty assigned him, as my belief is that he would do what he considered best for the interests of the city. My object is attained if the attention of our citizens is called to the matter.

The communication signed "Truth" is entirely foreign to the subject, as the recruits he speaks of had not been secured at the time my article left my possession.

CONSCRIPT.

—— Judge Eastman has written a letter declining the Democratic re-nomination for Governor. His reasons, he says, are 'solely of a professional and business character.' He did not want the nomination last year, "the Democratic party have so many men who would make excellent executive officers," and the prospects of the success of such a man are so brilliant at the next election, &c., &c., that really Judge Eastman must be excused from standing in anybody's way. The Judge certainly bows himself out handsomely.

—— The Christian Watchman and Reflector gives the following list of aged ministers in New Hampshire: Rev. Peter Clark, of Upper Gilmanton, aged 82, has been in the ministry about 53 years; Rev. Enoch Place, of Strafford, aged 77 years, has been in the ministry 50 years; Rev. Nathaniel Berry, of New Durham, aged 74 years, has been in the ministry 47 years: Rev. James Boody, of New Durham, aged 90 years, has been in the ministry 66 years; Rev. Thos. Perkins, of New Hampton, aged 80 years, has been in the ministry 47 years.

THE GREAT PRIZE FIGHT between Heenan and King came off at Tanbridge on the 10th of December, lasting thirty-one minutes. Thirty-five rounds were fought, in which King was declared the victor. Of this great fight the London Times says:

There appears to have been little science on either side, but it was a fair stand-up fight, without a check, between two formidable heavy weights, each more than six feet high, and ended in a decisive victory. Heenan's game was throughout to close and put the hug on, so as to crush his antagonist by dashing him violently to the ground. King's tactics were different, and more creditable to a professor of pugilism.

It is rumored that Heenan's shoulder is broken.

— At a great fire which destroyed a quarter of a million dollars' worth of property, on Tchoupoulas street, New Orleans, on the morning of the 11th, one fireman was killed and many wounded, by falling walls.

☞ The number of the N. H. Gazette issued to-day completes the year. To all its readers we give the compliments of the season.

HOLIDAY GIFTS IN SPLENDID VARIETIES.—See Shute & Son's advertisement in this day's issue.

Gen. Fremont's course in Missouri is vindicated by the recent orders of the government, through Gen. Schofield, for recruiting negro soldiers, and taking without compensation the slaves of rebels, who are rendered free by the treason of their masters. How much suffering, says the Hartford Press, how many lives, how much treason, would have been spared if the President had sustained Fremont's far-sighted proclamation.

Yes, yes, perhaps so, says Uncle Toby; but at that time the masses of the people had not waked up sufficiently to see as they do now, how strongly slavery everywhere sympathizes with the rebellion, and how easily rebels and traitors gloss over every crime against liberty, while every word against slavery offends and distresses them. Even now, there are men, in Congress as well as elsewhere, who seem to suppose that slavery has some sort of guaranty in the Constitution beyond the power of Congress to remove: though the document itself contains no such thing, not a word of it.

Our blunders and our crimes even, are now being overruled for good by Him who sitteth in the Heavens, smiling on well meant efforts, and laughing in derision at those who conspire against Him and his Anointed. U. T.

☞ Soldiers, see to your own health, do not trust to the army supplies; cholera, fever and bowel complaint will follow your slightest indiscretion. Holloway's Pills and Ointment should be in every man's knapsack. The British and French troops use no other medicines. Only 25 cents per box or pot. 216

BURNS AND SCALDS.—The ancient Scalds never, perhaps, thought of Burns. Dr. Grace has literalized Scandinavian literature, and now produces a Salve which cures burns and scalds. It also cures flesh wounds, boils, felons, warts, banishes freckles, dissipates tan, and is the mother's favorite remedy. Get a box of it. Only 25 cents.

THE BELLEVUE STEREOSCOPE.—This article, which has just been introduced to the public, is one of the most beautiful things we have seen. The peculiar effect produced upon the picture by the stereoscope, by which the eye seems to see all around an object, so that the picture is no longer a picture but a living reality, is in this instrument made doubly clear—for by an arrangement entirely new, the picture is at once brought into the right position—and the whole is so entirely portable that it can easily be carried in the pocket. It is a very ingenious and finely finished affair, and will, we feel confident, command an extensive sale. As its name signifies, it does indeed give a "beautiful view." Price $2; will be sent by mail for $2.40. C. H. Wheeler & Co., 5 and 7 Essex street, Boston, are the proprietors. A fine assortment of stereoscopic slides, at 25 cents each. Liberal terms to the trade.

LAST AND BEST.

THE MODEL COOK.

AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,

WITH TWO OVENS,

And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and lockets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept as long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either side, when needed.

In tact, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter use; excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and cleanliness are desirable, should be without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook—

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public with the confidence it merits.

It was brought into market three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room, a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed.

We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in this city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.

These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to chronicle accurately the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

MAGEE COOK STOVE,

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meat is prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT" VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and, as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given quantity of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the dome can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used.

We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq., Aaron H. Hill, Charles H. Mendum, Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

DR. GOODALL

Would respectfully announce to his patrons and the public that VULCANIZED RUBBER, as a base for Artificial Teeth, promises all the advantages of Gold, yet costs only half as much. My experience has been highly satisfactory in its use, and I have no hesitation in WARRANTING PERFECT SATISFACTION in all cases.

Teeth inserted on Gold and Silver, and all other operations performed as usual.

Teeth extracted positively without pain, by inhaling Nitrous Oxyd Gas!

He is fully convinced that this perfectly harmless anæsthetic, its effect being that of an exhilarant, the whole operation being completed generally in three minutes, without the least pain, and the patient feeling as well, and usually better than before inhaling the Gas.

He would cordially invite all who wish teeth extracted without pain, or any possible injurious results, to call and be convinced.

I take pleasure in referring the public to Dr. THEAKER, Dr. BOARDMAN, Dr. OLIVER and Dr. BENNETT, for particular success in extracting Teeth. Teeth extracted without pain and with perfect safety, with Rubber. Teeth polished to their natural whiteness without pain or injury to the Enamel. Regulation of Adults' and Children's Teeth will receive particular attention.—All whole and partial sets of Teeth repaired with Neatness and Dispatch. All other operations in Dentistry, I will do at the usual rates.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every ism fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address

A PICTURE OF LIFE.

The streets were flooded with sunshine,
And Fashion and Folly and Pride
Were sweeping along—a soulless throng—
The bright waves of the living tide;
And the rattle of silk was music,
The crush of the satins, song,
And the waving of feathers, banners,
To their hearts as they rolled along.

And they thought not of the harsher music
That was rending the air with its breath—
Of the trumpet's yell and the screaming shell
And the terrible march of death;
Thought not of the battle-rent banners
That waved of old the shade of a pall;
So, creeping amid the splendor,
The glitter of wealth and pride,
Two soldiers, wounded and worn and pale,
Came tottering side by side.

From one had been torn a stalwart limb—
And an arm had the other lost,
And a sabre stroke had his fair brow broke,
And his cheek with scars was crossed.
A man in his prime and a beardless boy,
Each wearing the badge of the brave,
Far noble than star or than jeweled cross,
That ever king or proud emperor gave.

And this had been won at Fredericksburg,
When the air was with hell accurst;
And this, hand to hand, when a prowling band
On the lonely picket burst;
And crippled, disfigured in form and face,
They crept through the gaudy throng,
With silent lips, but with wounds that plead,
Each helping the other along.

And, leaning against a churchyard rail,
They gazed with a longing eye,
Where, as if they were rolled of molten gold,
Were oranges piled high;
Where the brown banana showed its side,
The apple its rosy hue,
And the grape, that the sun had lovingly kissed,
Still bore the tint of its bush.

With eyes that pain and fever had dimmed,
They trembling stood and gazed—
While the human side swept by their side,
And satins and jewels blazed—
Longing, with penniless pockets,
Of the luscious juice to sip;
Longing to cool with its freshness
The thin and the parching lip.

But father and mother and sister,
The wife and the maiden fair,
Passed swiftly by, with averted eye
Or a broad and haughty stare;
And, shuddering, hastened onward
From the wrecks that war had thrown Back on life's shores to creep to the grave,
And thanked God they were not their own!

Thanked God, with the prayer of the Pharisee,
But marked not the longing eyes;
What to them was the gold the purse would not hold,
Or the grape with its lucent dyes?
And the hearts of the brave men trembled as never
They had done in the wildest fray,
And a sigh like a moan—a breath like a groan,
Shook their forms as they turned away.

"Comrade," said one, "I often thought,
As I lay on the hospital cot,
I had won fame and a soldier's name,
And should never be forgot;
But it is not so! Far better for both—"
The rest was lost in a sigh;
But the lips of the boy took up the words—
"God help us! why did we not die?"

Just then there came dancing across the street
A little, rosy-cheeked girl,
With the blue of the sky in her laughing eye,
And her hair all in frolicsome curl;
She bounded out of the throng of light,
And turned as in act to go,
When she saw the pale faces and quivering lips,
The maimed forms and the sad eyes!

Oh! then a bright smile, such as angels wear!
Heaven's sunshine, lit up her face—
The radiant glow that the soul will know
When it kneels at the Throne of Grace.
She pressed to the side of the nearest force,
The rare fruit, then fled as in fear;
But a warm kiss lingered on either hand,
And each was gemmed with a tear.

THE REBELLION.

A rebel dispatch from Bristol, Tenn., states that a "skirmish" took place last Monday at Bean's Station, and that the Union troops, after a stubborn resistance, retreated towards Knoxville. The rebels claim to have taken 225 prisoners and 70 wagon loads of stores, but admit that their loss was 300 in killed and wounded, Gen. Gracie being among their wounded.

An officer informs the St. Louis Republican that the Army of the Cumberland was, on the 12th inst., nicely housed in winter quarters, and everything was quiet.

A rebel dispatch states that Joe Johnston has been appointed to the command of Bragg's army.

Gen. Averill reports the success of his expedition, he having cut the Virginia and Tennessee railroad at Salem on the 16th, and arrived safely at Edray, Pocahontas Co., Va. At Salem three depots were burned, with a large amount of supplies, etc., the telegraph wire was cut, the railroad torn up, cars and bridges destroyed, and much other damage done to the rebels.—The march was retarded occasionally by tempests in the mountains and by icy roads, and Gen. Averill was obliged to swim his command and drag his artillery with ropes across Cross Creek seven times in 24 hours. On his return he found six separate rebel commands, under Early, Jackson, Imboden and three others, arranged in a line of battle from Staunton to Newport, upon all the available roads, to prevent his going back; but he managed to push his way along, until they finally concentrated on him at all points over every road but one, which was deemed impassable, but by which he passed over the tops of the Alleghanies. We lost some wagons, 6 men drowned, one officer and 4 men wounded, and 4 officers and 90 men missing. The report concludes as follows:—

We captured about 200 prisoners, but have retained but 4 officers and 80 men on account of their inability to walk. We took also about 150 horses. My horses subsisted entirely on a very poor country, and the officers and men have suffered cold, hunger and fatigue, with remarkable fortitude. My command has marched, climbed, sled and swam 355 miles since the 8th inst.

The Times' Washington dispatch says:

The main portion of Lee's army is preparing to go into winter quarters near Louisa Court House, on the line of the Virginia and Central R. R. A strong picket force is being maintained by the rebels along the line of the Rapidan front, mostly cavalry.

There is a doubtful report that Longstreet has joined Lee, that the latter has advanced across the Rapidan, and that Gen. Meade has fallen back, several skirmishes having taken place with Stuart's cavalry.

The bombardment of Charleston still continues, but the rebels are unwilling to admit that much damage is done. Gen. Gilmore is using his 200-pounders daily. The reported entanglement of our iron-clads in the harbor obstructions is shown to be false by accounts brought by a government transport, which arrived at New York on Thursday. The monitor Lehigh recently got aground and sprung aleak, rendering it necessary for her to go to Port Royal for repairs.

NEW SOLDIERS IN OLD REGIMENTS.—At a meeting for recruiting purposes held in Cincinnati last week, General Rosecrans gave the following weighty testimony in favor of putting the new recruits into old regiments:

"With regard to the resolutions you have just passed so unanimously, I think that one soldier put into an old regiment is worth two and a half in a new one; for, from his messmates, the old soldiers, he learns how to wash, cook, sleep, perform military duty and avoid sickness. The new soldier, in a new regiment, suffers twice the sickness of one thus situated; and every regiment of one thousand men is generally reduced, in the course of six weeks, to one-half in numbers."

The Boston Journal states that the new recruits are well received by the veterans who are anxious to have their ranks filled and to finish up the war.

☞ Dispatches from Admiral Lee, dated on the 20th, not only positively deny, but show the rumors of frequent blockade running into Wilmington, N. C., to be entirely untrue, as is confirmed by rebel correspondence captured on the Ceres, and now in the possession of the Navy Department.—Among the letters is one from Bermuda, of December 2, starting that "the only boats that came in from Wilmington this moon were the Flora and Gibraltar;" also a letter of October 19, from ex-Lieutenant of the United States Navy, J. N. Maffit, saying, "the news from the blockade runners is decidedly bad; six of the best boats have recently been caught, among them the Advance and Eugenie. Nothing has entered Wilmington for one month."

☞ A Portland dispatch states that the iron steamer North, from Pembroke for Boston, went ashore on Wednesday, 23d, near Owl's Head, bilged, and is full of water. The captain and crew were saved. She was loaded with iron and wood.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Manchester Print Works pay a dividend of 20 per cent., Dec. 24.

—— A active movement is being made to raise $100,000 for Dartmouth College.

—— The thermometer was six degrees below zero in Concord on Tuesday morning.

—— In Dover the thermometer on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings was down to 3 below zero.

—— The Speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives has appointed Representative Patterson, of this State, one of the Regents of the Smithsonian Institute.

—— By an order from Brig. Gen. Hinks, all officers and enlisted men, belonging to N. H. regiments now in the Department of Ohio, who are in the State on furloughs, are requested to report themselves in person at the Headquarters at Concord, at the expiration of their furlough, for duty, in conducting recruits to their regiments.

—— The Law Term of the Supreme Judicial Court at Dover adjourned after a session of three days. The following divorces were decreed:

Greenleaf H. Swain from Marcia O. Swain, of Barrington; Henry B. Philpott from Clara M. Philpott, of Rollinsford; Mary P. F. Seward from Garland S. Seward, of Barrington; John W. Roberts from Calysta J. Roberts, of Rochester.

—— The Enquirer states that at a meeting of the grantees of the Cocheecho Steam Mills, in Dover, on the 19th inst., it was voted to accept the Charter and establish a Stock Company, with a capital of $75,000, for making woolen goods. The shares will be $100 each. The books will be opened for the subscription of stock on the first of Jan. 1863.

—— A Farmington correspondent of the Dover Enquirer writes:

John Hall has just paid S. F. Hayes $4.46 per fleece for 21 fleeces of Spanish Merino wool. Twenty of the sheep were ewes bought of J. D. Lyman last Spring.—They reared 17 lambs, worth about four dollars a head, making an income of $7,70 (very nearly) per head. Average of fleece 7 1-2 lbs. (almost exactly) and sold for 60 cents per lb. Let my friends who keep poor old horses or such stock, look at this profit. These ewes weighed only 60 1-2 lbs. a piece after being sheared. The hay given to a worthless old horse would keep a number of them.

IN THE U. S. SENATE, on Wednesday, Mr. Wilson's bill to establish a uniform system of ambulances was referred. A resolution directing the Secretary of War to inform the Senate whether persons held to service by the laws of Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky and Missouri, and if not, why such enrolment has not been made, was adopted; also a resolution of inquiry for the names of major and brigadier generals without a command larger than a brigade, etc.

In the House, Gen. McClellan's report was received from the Secretary of War. A bill to facilitate the payment of bounties and arrears of pay due wounded and deceased soldiers, was referred. Both Houses adjourned to the 5th of January.

☞ A clerk, named Cornwall, occupying a responsible position in the U. S. Treasury Department, has been arrested for stealing demand notes. There are cut in two at the department, and burned in the presence of witnesses, but Cornwall adroitly managed to slip some of the packages from time to time into his pocket. These he subsequently exchanged for whole notes; opportunity to do so being offered by the nature of his duties. It was ascertained that the entire amount stolen was about $100,000, a part of which he had invested in Five-twenty bonds. All of this sum, it is thought, has been recovered by the Government.

A VOTE ON THE NEGRO SOLDIERS.—A significant vote was taken in the House of Representatives on Monday. The twenty million appropriation bill for bounties, &c., was under discussion, when the following occurred:—

Mr. Harding, of Kentucky, (Dem.) offered a proviso that no part of the money herein appropriated should be used for the raising, arming, equipping and payment of negro soldiers. This amendment was rejected. Yeas forty-one; nays one hundred and five.

Patterson and Rollins of New Hampshire voted nay; Marcy voted yea, in the small minority of 41. Sweat of Maine did not vote. Ben. Wood of New York did not vote—and Fernando voted nay, with the supporters of the administration. The world moves.

The Burlington Free Press says that some one asked Judge R——— for a motto for the scales presented by Mr. Fairbanks, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., to the Sanitary Fair, when he suggested what is said by Job of the Leviathan: "His scales are his pride." This was told to ex-Judge W———, a great wit, as everybody knows, and he suggested a Latin motto: "Monstrat viam"—it shows the weigh.

A lady made a call upon a friend who had lately been married. When her husband came home to dinner she said, "I have been to see Mrs. ———." "Well," replied the husband, "I suppose she is very happy."—"Happy? I should think she ought to be, she has a camel's hair shawl two-thirds border."

— 350,000 persons in New York City never attend church.

— The reported death of Robert Heller, the pianist, was an advertising dodge. He is alive and well.

— Maine is to have two Normal Schools; one in the western section at Farmington, and the other east, at Castine.

— The various soup houses in Philadelphia are now making preparations for distributing soup to the poor during the winter.

— The great Sanitary Fair at Cincinnati opened on the 21st, and is a complete success.

— Jenny Lind, it is said, has lost her voice, and Tamberlik, the great tenor, also—that is they have lost the great qualities of their "organs," as the critics say.

— An action in a New York court, for assault and battery, brought by a newspaper critic against Barney Williams, the Irish comedian, resulted in a verdict of $1000 against the actor.

— Mr. S. Howe, of Lisbon, Me., on returning from market, where he had received a $10 bill for his load, sat down to take a smoke, and by mistake used the $10 bill to light his pipe. Expensive smoking.

— A blacksmith in Portland while holding a piece of iron to the anvil for the purpose of having it welded, was unwittingly struck on the hand by his comrade with the full force of the sledge, crushing it terribly.

— Hon. Wm. C. Hammett of Howland, Me., has been appointed Mail Agent for the New England States, in the place of Mr. Ordway, elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives.

— The U. S. Vice Consul at Halifax, who showed much efficiency in securing the recapture of the Chesapeake, is Rev. N. Gunnison, formerly pastor of the Universalist Church in Hallowell, Me.

— A church in France was lately struck by lightning, and when the attendant opened the church in the morning he found all the candles lighted and blazing away as if celebrating the grand mass.

— The famous saying of Talleyrand, that language was given man to enable him to conceal thought, has been traced to a sermon preached by Rev. Dr. Robert South, in Westminister Abbey, 13th April, 1676.

— Not a single steamer under the American flag now sails between the United States and Europe. There are about fifty under foreign flags. English "neutrality," alias Confederate piracy, has its perfect work.

— Job Snell of Poland, Me., an old man 65 years of age, hung himself in his wood-shed by means of a rope attached to a beam, on Friday last. He eat his dinner, apparently as well as ever, and immediately committed the fatal act.

— The Bangor papers state that one church in that city has recently paid off a debt of $10,000; another has cancelled one of $7,000; and a third has some eight thousand dollars subscribed towards liquidating a debt of $10,000.

— On the 5th of September, 1752, the first play performed in America by a regular company of comedians, was presented at Williamsburg, then the capital of Virginia. The piece was the Merchant of Venice, and the afterpiece Lethe, written by Garrick.

— The Southern Confederacy is not satisfied with the Bible "as it is." A commission, with Bishop General Polk at the head, has been appointed by the Episcopal Council to revise and get up a version to suit rebeldom and slavery.

— At a Woman's Rights Convention, in New York, a resolution was reported and laid over for the next meeting, that if justice was not fully done to the ladies, and soon, then they would stop the population of this country.

— A house occupied by Mrs. Francis Nash, in Newburyport, was set on fire Tuesday noon by children playing with fire, which they carried into a clothes press.—The lady, the widow of a soldier, had her entire wardrobe burned, but the damage to the house was not great.

— Some months since Mr. James Munroe Sawyer was fatally stabbed in the street in Boston by Edward Owens, while walking with a young woman named Eda Stanley—jealousy being the cause. Owens pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree, and on the 21st was sentenced to the State Prison for life.

— It is stated that the Washington (Woollen) Mills at Lawrence sold goods to the amount of nearly four millions of dollars last year, and their profits were $840,000, or about 50 per cent. on their capital. Their surplus now amounts to $850,000, and they propose to invest half of this, by adding twenty-five sets of machinery more to their mills.

— A Richmond journal recounts the discovery of a female soldier among the prisoners of war on Belle Isle. She gave her real name as Mary Jane Johnson, belonged to the 16th Maine regiment, and had been a prisoner some time. Upon the discovery of her sex, Miss Johnson was removed from Belle Isle, and confined at Castle Thunder. She would probably be sent North by the next flag of truce. She is about nineteen years of age.

APPROPRIATE.—Our abolition rulers have recently placed upon the Capitol at Washington a mammoth statue of Liberty, which represents a big negro woman! This is entirely consistent with the acts, professions and policy of the Administration. There is a "nigger" in all they do, and to their minds all human excellence seems to be embraced in the negro.

We find the above in a New England paper which ought not to mislead its readers. But we supposed that every intelligent editor must know that the alterations and improvements of the Capitol were all planned long before the present administration had any existence, and that the Statue of liberty on the top was a part of the plan. Liberty, as any scholar knows, is always represented as a woman, and a bronze statue or an iron one is more likely to be black than white, unless it be painted.—There is, however, something noteworthy in the fact that a republican administration happens to exist at Washington when this Statue takes its place, and that black freedwomen by thousands are rejoicing in their new-found liberties, within sight of this same black statue.

Bating its bitterness then, and its ignorance real or pretended, the item is profitable, as it suggests important thought. U. T.

THE CAUSE OF THE LOSS OF THE WEEHAWKEN.—Correspondence of the N. Y. World says the following is considered the most authentic reason for the loss of the monitor Weehawken, off Charleston:

The vessel was lying in a heavy sea way, in about five fathoms of water, with only seven or eight fathoms of chain out. The violent pitching of the vessel caused such a strain upon the windlass that it gave way, and the chain from the same cause cut through the hawse pipe and through the bull, making an immense opening, through which the water rushed at a tremendous rate. The bars which are placed across the door in the forward bulkhead could not be found in time, or could not be effectively used, and the door could not be closed against the immense column of water, and the ship instantly filled and went down.

☞ The Navy Department is going to build 4 casemated steamships to carry 4 20-inch guns, to be of wrought iron, 450 feet long, 58 feet beam, 2000 feet grate surface, 4 cylinders of 90 inch stroke, 4 feet 2 inch propeller, draft 19 feet, expected speed 16 knots. Mr. Lenthall has got up the plans, and is consulting with the iron shipbuilding establishments in the country to make these ships superior to any afloat. They will cost five millions each.

☞ A Merry Christmas!

☞ No Daily Chronicle on Saturday, of course.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES.—Services appropriate to the day will be held at the Unitarian Church (Rev. Mr. DeNormandie) this morning at the usual hour.

Also, at the Episcopal and Catholic Churches.

Mr. J. C. Langley, one of the passenger conductors on the Portsmouth and Concord Railroad, has not been off the road a single day during his ten years' service.—Concord Statesman.

We don't know how that is—but nobody sticks closer to business than Jo, and nobody knows their own business better than he.—And everybody has a good word to say for him, too. Why, our particular friend, the Ballot man, whose hand seems to be against (almost) every man,—calls him a "gentlemanly Conductor, who looks to the welfare of his passengers, and under whose protection they may expect to arrive safely at whatever point they wish to reach." Good for Langley—to whom we wish a merry Christmas.

☞ Our acknowledgements to "Santa Claus," for that fine turkey—though we must say that we strongly suspect our old friend C. E. Myers had some instrumentality in its conveyance to us. Our enjoyment of Christmas will be not a little lessened, by our mistaking the evening, and so missing the Christmas tree festival which is yearly held at his elegant and hospitable suburban residence. We are glad that Old Santa didn't also forget us, nor make a mistake in our case.

CITY MISSIONARY SOCIETY.—The annual public meeting of the City Missionary Society will be held on Sunday evening next, at the North Church. Services to commence at 7 o'clock. The Report of the City Missionary will be presented. Remarks may be expected from several gentlemen. At the close of the services a collection for the Poor of the city will be taken. A full attendance is respectfully requested.

THE NEW PROVOST MARSHAL.—Capt. Ripley, of the 14th N. H. Regiment, has succeeded Capt. Godfrey as Provost Marshal. Capt. Ripley is from Cheshire and has numerous friends both in this and the 2d District. He is a gentleman very courteous in his manners, and will without doubt give great satisfaction.

☞ Those who by duty or inclination were called into the street between half past ten and quarter of eleven last (Thursday) evening, were gratified by one of the most brilliant and beautiful lunar displays that it has ever been our good fortune to witness. The phenomenon was one difficult to describe. Very light, white, fleecy clouds, through which the stars here and there peeped out, were out-spread across the heavens, and the moon appeared surrounded by three distinct and sharply-defined circles of light—broad belts, one within the other, and presenting all the colors of the rainbow in their natural order. The singular feature was, that there were so many, and that they were not, like the rainbow, thrown upon the clouds opposite the moon, but, appearing between the spectator and the moon, closely encircled it. It was a transcendently beautiful spectacle.

☞ Col. E. R. Goodrich, of Gen. Burnside's staff and recently from Knoxville, where our forces have been besieged by Longstreet, is stopping for a few days with his friends in this city. He is a native of Portsmouth and is well known to many of our citizens; his career as an officer in the Union Army has been most honorable and creditable to him, and exceedingly gratifying to the many who rejoice in the brave deeds of "the Sons."

☞ Business is not suspended to day (Christmas) on the Portsmouth Navy Yard, on account of a pressure of work caused by the arrival of the Agawam, Alabama, Dacotah, the machinery of the Agameticus, &c., all of which vessels are wanted as soon as it is possible to fit them out.

☞ Portsmouth built ships withstand the ravages of the elements remarkably well. The ship Alliance, of 496 tons burden, built here nearly twenty-six years ago, was sold in New York last Monday for $8600.

☞ Among the attractions for this evening,—the Ball of the Sixes, and Mr. Leverton's triple entertainment (both advertised elsewhere) will not be forgotten.

Communication.

Editor Chronicle:—I notice a communication in your issue of to-day, signed "Conscript," which reflects upon me as Recruiting Agent for Portsmouth. I pronounce the article a falsehood, and the author of it an instigator of one. J. HORACE KEEF.

Portsmouth, Dec. 24, 1863.

— Gen. McClellan's report consists of 765 foolscap pages, and is divided into four parts.

☞ The bill for the establishment of a Bureau of Military Justice in the War Department, introduced by Mr. Schenck, provides for the appointment of a Judge Advocate General, with the rank of Brigadier General, of two Assistants, one with the rank of Colonel of Cavalry and the other with the rank of Major, and five Clerks.—Records of Court Martial, Courts of Inquiry and Military Commissions are to be sent to this Bureau.

☞ The report of Mr. Mallory, Rebel Secretary of the Navy, contains full confirmation of the statements heretofore published concerning the plot to release the prisoners on Johnson's Island. Mr. Mallory reports that—

"During the months of July and August I sent twenty-seven commissioned officers and forty trust-worthy petty officers to the British Provinces, with orders to organize an expedition and co-operate with army officers in an attempt to release the Confederate prisoners confined on Johnson's Island in Lake Erie. From time to time I learned that the arrangements made were such as to insure the most complete success. A large amount of money had been expended, and just as our gallant naval officers were about to set sail on this expedition, the English authorities gave information to the enemy, and thus prevented the execution of one of the best planned enterprises of the present war."

— The Boston Gas Company have raised the price of gas to $2 50 after Jan. 1, next.

— Twenty thousand tons of coal were sold at auction on Wednesday at $7.45 a 88 per ton.

— The Press states that the U. S. steam frigate Colorado, which has been with the Gulf Squadron, has been ordered to Portland.

— Mrs. Anna Bartol, the venerable and venerated mother of the Rev. Dr. Bartol of Boston, died in Portland on the 10th inst., in the 74th year of her age.

— Congress having failed to amend the conscription act previous to adjournment, the draft, it is said, will probably be postponed until the 1st of February.

— Senator Wilson expresses the confident belief that the present Congress will not repeal the $300 clause of the enrollment act.

— Governor Doty, of Utah, is on his way to Washington. He represents the loyalty of the Mormons on the increase, though they desire a separate government. They number now eighty thousand.

A man who wanted to send a dispatch to the outskirts of West Meriden, Ct., insisted that the wire ran close to the house where the message was going, and the operator should have it drop off there.

☞ Mr. J. H. Foster has Harper's Magazine for January. It is almost useless to enumerate the merits of "Harper;" everybody knows them, and is satisfied with them.

Mr. Foster also sends us "Hand Shadow Stories," which will interest, amuse, and possibly somewhat mystify the younger members of the family, while the pictures may not prove unattractive to the children of larger growth.

☞ Soldiers, see to your own health, do not trust to the army supplies; cholera, fever and bowel complaints will follow your slightest indiscretion. Holloway's Pills and Ointment should be in every man's knapsack. The British and French troops use no other medicines. Only 25 cents per box or pot. 216

☞ Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is manufactured entirely different from any other. Its chemical purity renders it as harmless as the purest flour, and its use will strengthen weak stomachs and cure dyspeptic persons. Use it with cream tartar instead of soda. It is much better. Try it. Grocers and Druggists sell it.

LAST AND BEST.

THE MODEL COOK,

AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,

WITH TWO OVENS,

And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity by any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept at long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either size, when needed.

In fact, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter; and excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and cleanliness are desirable, should be without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook—

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (on-ly for the Act of 1837.)

76 State street, opposite Kilby street,

Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

Inventors have the extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, rendering him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."

CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr. R. H Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of good talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges." JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, has obtained Patents for inventions SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents. R. H. EDDY.

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 KNDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Scrotula, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pains and distress in the region of procreation, inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of painful symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest stings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of these cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which has proved the body and mind unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Eruptions of the face, digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your cases. Dr. Dow has discovered a new French Capotes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly Important!

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No 7 and 9 NICOTT STREET, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system, Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had a greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

in all cases, and No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country for advice.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow imports and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH PREVENTIVE. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

It was brought into market three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very the—no foul escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed.

We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in this city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.

These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and and dish warmer combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, and no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"

VENTILATING & AIR WARMING FURNACES.

The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air in all parts of the house, and none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache and nausea complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The fire or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass down, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the fire-pot can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq., Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron F. Hill, Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell, John Sise, and others.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

The Choctaw Chieftain, McCurtain, and other rebel Indian leaders, have surrendered themselves to Gen. McNeil, desiring to avail themselves of the President's amnesty proclamation. Their example, it is thought, will have a powerful influence over the rebel tribes.

Apprehensions are felt for the safety of an immense supply train on the way from Fort Scott, on account of the presence of Stanwait and Quantrell in that direction.

Culpepper and vicinity are now occupied by a strong force of our infantry, with batteries.

An expedition, under command of Gen. Seymour, left Beaufort, S. C., Dec. 22d,—destination unknown.

A late arrival from New Orleans reports the navigation of the Mississippi to be less interrupted. Texas advices state that Gen. Washburn, with a considerable body of troops, had started for Indianola and Lavacca, with good prospects of occupying them. The 8th N. H. regiment had been changed into cavalry, as the 1st N. H. cavalry.

BY TELEGRAPH, SUNDAY.

Advices from the Army of the Potomac state that more than two-thirds of the New England troops have re-enlisted.

Richmond papers of the 23d state that the rebels took 300 prisoners at the battle of Bean Station, Tenn., and they also state that Longstreet is again moving on Knoxville with a large force. The Richmond Enquirer states that the food prospects in Virginia are favorable. The same paper makes the remarkable admission that no negro prisoners have ever been taken by the rebels, and that they have none on their hands.

No steps have been taken to postpone the draft, and it is generally thought that it will be enforced under the present law Jan. 5.

In accordance with instructions received from the Emperor, the Russian Minister had an audience with the President on Saturday morning, for the purpose of expressing the thanks of the imperial government for the kind reception of the vessels of the Russian Navy, and their officers and crews, in the United States, and also for the assistance extended to a Russian corvette at San Francisco. The communication was cordially received and courteously acknowledged by the President.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— Col. Harriman, it is said, will soon resume command of the 11th regiment.

—— More than two-thirds of the quota of this State have been secured. The 2d district lacks but 100 men.

—— Gen. A. F. Stevens, of the 13th N. H. Vols., arrived home on Thursday, the 17th inst. He was ordered to report to Gen. Hinks, at Concord.

—— Capt. Amos D. Combs, 14th N. H. V., has been publicly dismissed from the service, having been found guilty of conduct prejudicial to military discipline by permitting the sale of liquor in his tent to officers and soldiers in his command.

—— The Ballot states that in Epping a few nights ago some acts of lawless violence were perpetrated, commencing near the places where liquors are sold; carriages overturned; and then northly, plank thrown into the river; and finally at the Methodist church some forty panes of glass broken.

—— The Amherst Cabinet says:—

The mercury Monday and Tuesday mornings lay down at 6 below 0. Excellent, bracing weather—beautiful sleighing, and fine skating and sliding on the crust. The ice-gatherers are storing a most beautiful crop, ten inches in thickness—as clear as the water of which it is made.

—— Gov. Gilmore officially communicates to the people of this State a copy of a telegram received from the Secretary of War on Thursday evening. It is in effect as follows:—

A law has been passed, to effect, that no bounties, except such as are now provided by law, shall be paid to any person enlisted after Jan. 5 next. The only bounty provided by law is the $100 authorized by act of Congress. Bounties will be paid in accordance with existing orders to recruits who enlist before Jan. 5, inclusive, for any three years' organizations in service, or authorized by the War Department and in process of completion.

—The story that Robert Small, the negro pilot, has been captured by the rebels, is untrue. He is still with the fleet.

— The iron-clad Dictator was successfully launched at New York on Saturday forenoon.

— Wm. C. Luce was brutally murdered with a hatchet in his store at Holmes Hole by some person unknown, on Wednesday evening. A large sum of money which he had had, was missing when he was found.

— Georgetown, S. C., has been destroyed: one account says the people burnt it, with all their merchandise, being panic-struck at the news of Bragg's defeat; another account says it was fired by opponents of Jeff. Davis' government.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
PORTSMOUTH CITY MISSION.

Time, in its rapid flight, has brought us to the close of another year of toil, anxiety and care. And, if by divine grace, we have been enabled to diminish the sum of human woe, and to inspire in the breast of the disconsolate and afflicted the hope of a brighter and a better life, we ask no higher reward for any effort it may have cost us.

The bloody and desolating civil war with which our country was so terribly afflicted at the time of the delivery of our last annual report, is still upon us—a war which has carried grief and mourning into thousands of once happy homes, and spread darkness and gloom around many a hearthstone in every part of our beloved country. Our own city has within the year furnished her full share of the costly sacrifice which her country required at her hands. It has been our painful duty to bear to several homes the sad tidings that a husband, a father, a brother, or a son had been sacrificed upon the altar of his country's liberty; and to witness the anguish of those to whom this sudden bereavement was worse than death. Truly the judgments of God are abroad in our land, and we ought, as a people, to learn righteousness. Yet in the midst of all this gloom we think we see the guiding hand of an all-wise and overruling Providence. We believe this fearful struggle to be the precursor of a bright and glorious day—a day in which a happy and united people shall glory in the thought that the foot of no bondman presses our soil, but that all the inhabitants of the land are rejoicing in that personal, civil and religious liberty which the spirit of the gospel breathes to all men.

The march of armies, the conflict and carnage of battle, the ravages of disease, and the thrilling tales of crowded hospitals tell of the sacrifices made for a great and vital principle, and show how much we are ready to suffer in order to preserve the integrity of our constitutional government, and to hand down unbroken to posterity the glorious inheritance purchased by the blood of our fathers.

While these thrilling and bloody scenes have been transpiring in the land, we have, by divine assistance, been enabled to pursue without interruption our humble and peaceful labors for the benefit of the poor, the sick, and the afflicted in our city. So far as we have had the means at our disposal, it has ever been our aim and our delight to relieve their temporal wants. But we have not regarded this as the most important or principal object of our mission. Indeed, were this the only point to be gained, we should feel it our duty at once to retire from our position, as such an end could be quite as well secured by other agencies than those employed by this Mission.

In the estimation of those best qualified to judge, we have in our city between three and four thousand people outside of all our religious organizations. And shall these have no spiritual guide—no one to kneel by the side of their sick and dying bed to lead their mind to the hopes and promises of the gospel, and to point them to the Lamb of God who taketh away the sins of the world? None to perform the last sad rites over their mortal remains before they are laid away in their last resting place on earth? Many a person, who in health and prosperity scarcely realized that he had a soul, or that he was accountable to his Maker, has, when visited by sickness, been glad to welcome your Missionary, and listen to him with apparent earnestness. Such seasons have been gladly improved. And when, with words of comfort or of warning, we have also been able to carry to such families the means of making their homes more comfortable, we have felt that we were most effectually carrying out the objects contemplated by this Mission. The most direct way to reach the hearts of the needy is by showing them that we have in view their physical comfort as well as their spiritual and moral improvement. The experience of seven years has satisfied us that, looking at the subject merely in the light of dollars and cents, this Mission saves to our city every year more than twice the amount which it costs to sustain it.

And here we would with gratitude acknowledge, as we have often had occasion to do heretofore, that, while in the prosecution of our work, we are frequently brought in connection with our city government, especially with the Overseers of the Poor, we have ever found them prompt in rendering any needed relief, and in every way ready to aid us in our work.

We have long since become exceedingly cautious in yielding to the claims of transient beggars, and every year but deepens our conviction that, while some of them are honest and unfortunate people, by far the greater part of them are professional impostors. We never turn any away hungry, nor neglect to seek for them a shelter for the night, but beyond this, we seldom do anything for travelling beggars, except, occasionally, to give them some garment for which they seem to be suffering.

Within the present year several youth from our city have been sent to the State Reform School, at Manchester; and still, we have many more of both sexes who ought to be placed in that excellent Institution. Such an act would be a great kindness and mercy to these youths themselves, who, if left unrestrained, will very probably make their way to speedy ruin. The discipline of that School, which is in the highest degree kind and paternal, would be more likely to reform their morals, and prepare them to lead lives of honor and usefulness than any means within our reach. It would also relieve our city from the influence of their example, and thus save a multitude of others, over whom they are fast gaining an influence which, if unchecked, will lead them in the same ruinous path. Our prayer is, that this Institution may soon gain so firm a hold on the affections of the citizens of New Hampshire generally, that they may make it purely a State Institution, instead of leaving it principally to the patronage of those towns and cities from which the inmates happen to be sent.

As a faithful reporter of the state of society among us, we cannot avoid referring to the alarming prevalence of intemperance in our city. No one can attentively read the published reports of our Police Court without a solemn conviction that intemperance is on the increase in our community. The large influx of strangers has no doubt in some measure contributed to this result. The increase of business, while it has drawn to our city many whom we are glad to welcome, has also furnished an attraction for that undercurrent of society which is the bane of every city, as it always finds a class of persons whose moral power is insufficient to resist its influence. Even mothers and wives, we are sorry to say, have in some instances given themselves up to the degrading habit of intemperance. Most ardently do we wish that some method might be devised to stay this dreadful scourge.

Another serious evil, to which in a former report we have had occasion to call the attention of this community, and which we earnestly wish might be arrested, is that of allowing young girls to patrol our streets after nightfall, unprotected by some judicious friend. We think that to this, more than to any other one cause, may be traced the entire wreck of moral character which in too many instances it has been our painful lot to witness, in girls who at the age of twelve or even fourteen bade fair to become useful and respectable members of society. We feel it our duty most solemnly to warn parents against allowing their daughters in a practice so dangerous because often so ruinous. We may prevent the loss of character, but can never recall it when it is once gone.

During the last summer and autumn our city was afflicted with an unusual amount of sickness and death, which fell most heavily on that part of our community more particularly under care of this mission, some families of which suffered severely. In one instance five children were within a few days stript from one household by that terrible and alarming disease, diptheria. In another, the mother and daughter died on the same day and were deposited in one grave. During the prevalence of disease and death we labored to the extent of our power both for the spiritual and temporal comfort of these afflicted families; and we hope that our labors were not wholly in vain. Through the blessing of our Heavenly Father we have now great reason to rejoice that our city is again enjoying its wonted degree of health and prosperity.

Our visits to the jail have been continued as in former years. We have conversed individually with the prisoners, have endeavored to learn their history, former course of life and present habits, that we might impart such counsel and advice as seemed best adapted to their character and condition. Our visits have been gratefully received and we trust have been rendered useful to this unfortunate class of our fellow beings. And here we are happy to state that we have always found the condition of the prisoners made as comfortable as possible by the kindness and humanity of the keeper and his family.

We have also continued our visits to the Alms House—passing from room to room, conversing and praying with the sick, the aged and the feeble, and giving words of cheer and comfort to those who had once seen better days, but who by misfortune and poverty had been necessitated to seek an asylum within these walls. We are glad to know that they there find so comfortable a home. As we are accustomed to visit the house when the keeper and his family did not expect us, we know that the utmost care is uniformly taken to secure the comfort and happiness of the inmates; we feel it therefore a privilege and a duty to testify to the neatness, good order, and regularity of the establishment, both in its internal and external arrangements. We have also attended the funerals occurring at the Alms House, and these seasons have always been improved to impress upon the minds of the living their duty to God and their need of a personal interest in the great Salvation of the Gospel.

We have done what we could for the profit and improvement of such seamen as have visited our port within the year. Several of our National ships have been visited, and their crews conversed with, and to some extent supplied with reading matter as we had opportunity. Both officers and men have received us with the utmost cordiality, and we hope that our visits have not been without benefit. We have also supplied a number of these ships with bibles and testaments from the New Hampshire Bible Society. Two merchant ships have also been supplied with bibles and testaments furnished by our City Bible Society.

We hope there has been some progress made in the suppression of street begging, but much yet remains to be done in that direction,—much which can be accomplished only by the co operation of our citizens.—The fact that it induces a habit of deception and falsehood in those children who are made the principal agents in the work, and in many cases leads them on to other and deeper vices, ought to lead every one to be cautious lest he should be encouraging parents to bring up children in ignorance and vagrancy.

Amid the discouragements attendant on our work there are some features which cheer and encourage us. Some families and individuals who in other years have received aid from this Mission, are now so far improved in their condition as to be able to take care of themselves, and in some instances to help others. Some who were once like sheep without a shepherd, are now connected with some one of our regular religious societies, and their children are in our regular Sabbath schools.

About forty of those who have been more or less under our care, have within the year passed from earth and gone to the retributions of eternity, some of whom in the course of their sickness gave us comfortable evidence that they had given their hearts to the Savior—that they left the world in peace, and died in the hope of entering upon the rest of Heaven.

Our Mission Sabbath School, which has now existed more than seven years, is still in progress. Mr. E. P. Kimball, our efficient and faithful superintendent, and the noble band of teachers associated with him, are still laboring to sustain an institution which has already accomplished so much good. The taking down of the old South Church, where the school had long been held, deprived us of a suitable place for convening it in that part of the city. The Trustees of the Methodist Society very kindly offered us the use of their vestry on Daniel street, in which to hold the school during the autumn and winter. The school has, however, suffered from the change, as many of our scholars resided in the south part of the city, and some of the parents object to their children coming so far.—We hope that some place may yet be procured in that part of the city, where the school may continue to exert its redeeming and gracious influence.

We have made it a prominent feature of our mission to care for the children of poor and neglected families—placing and endeavoring to keep them in Sabbath and day schools—and procuring for many of them good and comfortable homes in the country, where they are cared for, and where, we trust, they may grow up to be useful and happy.

It is a most fortunate thing for our community that our laboring classes are so fully employed. In former years the poor have suffered for want of work, but now, all who are able and disposed to labor, have within their reach the means of earning a comfortable support for themselves and for their families, if they have any. Yet, in a community like ours, there will always be cases where, from sickness, age or misfortune, there will be needy sufferers more or less dependent upon the contributions of their more fortunate and wealthy neighbors.—And we feel that we can here most confidently express the hope that those whom a kind and beneficent Providence has blessed with an abundance of the good things of this life will be constrained to contribute liberally to the relief of those in our city who must suffer if not aided by the benevolent. The poor we always have with us, and, whensoever we will, we may always do them good. We must also remember that three dollars now will not go so far as two would three years ago. Although the means placed at our disposal for the relief of the poor is not now half what it was before the commencement of the war, we are still happy to state that it is considerably more the present year than it was the last. And here we ought to say that those gentlemen who in former years have sent us several barrels of hard bread to distribute among the poor, have not forgotten us this year. Many a destitute and suffering family has rejoiced over the relief thus afforded them; and many doubtless will find their pressing need relieved through the same channel during the coming winter.

We desire to express our warmest thanks and our deepest gratitude to the numerous friends who have in any way contributed to the support of this Mission, and we crave for them those rich blessings which Heaven delights to bestow upon those who remember the fatherless and the widow in their affliction. We have no doubt that they will still remember us; and we would repeat the request of former years that, if they have second hand garments or bedding which can be spared from their own families, they would remember that these are often more useful than money itself in making the homes of the wretched comfortable.

The freedmen who have been stationed in our neighborhood have opened another field for Christian philanthropy. Quite a number of ladies from our city have for several months been regularly twice a week to give them instruction in reading, writing and arithmetic. Our own family has been fully represented in this work, and we have been highly gratified with their aptness to learn, their patient and constant application, and consequent rapid progress. It has been our privilege to preach to them occasionally on the Sabbath, to converse with them, and furnish them with testaments and other reading matter. Indeed, we have been happy in any way to lend our aid towards the development of that full manhood of which we confidently believe them capable.

Although the liberality of our citizens has been taxed in new directions since this dreadful war has been upon us, and the calls for relief, particularly from our sick and wounded soldiers, have been most nobly responded to by them, yet it has not wholly prevented the prosecution of other charities.

The Howard Benevolent Society has distributed an increased amount of charities the last year. The Ladies' Seamen's Friends' Society has done something through us for the relief of seamen. The Humane Society, also, is still pursuing its works of mercy, though one of its principal leading spirits has been called within the year from her service below to join the redeemed above. The same may be said of the Ladies' Charitable Society, whose Vice President was so suddenly called from earth to heaven. Scarcely could two ladies have been selected whose loss would have been more deeply felt in our city, or for whom the poor would have had more cause to mourn.

The following are our statistics for the past year:

We cannot close this Report without acknowledging our deep obligation to the Board of Directors of this Mission for their uniform sympathy and hearty co-operation in all our labors, and to the public generally for all that has been done to aid us in our work. The experience of the past gives us confidence to believe that they will still stand by and cheer us on in the future.

How inspiring is the thought to those who have had the means and the disposition to contribute to the relief of the poor, that their benefactions have cheered the heart of the widowed mother, as she gathered her helpless group around the desolated hearthstone, while the furious storms of winter beat upon her frail and cheerless home. An angel might aspire to the privilege of rendering relief to such a family. That privilege, my friends, God has given to some of you. Will you accept it? The Lord loves a cheerful giver. Let us remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." The fame of patriots, statesmen and heroes is written on lofty pillars of granite and marble, which may be crumbled away by the corroding hand of time. But the record of those who have come to the relief of suffering humanity will be hung up high in the moral heavens, and endure forever. Surely, they shall not be moved forever. They shall be had in everlasting remembrance. Their fame shall be as lasting as the annals of eternity.

Local.

CHRISTMAS was a winter's day of rare beauty: the cold, threatening weather of the few days previous gave place to a most welcome and pleasing warmth, and a bright sun shone out from an unclouded sky. Many a one was thus enticed into the street by the agreeable temperature and warming sunshine. In such of the churches as were opened there assembled fair congregations, and the religious services were appropriate and interesting. Winter's sports allured many, and in the afternoon, when we visited the South Pond, we found it covered with gentlemen and ladies, old and young. The merry skaters darted hither and thither, or rushed with lightning speed down the high hill beyond,—occasionally by way of variety plunging headlong as the sharp skate cut through the hard crust. It were not well to tell how devoted the little boys were to the little girls, fast clasping their hands—'to keep them from falling down', nor how eagerly the older boys emulated their pleasure-bringing and, perhaps, pleasure-affording example. Winthrop, in his own inimitable way, has exhausted the subject of Love on Skates.

It really seemed as if "everybody" were there on that little pond; yet we knew that in many homes in our city happy families were once more united. And through the streets or to the suburbs sleighs passed swiftly along with their pleased burdens. One of the pleasantest of these sleighing-parties was arranged by Mr. Foss. By his invitation several of his young lady scholars rode through the streets, and their pleased voices, uniting in glad song, told how fully they appreciated his kindness. Stopping occasionally, they sang before the houses of some of our citizens, and on doing so at Mr. S. A. Avery's, were invited by that gentleman to enter his store, so well filled with delicacies tempting to the appetite even on Christmas afternoon. Here the scholars received most generous treatment, gratifying alike to them and to their teacher.

In fact everybody appeared happy and good natured, thus assisting everybody else in being happy and good natured. Nearly all the places of business were closed and the city gave itself up to the holiday. Everywhere were heard the hearty greetings and the cordial good wishes, springing spontaneously, costing nothing, yet oft-times giving an untold pleasure, the memory of which will linger through many days to come. And the pleasant custom which has in former years led friends to bestow upon each other gifts was by no means disregarded now: some were costly in money, others in themselves may have been of little worth, yet who shall tell which have the greater value now when they are treasured as the gifts of friends?

Yet the day brought to many sad memories, and ardent longings to be gratified not yet. In many homes many a loved one was missed; at many tables there were vacant chairs: for the War has called away many of the Sons, and during the year Death has been busy among us.

"How many little stockings, that on last Christmas Day
Were filled for darling little ones, have since been put away!
How many smiling faces, that to our nursery door
Came trolling 'Merry Christmas,' will come again no more.
Their waxen hands are folded upon each quiet breast,
And the Shepherd Lord has gathered those little lambs to rest."

CITY MISSION.—The Annual Public Meeting of this useful charity was held on Sunday evening, in the North Church, with the usual interesting exercises. The Annual Report of the City Missionary, Rev. Mr. Medbery, appears in our columns this morning.

FIRE.—On Saturday forenoon a two-story wooden building, situated on Trefethen's Island, and owned by Mr. Daniel Prior, was discovered to be on fire, and before assistance could be rendered, the building was wholly consumed, together with its contents. It was used for a workshop and a woodhouse, and contained a large quantity of joiners' tools, wood, lumber, &c. An engine was sent from the Navy Yard, but her pumps being frozen up, failed to effect any service. It was with the utmost difficulty that the house was saved, but through the timely exertions of the contrabands from Fort Sullivan (who worked with uncommon assiduity) it escaped injury. A little son of Mr. Prior, aged five years, entered the workshop, built a fire of shavings on a work-bench, and hence the result. No insurance, we understand. Loss from $400 to $500.

☞ The Board of Enrollment for the 1st N. H. district, and the Clerks employed in the Provost Marshal's office in this city, on Thursday evening presented Captain John S. Godfrey, the retiring Provost Marshal, with an elegant gold watch, costing $100. Dr. Hall made the presentation, with a few appropriate remarks, and Capt. Godfrey feelingly responded.

☞ Mr. A. Stowe Laighton, of this city, has been appointed Acting Ensign in the U. S. Navy, and ordered to the school ship Savannah, at New York.

☞ We are glad to hear from the agent that the Piscataqua Fire and Marine Insurance Company are doing a good business and that their concerns are in a flourishing condition. The affairs of the company are stated to be managed with skill and tact by trustworthy agents in whom the public can place entire confidence. The following is from their annual report to Nov. 1st, 1863 Amount of premiums received the past year $85,564.43; amount of losses paid $52,582.04; amount of premiums received over losses paid $32,982.39; present assets $288,538.12. F. W. DeRochemont, agent.

☞ The correspondent of the Ballot writes:—

The lot of ice stored last winter in the ice houses on the premises of the Concord & Portsmouth R. R., is being sent to Boston over the Eastern Railroad for shipment.

The fast sailing schooner Pioneer of this port arrived last week with 430 tons of coal from Baltimore, for which she gets $400 per ton freight. The Pioneer has proved a lucky investment for her owners, as she has had a succession of good business since she was completed.

☞ John M. Harrington was arrested in this city on Friday forenoon by the police, and placed in the bridewell. When arrested he was very much intoxicated, but appeared to become less so during the afternoon. About 8 o'clock P. M., he was found dead in his cell, having probably died from intemperance and exposure.

An elderly man, a stranger, fell on the ice near the Spring Market on Saturday, and was taken to the Police Station in an insensible condition, but subsequently recovered. He also was intoxicated.

Passing through Market street a few days since, we called at the ready made clothing and gent.'s furnishing store of Charles W. Gerrish. He politely showed us round, and very rarely have we seen such an extensive assortment of goods. His store is spacious and contains everything from a five cent spool of thread and twenty-five cent globe, to a one hundred and fifty dollar suit made to order, with all the fixings and appurtenances for the most elegant wardrobe which any gentleman can desire. He sells a shade lower than can be found in the market, and of course enjoys a liberal patronage. "Live and let live," is his motto, and it is a good one, especially for these times. We ask our friends to call and see him whenever they propose investing a trifle to keep the outer man comfortable in this cold latitude. They will get good treatment and good bargains.—States & Union.

☞ "L," the excellent Boston correspondent of the Ballot, complains that this Chronicle appropriates his paragraphs, without giving him due credit therefor. "L" mustn't get up so many good "appropriate" items, then, if he doesn't wish them stolen—but we doubt if anybody more thoroughly appreciates, or has more publicly acknowledged the worth of L.'s letters than we.

— The fourth year of the rebellion commenced on the 20th inst., that being the date of the secession of South Carolina.

— The rebel steamer Cheatem has been captured on the coast of Georgia, while attempting to run out to sea. She was laden with cotton, resin, tobacco, &c., and the prize is estimated at $150,000.

☞ Soldiers, see to your own health, do not trust to the army supplies; cholera, fever and bowel complaint will follow your slightest indiscretion. Holloway's Pills and Ointment should be in every man's knapsack. The British and French troops use no other medicines. Only 25 cents per box or pot. 216

☞ Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is manufactured entirely different from any other. Its chemical purity renders it as harmless as the purest flour, and its use will strengthen weak stomachs and cure dyspeptic persons. Use it with cream tartar instead of soda.—It is much better. Try it. Grocers and Druggists sell it.

THE MODEL COOK,
AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,
WITH TWO OVENS,
And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept as long as desirable.

A Water Bank and Hot Closet can be applied to either size, when needed.

In fact, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter use; excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and dispatch are desirable, should without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook—

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed.

We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in this city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837,) 76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into any American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching patents. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that here is a MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessary fees to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, and in but one of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
ORSON TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twelve rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of the deadly effects of the Mercurial Poison, Gonorrhœa, Ulcers, pain and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, Hydrocele, Abscesses, Blemish, Stiffness, Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D. devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by a secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should, before contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your case. Dr. Dow has also for sale the French Capsules, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly important!

To Females in Delicate Health.

Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fluor Albus, Suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed to the afflicted. It is invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the suffering person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.
These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.
Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.
Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Boiler for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.
For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache and other ills complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.
The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.
To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the
MAGEE FURNACE.
The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.
No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cover can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.
This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.
These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 30 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.
For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.
They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

The Chronicle.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every item fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address

— Since the publicity given to Senator Hale's acceptance of fees for legal services, says the Washington correspondent of the New York World, many lawyers in the Senate and House do not hesitate to say that they would rather resign their seats than surrender their professional practice in Washington.

— A soldier named Erasmus Jansing was tried and convicted of burglary at the superior court in New Haven, Tuesday As his sentence to State prison was about to be given, Mr. Jansing walked out of court, and has not been seen since.

— Towns on the eastern borders have been alarmed at threats from desperate characters in New Brunswick, and armed guards of citizens patrol the streets nightly, at Eastport, Calais and other towns in Maine.

— Twelve London barristers have entered into a solemn league and covenant to wear their beards, in spite of the courts considering themselves bearded thereby.

$100 REWARD!
For a Medicine that will cure
COUGHS, INFLUENZA,
TICKLING IN THE THROAT,
WHOOPING COUGH.
Or relieve CONSUMPTIVE COUGH, as quick as
COE'S COUGH BALSAM.
OVER FIVE THOUSAND BOTTLES have been sold in its native town, and not a single instance of its failure is known.
We have, in our possession, any quantity of certificates, some of them from EMINENT PHYSICIANS,
who have used it in their practice, and given it the preference over any other compound.
It does not dry up a Cough, but loosens it, so as to enable the patient to expectorate freely.
☞ Two or three Bottles will invariably cure TICKLING IN THE THROAT. ☜
A HALF Bottle has often completely cured the most
STUBBORN COUGH.
And yet, though it is so sure and speedy in its operation, it is perfectly harmless, being purely vegetable. It is very agreeable to the taste, and may be administered to children of any age.
In cases of CROUP we will guarantee a cure, if taken in season. No Family should be without it. It is within the reach of all, the price being ONLY 25 CENTS!
And if an investment and thorough trial does not "back up" the above statement, the money will be refunded. We say this, knowing its merits, and feel confident that one trial will secure for it a home in every household.
Do not waste away with Coughing, when so small an investment will cure you. It may be had of any respectable druggist in town, who will furnish you with a circular of genuine certificates of cures it has made.

THE REBELLION.

The re-organization of the Army of the Potomac has commenced. Gen. Tyler has been assigned to the command of the Irish legion, made vacant by the death of Gen. Corcoran. A cavalry reconnoissance recently made a successful foray, driving the guerrillas into the mountains, destroying rebel tanneries, and capturing prisoners, mails, dry goods and medicines.

A number of rebel officers and soldiers have recently come into our lines at Newborn, N. C., and taken the new oath of allegiance, to accept the pardon offered by Pres. Lincoln. The Wilmington papers renew the statements of frequent running of the blockade off that port. A "refugee" also reports that 23 steamers arrived there in one night.

A large rebel mail has been captured at Baltimore, just as the carrier was about to start for Richmond.

The Halifax authorities attempted to arrest twelve of the Chesapeake pirates at Sambro, but did not succeed. Two of them have been arrested at St. John, N. B. At the request of their counsel their examination was postponed one week.

The Vanderbilt is again on the track of the pirate Alabama.

☞ Two more American vessels have been destroyed by the Alabama, viz—the ship Winged Racer and barque Amanda. The Winged Racer, Capt. Cummings, Manila for New York, with a valuable cargo of sugar and hemp, was captured and burnt Nov. 16, off Java Head. She was a fine ship of 1767 tons, rated A 1 1-2, built in 1852, and was owned in New York.

The barque Amanda, Capt. Larrabee, sailed from Manila, Sept. 16, for Falmouth, England, and was burnt on the same day with the Winged Racer. She was 595 tons, and was owned by J. T. Stewart of Bangor.

"RIPE OLD AGE."—The man that dies youngest, as might be expected, perhaps, is the railway brakeman. His average age is only 27. Yet this must be taken with some allowance, from the fact that hardly any but young and active men are employed in the capacity.

At the same age dies the factory workman, through the combined influence of confined air, sedentary posture, scant wages, and unremitting toil.

Then comes the railway baggageman, who is smashed, on an average, at 30.

Milliners and dressmakers live but little longer.

The average of the one is 32, and the other 33.

The engineer, the fireman, the conductor, the powder maker, the well digger, and the factory operative, all of whom are exposed to sudden and violent deaths, die on an average under the age of 35.

The cutler, the dyer, the leather dresser, the apothecary, the confectioner, the cigar maker, the printer, the silversmith, the painter, the shoecutter, the engraver, and the machinist, all of whom lead confined lives in an unwholesome atmosphere—none of them reach the average age of 40.

The musician blows his breath all out of his body at 40. The editor knocks himself into it at the same age.

Then come trades that are active or in a purer air. The baker lives to the average age of 43, the butcher to 49, the brickmaker to 43, the carpenter to 45, the furnace man to 43, the mason to 48, the stonecutter to 49, the tanner to 49, the tinsmith to 41, the weaver to 44, the drover to 40, the cook to 45, the inn-keeper to 46, the laborer to 44, the domestic servant (female) to 43. The sailor lives to 43, the tailoress to 41.

Why should the barber live till 50, if not to show the virtue there is in personal neatness, in soap and water?

Those who average over half a century among mechanics, are those who keep their muscles and lungs in healthful and moderate exercise, and are not troubled with weighty cares. The blacksmith hammers till 51, the cooper till 59, the builder till 52, the shipwright till 56, the wheelwright till 60. The miller lives to be whitened with the age of 61. The ropemaker lengthens the threads of life to 54. Merchants wholesale and retail till 52.

Professional men live longer than is generally supposed. Litigation kills clients sometimes, but seldom lawyers, for they average 55. Physicians prove their usefulness by prolonging their own lives to the same period. Clergymen who, it is to be presumed, enjoy a greater mental serenity than others, last till 65.

Seafaring life, and its adjuncts, seem instead of dangerous, to be actually conducive to longevity. We have already seen that the shipwright lives till 56. The sailor averages 43, the caulker 64, the sailmaker 52, the stevedore 57, the ferryman 65, and the pilot 64.

A dispensation of Providence that "Maine Law" men may consider incomprehensible is that brewers and distillers live to the ripe old age of 64.

Last and longest lived come paupers 67, and "gentlemen" 68. The only two classes that do nothing for themselves, and live on their neighbors, outlast all the rest. Why should they wear out, when they are always idle?—Portland Price Current.

— It is said that George D. Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, is sinking deeper and deeper in consequence of his intemperate habits. The paper has long since passed from his control, both financially and editorially.

LETTER FROM BOSTON.

BOSTON, Dec. 26, 1863.

Editor Chronicle:—To-day ends Christmas week, and a busy one it has been to all our traders who kept any article suitable for a Christmas present. Every day has been clear, cold and pleasant, furnishing the ladies in particular, a good opportunity to transfer their greenbacks to our merchants for value received in useful, ornamental and amusing articles. One can hardly realize, by the appearance of our streets and stores, that we are near the end of the third year of a civil war; but a large portion of these presents are for husbands, sons and brothers, who are thus to be pleasantly reminded that they are still remembered by friends at home.

The Fair at the Music Hall closed Monday evening, at 10 o'clock. Judge Russell, Chairman of the Board of Managers, announced that the closing hour had arrived, and after complimenting the ladies for their services, gave "especial thanks to Governor Gilmore, and to the citizens of New Hampshire and Vermont," and paid a high compliment to their liberality and patriotism.—Wednesday morning the Treasurer of the Managers sent a check for $100,000 to the Treasurer of the N. E. Branch of the Sanitary Commission. It is thought the net proceeds will be quite $140,000. The proceeds of the great Northwestern Fair, recently held at Chicago, under the auspices of the Sanitary Commission, netted about $75,000. So it appears New England is not behind in the good work.

Recruiting progresses slowly in this city; last week but 103 recruits were obtained, which number will not, probably, be exceeded this week. It is the general impression that the draft will be postponed to the 1st of February, and possibly still later, as in the case of the last draft; meanwhile every effort will be made to fill our quota by volunteering. It appears to be at last settled that the nine months' troops will be subject to a draft, the same as those who have never been in the service;—their services are thus ignored by the government. After serving the time they were called upon and volunteered to serve, and being honorably discharged, they think some fuller recognition of their services should be given than the privilege of wearing a service stripe on their arm, provided they re-enlist.

At a meeting of the School Committee this week it was voted to adopt a system of military drill in our public schools: this measure is universally commended by our citizens, and will be a profitable as well as interesting study to the pupils, and a pleasant course of gymnastics. Two of the honorable members of the Committee opposed the measure as having a bad tendency, but the majority were willing to trust the result with "Young America."

On Tuesday last 208 recruits arrived here from Concord, N. H., under the command of Lieut. Sargent, of the 14th regt. They are for the 12th N. H. regt. 180 recruits for the 9th left Concord at the same time, by way of Nashua and Worcester.

Capt. A. S. Nesmith, Assistant Quartermaster U. S. V., has been ordered to Chattanooga with the Army of the Cumberland. He was formerly the efficient Quartermaster of the 3d N. H. regt., and was discharged for disability. He is a son of Judge Nesmith, of N. H. Act. Ensign George E. Wingate has been detached from the Osceola, and ordered to the U. S. S. Arthur, at Pensacola. He will leave New York on the 28th.

Upon the recommendation of a special committee of the City Council, an order was passed at their meeting this week, placing $10,000 in the hands of the Mayor, to be used at his discretion in the encouragement of the military organizations of this city. J. T. M.

☞ The twenty-fifth anniversary of the settlement of the Rev. John C. Webster as pastor of the Congregational Church in Hopkinton, Mass., was celebrated on Monday, the 21st inst. Two clergymen were present from churches in the vicinity who were settled in the same year with Mr. Webster, and who had but a few weeks previous celebrated their twenty-fifth anniversary. The venerable Dr. Ide of Medway, who has reached almost the fiftieth year of his settlement, was also present.—The exercises were enlivened by songs, and a serenade, and the evening's entertainment closed with the presentation to the Rev. Mr. Webster of a purse containing $260, contributed entirely by citizens and former residents not members of the church or parish.

Mr. Webster is a son of the late Rev. Mr. Webster of Hampton; and Rev. Dr. Ide was a candidate for settlement as pastor of the North Parish in Portsmouth, in the interregnum between Rev. Drs. Buckminster and Putnam.

— Foyatier, the French sculptor, who made the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc at Orleans, and also the Spartacus in the garden of the Tuileries, is dead. He was esteemed and patronized by Louis Philippe. He was found dead in his studio, grasping his chisel. He was buried with it in his hand.

—Punch thinks the last language spoken on earth will be the Finnish.

— John Mitchell has withdrawn from his connection with the Richmond press.

— The keels for two immense war vessels were laid at Brooklyn last week.

— The coffee crop in Costa Rica will be heavy this year.

— The farmers in Hungary are said to be starving. The crops all failed this year.

— The Ella & Anna is to be known hereafter as the Malvern—named in commemoration of the battle of Malvern Hill.

— The ladies of Cincinnati have presented Gen. Rosecrans with a magnificent silver tea service.

— It is suggested that young Converse, of Malden, was not killed by a ball, but by a sharp instrument.

— In some of the regiments of the army grammar-classes have been formed. One chaplain writes that his class numbers thirty.

— A letter from an officer of the British squadron in Japan says the late action at Kagosima proved the uselessness of Armstrong guns at short range.

— An amiable young woman is in prison in London for getting her mother's life handsomely insured and then poisoning the old lady with arsenic.

— A Union man who fled from Alabama to escape persecution, settled in Aroostook county, Me., and has just lost by fire a comfortable house which he had built there.

— Two Union soldiers, who escaped from prison in Richmond, were kept nine days by Union people in that city, and enabled by them to cross the lines.

— A woman was instantly killed on the sidewalk in Haverhill, Mass., on Monday, by a runaway horse which rushed against her.

— The Nova Scotia Government will retain the steamer "Chesapeake" for the present, and apply to the home Government for instructions.

— Twelve thousand new works and twenty thousand pieces of music have been published in Paris during the present year; and six thousand works in the provinces.

—The Post states that an unusually large number of young men in Boston, will retire from business on the coming first of January, having accumulated a competency.

— The Boston Journal remarks that if the stove pipe is lost from a cook's galley on a man-of-war, certain papers fall to abusing Sec. Welles.

— The King of Denmark has ordered a squadron, consisting of two line-of-battle ships, two frigates, and five steam corvettes, to be immediately fitted out, and to assemble at Kiel.

— One of the Philadelphia soup-houses commenced operations for the winter on Monday. There was a considerable rush for the semi-liquid bounty. Very few if any Americans are among the applicants.

—A French traveler in England, speaking of its peasantry, says they have the same superstitious notions as those of France.—"They believe," says he, "in revenants, sorciers, loups-garous and the devil!"

—In a report of proceedings of the Agricultural Meeting at Springfield, we find this astounding statement: "A man who grew one hundred and thirteen bushels of Dutton corn per acre, had ears from twelve to fifteen inches in length."

— A correspondent of the Portland Press strongly and wisely condemns the practice, in that and other cities, of furnishing wine to callers on New Year's day. Another urges the young ladies to hold "bees," and prepare fish-hash by the barrel for the soldiers. It will keep for months, and is not injured by being frozen, he says.

— The U. S. Marshal at New York on Saturday found quite a number of revolvers among the passengers on the steamer Morning Star, all of which were taken away and given in charge of the purser. A number of roughs offered large inducements for passage, provided they were taken on board after the steamer had passed the guardship.

— The "waif" left on a door step in Portland a few nights since, has been named Frost Boyd, it having been left in Boyd street, and frost-bitten. Probably it was not deemed bad enough for the little fellow to be left by its inhuman mother, and it was therefore deemed necessary that he should have a name clinging to him through life to remind him of it.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS A LONG WAY OFF.—At midnight on Thursday, the telegraph operators at Portland, Me., and Chattanooga, Tenn., were having friendly converse over the wires, through an uninterrupted circuit. Portland says: "12:15—I wish you a merry Christmas." Chattanooga replies: "I give you a. like greeting, but it is not quite Christmas with us; it is but 11:10." The difference between the two points was one hour and five minutes. Louisville, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, Pa., occasionally spoke a few words to Portland, comparing weather, exchanging compliments, "cards," etc. The jokes and funny sayings which flashed over this long circuit were quite interesting.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

—— The Laconia Gazette says the counterfeit Threes, recently reported on the Belknap County Bank, are bills issued some fourteen years ago, printed on an old general plate, and all, or nearly all of them, have been redeemed by the Bank. The threes since issued, are all printed on a special plate, got up for the Bank twelve years ago, which are very easily distinguished from the former, not only by the general appearance and description, but by the letters of the denomination being printed in red or green on each bill.

—— In the town of Lee there has not been a single death among its inhabitants for five months.

—— Maj. S. D. Farnsworth, Paymaster U. S. A., left Manchester on Saturday afternoon for New York, expecting to sail from there for New Orleans, immediately.

EYE, N. H., Feb. 26, 1846. "I hereby certify that my daughter has had the salt rheum for a number of years—some of the time so badly as to prevent her labor, or even rest—as it affected her hands very much. A large sum had been expended to the most celebrated physicians, for Sarsaparilla Syrup, &c., &c., but she obtained no relief until I procured some ten or twelve bottles of DR. SWETT'S PANACEA, and several bottles of his Humor Wash, which have effected a cure. There can be no mistake, as this cure was effected more than three years ago. No other medicines can equal Dr. Swett's in removing the various kinds of humors. I have sold it to a number of my acquaintances, who were afflicted, and witnessed many full cures effected by it since. I have acted as agent for the sale of it. JOSIAH JENNESS.
PORTSMOUTH, April 21st, 1862.
I have for several years been afflicted with distress at my stomach, loss of appetite, and often vomited up all of my food immediately after eating it, and all medicine failed to give any relief until about a year ago, when I took one bottle of DR. S. SWETT'S PANACEA, which fully cured me, so that I have not had the least trouble from any of these complaints since, and I enjoy good health. M. LOWD.
From ELDER I CHESLEY, Lee, May 31, 1841.
DR. SWETT. Permit me to testify, as I feel in duty bound to do, that my daughter was afflicted with scrofulous humor, and that previous to your visiting our house in the spring of 1840, she had been confined for a number of months, without her natural rest by day or night. She had applied to a number of physicians, but continued to grow weaker till she commenced using your PANACEA and HUMOR WASH. Since then she has recovered her health so far as to rest quietly by night, and labor by day. I esteem your medicine one of the best that can be found for the disease above named. ISRAEL CHESLEY
☞ Any one returning the remainder of a bottle or box of Dr. Swett's medicines shall have pay for it, if it do not agree with his case, or if not worth the price. All orders directed to DR. S. SWETT, No. 7 High street, Portsmouth, N. H., promptly attended to. may28

HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY.—The basis of this truly wonderful preparation, now of such well-earned celebrity, is a freedom from every component calculated to debilitate, and by such to allow the greatest freedom of use, day or night, as the only true theory by which THROAT and LUNG COMPLAINTS can be effectually cured. To prevent asking attention to long stories of great cures, and to long descriptive technicalities, I would ask confidence which will be sacred, in COLDS, COUGHS, HOARSENESS, SORE THROAT, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC COMPLAINTS, to all THROAT and LUNG COMPLAINTS, which, when neglected, end in CONSUMPTION. Testimonials from Physicians of the highest respectability, and from invalids, can be seen at my office by all interested.

☞ No Lyceum this week—and we shall all miss it, sha'n't we? We intended to have said before, what hardly needs to be said at all—that the last entertainment was, like all the rest, a great success. Mr. Alger's essay on Poetry, was of course a finished performance in its way; and the music of the string-band was fine—they improve every evening; while the Cornet Band we thought really outdid themselves. They certainly do perform remarkably well, especially considering that they are called to do so little in-door playing. We are glad they lent their valuable aid to the Lyceum; and glad also that the managers employed them on this occasion; and hope they will do so again during the course.

☞ From the Secretary of State's statement of the condition of the several banks in New Hampshire, as they existed on the first Monday in December, 1863, we take the following in relation to our city banks:

Bank of New Hampshire: amount of capital stock actually paid in, $90,000: amount of debts secured the bank by pledge of its stock, $500; amount of all debts due the bank, $207,628.03; amount due from Directors, $200; amount of specie in the vault, $5,161; amount of bills of other banks, and checks on hand, $9,478; amount of deposits in the bank, $55,025.93; amount of deposits in other banks for the redemption of its notes, $18,942.90; amount of the bills of the bank in circulation, $87,741.

Mechanics & Traders: capital stock, $98,700; debts due the bank, $185,787.78; specie, $32,644.25; bills of other banks, $8,965.70; deposits, $76,737.58; deposits in other banks, $61,327.46; bills in circulation, $102,010.

Piscataqua Exchange: capital stock, $100,000; real estate belonging to the bank, $400; debts due the bank, $276,766.91; specie, $4,367.76; bills of other banks, $54,642.17; deposits, $212,925.19; deposits in other banks, $82,327.14 (including $31,974.89 of "Five Twenties"); bills in circulation, $99,021.

Rockingham: capital stock, $200,000; real estate, $5000; debts due the bank, $473,565.68; debts due from Directors, $9000; specie $10,541.69; bills of other banks, $31,442.77; deposits, $117,265.05; deposits in other banks, $26,005.90; bills in circulation, $178,649.

☞ The "Triple Entertainment" presented to our citizens on Christmas night, at the Temple, was of no ordinary character. The music by our Cornet Band was, as usual, fine, and well pleased the audience present. The appearance of Mr. J. C. Goodrich, after several years' absence from our city, his smooth musical voice, and the pleasing rendering of the pieces sung by him, called forth from the audience the most hearty applause. His "Twenty Years Ago," and the "Larboard Watch" sung by him and Mr. Charles Perry, also of our city, were highly applauded.

The poetical dissertation on "Our Country," by Mr. John F. Leverton, was highly successful; and during the hour consumed in its delivery, held the attention of his hearers to the end, eliciting from the large audience present frequent and hearty bursts of applause. Abounding as it does in touching incidents, telling hits, apt allusions, and fervent patriotism; entirely excluding politics, embracing our whole country; delivered in his own peculiar, happy manner, it cannot fail to interest any audience, however exacting. Mr. Leverton possesses fine abilities as a writer and speaker, and though young in years, bids fair to rank with those whose fame is already ripe. We wish him success.

A. HEARER.

[Communication.]

"A man standing on the steps of a fashionable hotel in Washington threw a stick at a dog and hit five brigadier generals."

Really, Friend Chronicle, I shall begin to suspect that there is something wrong about recruiting in this city, if many more persons who were never even hinted at in my communications, make haste to disavow with harsh language all negligence in their duty.

Mr. J. Horace Kent, from his long connection with the Panama Star and Alta Californian, should have learned to peruse an article before replying to it in such terms as he used in your paper of Friday last—No reference whatever is made to Mr. Kent in either of my squibs, and therefore the spasmodic exhibition of his wrath was like "throwing hot water or ashes to the windward."

He assumes to be "Recruiting Agent for the First Congressional District," holding his appointment from the Provost Marshal General, which I take to be very different from "City Agent." Although he may be a very honorable man, that word, as a prefix, even in this republican country, is held to be the mark of certain offices held, and if Mr. Kent has held any of those offices (as we suppose he has, by his appropriating our remarks to himself,) his excessive modesty has caused him to withhold the fact from the public. CONSCRIPT.

☞ The first annual ball of the Atlantic Engine Co., No. 6, at Irving Hall, on Christmas night, was in every respect highly successful and extremely gratifying to all concerned. Seventy couples sat down to supper, which was served at the hall of the Ex-6's, and the festivities were kept up till an early hour. The music was by Lamprey & Haines' Quadrille Band, and was of course excellent. Many firemen were present from other places,—Dover, New Market, &c., and the annual ball of the 6's was unanimously decided to be among the institutions which ought to be perpetuated.

☞ Faithless and worthless Carriers have troubled us and our patrons very much, of late; and it has only been "through much tribulation" mutually, that we have been enabled to supply our subscribers at all, these short mornings—not to mention the papers which are stolen from doors, after they have been left.

We want a couple of live boys, as morning carriers—and the chance is a rare one, to earn more money out of school hours, than can be done in any other way.

☞ Soldiers, see to your own health, do not trust to the army supplies; cholera, fever and bowel complaints will follow your slightest indiscretion. Holloway's Pills and Ointment should be in every man's knapsack. The British and French troops use no other medicines. Only 25 cents per box or pot. 216

☞ Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is manufactured entirely different from any other. Its chemical purity renders it as harmless as the purest flour, and its use will strengthen weak stomachs and cure dyspeptic persons. Use it with cream tartar instead of soda.—It is much better. Try it. Grocers and Druggists sell it.

☞ See you fair maiden in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. ly.

One of Hunnewell's Preparations!

HUNNEWELL'S ECLECTIC PILLS—The true Type of Cathartic.—By the application of true Pharmaceutical Laws, both Character and Economy are combined in this valuable Pill. To prevent putting such quantities of indigestible drugs into the stomach, the griping pains so erroneously judged to be the evidence of thorough action, and to require from 4 to 6 Pills, to get a decent cathartic, was the study in this development. The dose seldom exceeding One, and never more than Two Pills, secure the question of economy, and character can be best known by confidence to test them in DYSPEPSIA, COSTIVENESS, BILIOUSNESS, LIVER COMPLAINT, all derangements of the stomach and Bowels, and as a Family Pill. spno

THE MODEL COOK.

AN AIR-TIGHT STOVE,
WITH TWO OVENS,
And Five Boiling Places!

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept as long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either size, when needed.

In fact, no pains or expense have been spared to make this a FIRST-CLASS Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter use; excellent in a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and dispatch are desirable, should be without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook:

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public with full confidence in its merits. It was brought into market three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very simple and effectual, except into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed.

We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in this city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

As he was an excellent horseman, it is supposed his fall was occasioned by apoplexy or some kindred cause. His body was embalmed to be sent to New York.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.
These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight; showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.
Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.
Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find it to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE
COOKING STOVE.

The subscribers, having received their Fall Stock of Stoves, would especially call the attention of the public to the
MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.
There is a new style and very superior boiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of cooking meats is prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.
The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.
For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.
We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR-WARMING
FURNACES.
The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and sale of the valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.
For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pots is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.
The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.
To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the
MAGEE FURNACE.
The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.
No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume any of the gases of fuel, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.
This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.
These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 20 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.
For ease of management, economy and purity of air, these Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without once going out.
They give entire satisfaction wherever used. We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry F. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.

"Bound to no party—to no sect confined;
The world our home; our brethren, all mankind.
Love truth, do good, be just and fair with all;
Exalt the right, though every sun fall."

"Let me warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of Party, generally. It is a spirit not to be encouraged.—Its common and continual mischief is sufficient to make it the interest and duty of a wise people to discourage and restrain it. In governments of the popular form, it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."—Washington's Farewell Address

IMPORTANT TO THE AFFLICTED

DR. DOW continues to be consulted at his office, Nos. 7 and 9 ENDICOTT STREET, Boston, on all diseases of a

PRIVATE OR DELICATE NATURE.

By a long course of study and practical experience of unlimited extent, Dr. D. has now the gratification of presenting the unfortunate with remedies that have never, since he first introduced them, failed to cure the most alarming cases of

GONORRHŒA AND SYPHILIS.

Beneath his treatment, all the horrors of venereal and impure blood, Impotency, Strictures, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, and and distress in the regions of procreation, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys; Hydrocele, Abscesses, Humors, frightful Swellings, and the long train of horrible symptoms attending this class of disease, are made to become as harmless as the simplest ailings of a child.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Dr D., devotes a great part of his time to the treatment of those cases caused by secret and solitary habit, which ruins the body and mind, unfitting the unfortunate individual for business or society. Some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, are Weakness of the Back and limbs, Dizziness of the head, Dimness of sight, Palpitation of the heart, Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Derangement of the digestive functions, Symptoms of Consumption, &c. The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded; Loss of memory, confusion of ideas, depression of spirits, evil forebodings, aversion of society, self-distrust, timidity, &c., are among the evils produced. Such persons should reflect on contemplating matrimony, consult a physician of experience, and be at once restored to health and happiness.

Patients who wish to remain under Dr. Dow's treatment a few days or weeks, will be furnished with pleasant rooms, and charges for board moderate.

Medicines sent to all parts of the country, with full directions for use, on receiving description of your disease. Dr. Dow has also for sale the celebrated Capottes, warranted the best preventive. Order by mail. Three for $1 and a red stamp.

Highly important!

To Females in Delicate Health.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No. 7 & 9 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolapsus Uteri, or falling of the Womb, Fits, Abortion, suppression, and other menstrual derangements, are all treated upon new pathological principles, and speedy relief guaranteed in a few days. It is positively certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has no doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women and children, than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice, for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

N. B.—All letters must contain four red stamps, or they will not be answered.

Office Hours from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

CERTAIN CURE

In all cases, or No Charges Made.

Dr. Dow is consulted daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. as above, upon all difficult and chronic diseases of every name and nature, having by his unwearied attention and extraordinary success gained a reputation which calls patients from all parts of the country to reach him.

Among the physicians in Boston, none stands higher in the profession than the celebrated DR. DOW, No. 7 Endicott Street, Boston. Those who need the services of an experienced physician and surgeon should give him a call.

P. S.—Dr. Dow's pamphlet and has for sale a new article, called the FRENCH SECRET. Order by mail. Two for $1 and a red stamp.

A HALF Bottle has often completely cured the most STUBBORN COUGH.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1863.

THE REBELLION.

Rebel dispatches show that Gen. Gilmore continues to shell Charleston with some regularity. Several buildings were burnt on the night of Dec. 24. An engagement between our gunboats and the rebel batteries on Johnson's Island, the rebels state resulted in a drawn fight.

An expedition planned by Gen. Gilmore for an attack on Savannah was abandoned on account of the return of the rebel troops who had been sent to reinforce Bragg, and during whose absence the attack was to have been made.

Admiral Dahlgren has had the monitors thoroughly scraped, and has one or two expeditions on foot.

70 Union prisoners have escaped from the rebel prison in Danville, N. C.

Private letters from Florida state that there is great disaffection among the people to the rebel government.

Joe Johnston assumed command of Bragg's army on the 24th.

A Knoxville letter says Longstreet's force has not been captured, because our troops are worn down by long marches, hard fighting, and short rations. It is not probable that any active operations will be undertaken in East Tennessee at present.

Gen. McPherson, at Vicksburg, has just changed the 2d Missouri artillery to cavalry, placed some large steamers, with several cannon, at their disposal, and told them to clean out the guerrillas on the lower Mississippi.

A Mobile dispatch, Dec. 24, states that "two white regiments sent down to Fort Jackson had not recovered the fort, and were fighting on Saturday."

"Philadelphia news" is that the rebels have advanced in Louisiana, and occupied LaFourche county. Our forces a short time previously had fallen back into the parish of St. Johns. The position, just at present, it is said, is not an important one to either party. A rebel expedition into Bayou LaFourche is said to have resulted in the capture of the steamers Anyone and LaFourche, with nearly all on board, including Col. Jilbourne, the former Provost Marshal of New Orleans.

The Richmond papers are gloomy over the effects of Averill's raid.

Our forces still hold Cedar Mountain.—Some rebel cavalry are still on this side of the Rapidan about Raccoon river.

A rebel dispatch states that Union troops have destroyed part of the town of Laray, Page county, Va., by fire.

The Bermuda Gazette states that the steamers Don and Hansa have been captured by the blockading squadron off Charleston, and the Beauregard and Ceres were run ashore and destroyed near Wilmington. The Beauregard had a very valuable cargo on board.

UTTERLY FALSE.—The New York News says:—

For voting with the Democracy of his native State, and for refusing to vote for the Abolition candidate, Lieut. Ebberts, of New Hampshire, a War Democrat, was dismissed from the army, and the General Orders which announced the fact, more honest than General Orders usually are, gave the fact we have stated as the cause of his dismissal.

By Lieut. Ebberts, the News probably means Lieut. Edgerly: but the General Order did not give any such fact. The words were "circulating copperhead tickets:"—and the circular of his brother officers suggested that, being sent home to enlist men, he employed himself electioneering for the party whose leaders here would not give another dollar nor another man.

RESULT OF AVERILL'S RAID.—The consequences of Gen. Averill's raid to the Confederates are of the most serious character. The destruction of the Salem depots, containing 20,000 barrels of flour, 10,000 bushels of wheat, 100,000 bushels of shelled corn, fifty thousand bushels of oats, 2000 barrels of meat, 1000 sacks of salt, several cords of leather, &c., inflicted an amount of damage that is almost incalculable. The last Richmond market report quoted flour at $100 per barrel for superfine, and $110 for extra. Taking the first named price and the enemy suffer a loss of $2,000,000 in flour alone. Wheat was quoted at $15 per bushel—the loss in wheat thus being $150,000. Corn was $12 per bushel, the loss in this article, then, being $1,200,000. Salt sold at forty cents per pound or about $80 per sack—$80,000 loss in salt. Oats were rated at $5 per bushel, and fifty thousand bushels would be $250,000. In these five items alone the Confederacy, at ruling rates, loses $3,680,000, an amount to be more than doubled when we take in the destruction of other articles of commerce, railroad track, cars, &c.,—Boston Journal.

— The sale in New York last week of the Wolfe collection of pictures, one of the first private collections in the country, was very successful, yielding $114,000. The highest upon the list was the "Day Dream, or the Indolent Scholar," by Couture, which was purchased for $4750. Several Belgian and Dutch pictures brought very high prices.

— There were twenty-four marriages in Boston on Christmas.

— Chief Justice Taney was lying at the point of death, it was thought, at Washington, on Monday night.

— Adm. Dahlgren has forwarded a portion of the Charleston obstructions to Washington.

— An investigation of the circumstances of Morgan's escape from the Ohio penitentiary is in progress.

— Gov. Cannon of Delaware has issued a proclamation calling for negro volunteers for the army.

— One of the Brooklyn City Fathers was put in the lock-up for being intoxicated.

— The Italian iron-clad frigate Re Italia sailed from New York on Saturday on her trial trip, and will probably be gone for several days.

— Thirty-two United States vessels were lost in the service during the year ending Dec. 1st, 1863.

— A novel has recently been published in Paris, which was announced thirty years ago.

— Charles Lever, the popular Irish author, is now British Consul at Spezzia, in Italy, but is pursuing his literary labors.

— The historical works of Prescott, Bancroft, and Irving, have been translated into French by Guizot, and are extensively read in that country.

— An eagle, so loaded down with ice that he could not fly, was captured in Orange last week. He measured seven feet, two inches, from up to tip.

— Two young ladies skated into a hole at Brownsville, Me., last week and were drowned. They were not found until the next day as no one knew where they were.

— The last officer suggested as the "coming man" to supersede Gen. Meade is Maj. Gen. Smith, recently promoted for his good conduct in the campaign of East Tennessee.

— We have great need of patience, but we may have too much of it. What the times demand is not resignation but energy. We want a faith which inspires action.

— The New York Herald announces that the government has determined upon organizing an immense cavalry force, which shall be placed under command of Major Generals.

— The counties of Accomac and Northampton, Va., and St. Mary's county, Md., have been annexed to Gen. Butler's command. Several colored regiments are to be recruited there.

— The new Italian iron-clad frigate went ashore on the Jersey coast, on her trial trip. Her cannon have been thrown overboard, to lighten her, and it is feared she is greatly damaged.

— Rev. L. Shaw, of Farmingdale, Me., enlisted last week, but the surgeon rejected him on account of his teeth. He insisted that he would carry a coffee mill that would fix hard tack so that he could eat it.

— The Prince Imperial of France made his debut at Compiegne as an amateur performer. He was dressed a la Watteau, and the lords and ladies danced round a maypole, while verses were sung in honor of the Empress.

— The London Times' account of the King-Heenan fight was written by Mr. Thomas Hughes, author of "School Days at Rugby," "Tom Brown at Oxford," etc., who reported the fight between Heenan and Sayers, for the same paper four years ago.

— An Ohio man has recently slaughtered two pigs, five months old, and weighing 192 pounds and 180 pounds, which had been raised in a dry goods box, thirty inches by forty inches, from which they were never taken until the time they were killed.

— Paris fashions are sensible sometimes. The newest styles of winter walking shoes have uncommonly thick soles, gigantic heels, and are edged with fur, and are so noisy that one can hardly tell the step of a lady on the sidewalk from that of a trooper.

— They have a "Cripples' Union" in Brooklyn, N. Y. The society was organized last November, and consists only of persons who have lost a limb, or its permanent use, in the service of the United States. The objects of the society are benevolent.

— The acceptance of General T. F. Meagher's resignation has been cancelled by the War Department. The General's commission is therefore returned to him, and he has received orders to report for duty in Washington.

— Gen. Butler has been authorized to go into the market and purchase horses for his command. Of eight hundred sent to Fortress Monroe a few days ago from New York, seven hundred were condemned as worthless. They were purchased by the Quartermaster's Bureau.

— In Fitchburg two old gentlemen, named Benjamin Bates and Joseph Bacon, for some time past have been keeping "bachelor's hall." On Sunday last Mr. Bates was taken sick, and his son-in-law removed him to his house, where he died in a few hours. The next morning Mr. Bacon was found dead in his bed.

COLD WEATHER.—The people of Brunswick, Me., are particularly favored with cold weather this winter. The Telegraph mentions the gauge of the thermometer for three days last week viz: Monday, 14° below zero; Tuesday, 3°; Wednesday, 12°. It says: "The anchor ice in our river has dammed the water somewhere—(not at the narrows, as the Brunswick channel is open, and the Topsham channel with smooth ice as far as we could see on Tuesday evening,) and caused a rise of at least six or eight feet below the lower dam; the back water has submerged all the water wheels, and no running of the mills has taken place for a week and more." It expresses the opinion that from the toll bridge down nearly to the railroad bridge, the ice is solid to the ground, and says the whole surface is broken and in some places thrown up into ridges eight or ten feet high—miniature imitations of Arctic ice. There is also a heavy dam of anchor ice on the south side of Cow Island, leaving probably only the narrow channel on the north side open to the current of the river. Such a state of things has not occurred there for years before; it is stated that the Kennebec river is in a similar condition. If a freshet should occur in January, great destruction of property might take place. The river itself is quite low, so that the obstruction must be quite serious.

☞ Messrs. Crosby & Nichols, of Boston, who publish a large number of attractive and interesting juvenile books, send us three of their recent publications,—"The Red Eric, or the Whaler's last cruise," a tale by R. M. Ballantyne; "Marmaduke Merry, the Midshipman, or my early days at Sea," by Wm. H. G. Kingston; and "I will be a sailor," by Mrs. L. C. Tuthill.—All these books were written by a popular author, in an easy and attractive style, are full of life and action, and are free from that sickly sentimentality which often disgusts youthful readers by its descriptions of impossibly "good boys," who never do wrong, and who always die young, or ought to. These books are true to life;—the heroes are just what boys are, and some times do wrong and suffer for it, as all boys do. For sale by J. H. Foster.

THE LADY'S FRIEND is the title of a new Philadelphia magazine of literature and fashion, edited by Mrs. Henry Peterson, and to be published monthly by Deacon & Peterson. The initial number, for January, is finely illustrated and well filled and judging from it the magazine will deserve a prominent position among the fashion Monthlies. $3 per year; two copies for $5.

THE CONTINENTAL MONTHLY, for January, contains several of the valuable articles on National affairs which have given this magazine a deservedly high reputation. A supplementary sheet gives the address of Hon. Robert J. Walker, at the celebration of our National Thanksgiving in London.—It is published by John F. Grow, 50 Green street, New York.

— The captured blockade runner Margaret & Jessie, now fitting out as a naval vessel, has been named the "Gettysburg."

— Three boys were drowned in the Damariscotta river, Saturday afternoon last, while skating.

— The total number of National Banks chartered up to Dec. 26 is one hundred and seventy-three.

— The Philadelphia base ball players propose to have a match game on the Schuylkill as soon as the ice gets sufficiently thick.

— There is to be a celebration at Stratford upon Avon and another at London on the coming anniversary—the three hundredth—of Shakespeare's birth.

— The Dublin Nation has published two very seditious prints; one of them illustrating the advent of a delivering army of "Feenians" and Americans upon the green island. Tory papers suggest a prosecution.

— Advices from California state that it will be impossible to save the Monitor Comanche, which was taken from New York in sections on a vessel which sank in San Francisco harbor.

— There is said to be a woman somewhere in New England so neat that she boils out, on the day before she wishes to use them, the strings with which she intends to tie the legs of baked chickens. She isn't married.

—The Genoese ship Sicilia, one thousand tons burthen has been wrecked off Cape Verde. Of one hundred and sixty persons—seamen and passengers—on board, seventy-four, almost all women and children, perished.

—Dr. J. W. Robinson, Assistant Surgeon of the 2d Kansas Regiment, died at Fort Smith on the 11th inst. He was the first Secretary of State of Kansas, and took an active part in the councils of the Free State men in 1855-7.

—At the Western Sanitary Fair, now being held at Cincinnati, one of the curiosities for sale is a cane cut from the tree under which Generals Grant and Pemberton arranged the terms of the surrender of Vicksburg.

☞ The Springfield Republican relates that Arthur Skalding, of Greenwich, received $2000 in cash on Tuesday, for some property that he had sold, and about three o'clock the next morning was awakened by a rapping at his door. He suspected an attempt to rob him, and ordered the intruder to leave. The man, however, demanded entrance, threatening to shoot him if he did not speedily grant it. So he opened the door and admitted the burglar, who then made a demand for the $2000. He was told it was deposited in a bank, but coolly ordered Skalding and his wife back to bed while he searched the room. They obeyed, and the villain explored at his leisure, finally leaving with a gold watch, diamond ring, and every other valuable that he could find. He told the terrified couple that they must stay between the sheets till daylight, as he should watch the house, and they did not dare do otherwise. For frigid impudence and unmitigated cheek, as well as unparalleled cowardice, this robbery is without a rival on "the records."

A business firm in Bath, Me., is known by the name of Frost & Sparks. The Portsmouth (N. H.) Chronicle thinks they ought to be able to "blow hot or cold." We have a firm in Augusta, says the Maine Farmer, by the name of Cross & Gay. In Portsmouth, N. H., there is, or once was, the firm Pray & Neal.—In Detroit is a firm by the name of Gun & Locke—very appropriate in these piping times of war.—Exchange.

We saw a day or two since a pair of gloves which were knit—or knitted as the present phrase is, 103 years ago by the father of Mrs. Samuel Jones of this town, on his passage home after having been captured by Algerine pirates. They were knit with a pair of skewers from twine such as is used by sailmakers, and are in perfect preservation.—Gloucester Telegraph.

HUNNEWELL'S UNIVERSAL COUGH REMEDY.—The basis of this truly wonderful preparation, now of such well-earned celebrity, is a freedom from every component calculated to debilitate, and by such to allow the greatest freedom of use, day or night, as the only true theory by which THROAT and LUNG COMPLAINTS can be effectually cured. To prevent asking attention to long stories of great cures, and to long descriptive technicalities, I would ask confidence which will be sacred, in COLDS, COUGHS, HOARSENESS, SORE THROAT, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC COMPLAINTS, to all THROAT and LUNG COMPLAINTS, which, when neglected, end in CONSUMPTION. Testimonials from Physicians of the highest respectability, and from invalids, can be seen at my office by all interested.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ITEMS.

— The Manchester Union has not yet been sold, but negotiations are in progress.

—— The Manchester American has been merged with the Miror, Paymaster Farnsworth, the proprietor, having sold both Daily and Weekly to John B. Clark, Esq. The new paper is called the Mirror & American, and one Daily is plenty for Manchester. (Who says newspaper prices are too high?)

—— The Concord Statesman announces a marriage "in Milan,—not in Italy, but Coos County, N. H."

—— Moses Kelly, Esq., of Concord, has been admitted an attorney and counsellor in the Court of Claims at Washington.

—— The News Letter states that on Christmas eve Rev. Elias Nason, Pastor of the 1st Congregational Church in Exeter, was presented with a silver tea service, an "easy and writing chair," and a considerable sum of money, by members of that church. The presentation speech was made by Prof. Wentworth, of Phillips Academy.

—— Capt. R. F. Clark of the 3d regiment, has resigned and returned home. Lieut. Col. Sleeper of the 4th, has been discharged.

—— The official list of casualties in the 9th army corps during the beleaguering of Knoxvillo, and the attempt on Fort Saunders by the Confederate army under Longstreet, gives the following losses in the 11th N. H. regiment: John W. Smith, Co. B, killed; Lieut. Charles E. Frost, Co. E, flesh wound in the arm; Charles A. Giles, Co. E, wound in shoulder.

—— Dr. George H. Hubbard, late of Manchester, has been appointed medical director of the Arkansas District, by order of Gen. John McNeil.

—— Charles A. Gile, of Northfield, died last week from injuries recived in being thrown from a wagon in consequence of his horse being frightened by the spreading of an umbrella. His age was 46, and he leaves a wife and three children.

—— Perley says the 5th N. H. regiment is coming home to recruit.

—— The wife of David M. Currier of East Kingston, was burned so severely last week by her clothes taking fire, that she survived but a few hours. She was about 70 years of age.

A SAD WARNING.—A few years ago a young woman left her home in Maine, father, mother, sisters, brothers, a large circle of friends, among whom she was respected and esteemed, and came to Boston. The tempter had whispered in her ear, and she had listened to his voice, to her own ruin. She came to this city forewarned, with resolutions of reform, and determined, when her shame was concealed, to return home and sin no more.

But want soon overtook her. Unable to earn a support by reputable means, too proud to beg, too honest to steal, she fell another step, to that grade of ruin from which so few ever recover. Then her course was down, from a gilded palace of sin to a hovel, from costly apparel to dirty rags, from the society of those who had at least pretensions of respectability, to be shunned by all except men and women steeped in crime, who did not feel disgraced by the companionship of a poor, degraded, painted, dirty harlot.

And now comes the end. This woman was arrested as a common drunkard, and fell in a fit while being taken up to the Court room from the Tombs. She lingered until five o'clock in the morning, receiving the best care, but dissipation had done its work, and she died without being able to reveal the address of her parents, or give her real name. There it is—death in a prison, of delirium tremens, under an assumed name, with the following record of the end of one who was capable of shining in society, and of loving and being loved:

"Died, in the Tombs, Dec. 22, 1863, of delirium tremens, Mary Black, common drunkard, aged 24."—Herald, 22d.

— There has been a horror discovered in an English village,—a poor maniac confined by his brother for twenty years, in a room, under circumstances of appalling barbarity. The villagers, accustomed to the heartrending shrieks and howls, never interfered. A stranger discovered and delivered the miserable being.

OUR PRISONERS AT RICHMOND.—The following is taken from a letter written by Gen. Neal Dow, under date of Richmond, Dec. 8th:

I learn, from the papers and by my letters, that contributions and subscriptions have been taken up in many Northern cities for prisoners at Richmond. I hope that nothing will be sent here by inexperienced parties, because such a course would probably involve loss and waste to a large extent. The only safe mode of managing the business will be to send all contributions for such purpose to the United States Sanitary Commission, or to some trustworthy Supply Association, through which all benefactions will be wisely distributed at points where supplies are most needed. The government is now sending large supplies of clothing and food for the use of our soldiers here, and the Sanitary Commission and several Supply Associations have sent to the officers a great many necessary and useful articles; and consignments of such are arriving by every flag of truce boat.

Gen. Dow adds, that the prisoners would be very glad if the publishing houses and others would send them some reading matter. Books of history, voyages, travels, magazines, &c., would be very acceptable.

— A certain "squatter sovereign," living in West Newbury, Mass., on the road which divides the towns, having expressed a willingness to enlist somewhere, some of the Oldtowners went up with their teams, hitched on and dragged his "shanty" across the road into Newbury, in order to have him credited on the quota of that town. The man on being presented was rejected for physical disability.

— The Newburyport Herald states that a man in an adjoining town broke off an engagement to marry on accidentally losing a part of his fore finger, on the ground that he would never be able to support a family. The man was some sixty years old and the lady fifty, and the courtship has run on for a quarter of a century.

☞ Soldiers, see to your own health, do not trust to the army supplies; cholera, fever and bowel complaints follow your slightest indiscretion. Holloway's Pills and Ointment should be in every man's knapsack. The British and French troops use no other medicines. Only 25 cents per box or pot. 21d

☞ Herrick Allen's Gold Medal Saleratus is manufactured entirely different from any other. Its chemical purity renders it as harmless as the purest flour, and its use will strengthen weak stomachs and cure dyspeptic persons. Use it with cream tartar instead of soda.—It is much better. Try it. Grocers and Druggists sell it.

☞ See you fair maiden in another column, picking Sambuci Grapes for Speer's Wine. It is an admirable article, used in hospitals, and by the first class families in Paris, London and New York, in preference to old Port wine. It is worth a trial, as it gives great satisfaction. 1y.

At the present high prices of fuel it is very desirable to lessen its consumption. This can be best accomplished by using a MODEL COOK STOVE. More cooking can be done in one with a single ton of coal, or cord of wood, than with double the quantity in any common stove or range—and in less time also.

The fire being placed in the centre of the stove, with an oven on either side (which may be thrown into one at pleasure), all the heat from the fuel is made available for cooking purposes.

The oven doors are lined with tin, and jackets are provided for the bottom and back of the stove, thus retaining much heat, ordinarily wasted. A check draft is applied, by means of which much fuel is saved, and a continuous fire may be kept at long as desirable.

A Water Tank and Hot Closet can be applied to either size, when needed.

In this stove no pains or expense have been spared to make this a PERFECT Stove, and we think it surpasses all others for Economy, Durability, Capacity, Convenience, Beauty of Design and Perfection of Finish.

It is equally well adapted for Coal or Wood; Summer or Winter, it is equally good. In a family where help is employed, and invaluable to the housewife who does her own work, lightening it at least one-half.

No family, large or small, where economy, convenience and dispatch are desirable, should be without one.

We refer to some parties who have purchased the Model Cook—

VICTOR COAL STOVE.

We offer this beautiful coal burner to the public with full confidence in its merits.

It was brought into market three years since, and has come rapidly into use.

The Victor is one of the handsomest parlor stoves in the market, and is perfect in its operation.

The arrangement for dumping the ashes is very fine—no dust need escape into the room—a continuous fire may be kept throughout the winter—the coal all burned and no clinkers made.

The quantity of fuel used is very small indeed. We have sold a large number of Victor Stoves in the city, and they receive the highest commendation from those who are using them.

American and Foreign Patents.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
76 State street, opposite Kilby street,
Boston.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continued to business in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of patents or inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantage for securing Patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE, than the subscriber—and as SUCCESS IS THE USUAL PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional service so moderate.

The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

Access, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render it probable, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessarily of a Journey to Washington, to secure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent, more trustworthy, and more capable of putting their solicitations in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office."
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr. R. H. Eddy has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such a mistake—the proof of great care and ability—is the patent one I recommend my inventor friends to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made only twice rejected applications SEVEN-TEEN patents, EVERY one of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

CALENDAR CLOCKS.
These Clocks are reliable Time Keepers and Calendars combined, and require the winding of the time movement only, to secure all the required changes of the Calendar at midnight, showing the day of the week, the month, and day of the month, including the 29th day of February of leap year, perpetually and with unfailing certainty.

Having taken the Agency for the sale of these Clocks, we would invite the public to call and examine them.

Any person desirous of purchasing a Clock will find to their advantage to examine these before purchasing elsewhere, as we warrant them as good time-keepers as can be obtained for the same price without the Calendar Attachment; and those not in want of a clock will find the Calendar alone worth more than the price of the clock. They will be set up in any part of the city, and regulated without extra charge.

THE MAGEE COOKING STOVE.

MAGEE COOK STOVE,
as the very best Stove yet made, and would invite those about purchasing or exchanging Stoves, to examine this, believing it to be far superior to any other Stove yet invented, the castings being heavier, and the oven larger than usual. The oven plates are covered with plaster, which renders it equal to the old-fashioned brick oven for perfection in baking.

There is a new style and very superior broiler and sad-iron heater combined, by which the odor of broiling meats are prevented from escaping into the room. With the extension top there is a large copper Reservoir for hot water; also a large tin warming-closet attached, in which any article can be kept warm, while the other parts of the Stove are occupied for other purposes.

The arrangements for sifting the coal and cleaning the grate are far superior to those of any other Stove now in use, as no dust can possibly escape into the room, and the shoveling up of the ashes is entirely dispensed with. The fire is regulated in the same manner as in the MAGEE PARLOR STOVE, and can be continued day and night for weeks together, thus saving the expense of re-kindling every day.

For economy, durability, ease of management, cleanliness and perfection in cooking, it cannot be surpassed by any other Stove, as hundreds of families in this city and vicinity, who are now using them, are willing to testify, and speak of them in the highest terms of praise.

We would refer to the following purchasers:

"MAGEE'S PATENT"
VENTILATING & AIR WARMING FURNACES.
The subscribers, being the Sole Agents in this vicinity for the manufacture and use of this valuable Furnace, would ask those about remodelling or erecting buildings to examine this truly valuable invention.

For economy, purity of air and ease of management it has no equal, producing a current of warm air, moist and agreeable;—and as none of the air which comes in contact with the fire-pot is used for respiration, the tendency to produce headache so much complained of in other Furnaces, is entirely obviated.

The objects aimed at by the constructors of heating apparatus have been to obtain the greatest amount of heat from a given amount of fuel, and to prevent the escape of heat to the smoke pipe or chimney.

To accomplish this many complicated and expensive heating arrangements have been constructed, some possessing but little improvement over former methods, while many have proved a total failure. The reason for this is obvious. The combustible gases being lighter than the air, pass off into the pipe or chimney without being consumed. This objection, so common in other Furnaces, is obviated in the

MAGEE FURNACE.

The flue or pipe in this Furnace being below the fire-pot, the gases, from their specific gravity, cannot descend, and are burned up by the admission of cold air through the fire-pot, which ignites them as they pass off from the coal, thus saving at least 20 per cent. of the properties of the heat in the fuel.

No heating apparatus with the smoke-pipe or flue on the top of the cone can be made to consume the gases of the coal, as they pass off with a large amount of the heat generated, making the chimney the hottest part of your dwelling.

This Furnace does away with the great number of pipes and angles for the radiation of heat, which are so liable to fill up and get out of order, thus simplifying, while it increases the surface of radiation.

These Furnaces consume all the coal, make no clinkers, the sifting of coal is entirely dispensed with, and they will save from 20 to 50 per cent. of fuel over common Furnaces.

For ease of management, economy and purity of atmosphere, Furnaces have no equal. They can be regulated so as to give any amount of heat required, and the fire may be kept the entire season without ever going out.

They give entire satisfaction wherever used.

We have in store the different sizes, Brick and Portable, to which we invite the attention of those in want of the best Furnace in the world,—and would refer them to the following named gentlemen, who have them now in use:

Samuel Cleaves, Esq.,	Albert R. Hatch, Esq.,
Aaron H. Hill,	Charles H. Mendum,
Henry S. Wendell,	John Sise, and others.
